Hopes and Fears.
Zionism Protests.
A Really Fast Plane.
The Salmon Industry.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

THE WORLD is full of hopes and fears, especially fears.

Chairman Legge, of the farm board, believes that farm products have reached bottom prices. The farmer hopes so.

Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, formerly president of the German Reichsbank, predicts a halt in reparations payments by Germany.

Britain hopes that the United States will "have a heart" and voluntarily reduce the already reduced payment on the British debt.

OUR FOREIGN friends will admit that when another war starts, Uncle Sam will be justified in moving slowly toward fresh foreign loans, even if we are told that Germany, or Mesopotamia, may come over and eat us alive.

ZIONISTS, INTENT on rebuilding the Jewish homeland in Palestine, attack savagely recent utterances and decisions of the British government, which has the Palestine mandate.

Britain proposes to stop, or greatly decrease, Jewish immigration into Palestine.

Jewish organizations accuse the British of putting the welfare of Arabs, who have been in Palestine for 700 years, ahead of Zionist welfare.

THE BRITISH do not mention it, but they have more than 100,000,000 Mohammedans in the empire, and, at most, three or four million Jews. They do not want to annoy the Mohammedans by irritating Arabs, who are also Mohammedans.

INSPIRING NEWS from Germany, where at this moment they are building a plane intended to fly 35,000 feet above the earth, at 500 to 600 miles an hour, to make the trip from Berlin to New York in six hours. That will come in time, although this machine may have its troubles.

THE PLANE, with a "fishlike" body, will draw in its wheels and other landing gear. Oxygen will be fed to the engine, passengers will travel in an airtight compartment, manufacturing their atmosphere as they go along.

We may have coal strikes and industrial stoppages, but science doesn't stop.

THE ENTIRE salmon industry, important to the people and the prosperity of the United States, meets in Seattle today to discuss its problems, including over-production and reckless price-cutting by weaker producers.

To advise spending money in these days seems cruelty, but the salmon industry will solve its problems by aggressive and intelligent advertising, and not otherwise.

MAKE THE PEOPLE realize the value of salmon as a food, its quality as distributed by the Northwestern packers, its extraordinary cheapness in proportion to food value, and the biggest run of salmon would not be enough to supply the demand.

DOES ADVERTISING pay even in a "depression?" Ask George Washington Hill, running the business of his late father, Percival S. Hill.

He sells cigarets and ADVERTISES them.

In September the cigaret business generally fell off, according to the Wall Street Journal, for all manufacturers, by 160,513,333 as compared with September, 1929.

But G. W. Hill's sales increased by 655,429,000 as compared with September, 1929.

Get something the people want, and let them know you have it by advertising it. There is no other way.

YESTERDAY IN the far away Niuafau Island of the South Pacific, scientists with huge cameras and other scientific instruments studied the sun's eclipse.

It lasted only 93 seconds, then the sun came out again and resumed its shining.

SOME FIND it hard to believe that prosperity's eclipse, which has lasted more than 93 seconds, will also surely pass, and prosperity come out again and resume its shining.

Many feel about prosperity's eclipse as primitive men felt about the sun's eclipse. They thought a demon was swallowing the sun, and they would never see it again.

Astronomers know better, business men do not.

In New York three men with pistols and a shotgun held up the Bronx agency of the Prudential Life Insurance Company, with 22 persons in it, used the shoulder of one as a rest for the shotgun, scooped $9,342 out of the till, and departed.

The 22 insurance employes were herded from three rooms into one. Silent muzzles of shotgun and pistols did the work.

3 ARRESTED AS FOOTBALL SCALPERS

Pitt-Notre Dame Tickets Sold at Premium Bring Interference by Police

A drive on ticket scalping for the Pitt-Notre Dame football game Saturday was begun late today with the arrest of three men at the California Orange Company's place, Oliver avenue and William Penn way, which had advertised "choice tickets for sale."

When the three men went to their place of business this afternoon they were taken in custody by City Detective William Sullivan, who haled them before Inspector of Detectives Frank R. Boyd for questioning.

THREE ARRESTED

They gave their names as Nathan Cherkin, 30, and his brother, Barney, 32, both of Philadelphia, and Joseph P. Silow, of 1610 Cedarhurst street. All were charged with being suspicious persons and listed for a hearing in Central Police Court tomorrow morning.

The suspected scalpers contended, according to Inspector Boyd, that they were paying a federal tax in accordance with the Internal Revenue Act and had a right to sell tickets for any price they could obtain.

VIOLATION CHARGED

Boyd said:

"As long as they are selling tickets for more than the price printed on the tickets, they are scalping and will be treated as scalpers."

According to Detective Sullivan, the men were selling $3 tickets for Saturday's game for $10 and $1.50 pasteboards for $6.

They are also the proprietors, police said, of a place at Fifth avenue and Market street, where tickets also were advertised for sale.

CHINESE REDS SLAY 8,000

SHANGHAI, Oct. 22.—(AP.)—Chinese press dispatches from Nanchang today said 8,000 men and women had been slaughtered since capture of Kian, Central Kiangsi province, by Communist hordes, October 6. Burning and looting in the city accompanied the massacre.

Missionary advices from Kiukiang said five foreign Catholic sisters were captured by Reds and were held in a Communist hospital a few miles outside of Kian, while five Chinese nuns were held at Red headquarters within the city. Whereabouts of four priests captured by Communists was not known.

Bishop Migniani and a Chinese priest, at Kiukiang, said no mission buildings had been burned when they departed at the command of the Reds to demand $10,000,000 Mexican for release of the missionaries.

RENEE ADOREE ILL IN WEST

PRESCOTT, Ariz., Oct. 22.—(AP.)—A woman identified as Renee Adoree, French actress, who sprang into prominence in the film world through her appearance in "The Big Parade," today was fighting a pulmonary ailment here.

Patients at a Prescott hospital yesterday gave the first inkling that the actress was ill when they said a "Mrs. Gild" admitted to the institution Monday was in reality Renee Adoree. Hospital officials refused to discuss the identity of the patient.

Last March Miss Adoree was confined at a sanitarium at La Crescenta, near Los Angeles, to recover from what was described as a bronchial cold.

Davis Wants Idleness Due To Machinery Studied; Winter Employment Task

By PIERCE MILLER.
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—With little prospect for immediate concrete steps by the federal government to relieve the unemployment situation, machinery was put in motion today by the President's cabinet committee to lend what comfort it could, and to co-ordinate those agencies, state and industrial, which gave promise of ultimate remedy.

As one of the immediate steps required, the necessity for a thorough study of unemployment caused by invention of labor saving machinery was stressed by Secretary of Labor Davis in a statement at the opening meeting of the advisory committee on employment statistics which was created at the suggestion of President Hoover.

JOBS FOR WINTER

The big problem confronting the government was that of finding jobs for the jobless over the winter, with the hope that the depression, on which is placed the blame for the present crisis, will correct itself by spring.

Col. Arthur Woods, of New York, the man who directed the job finding for war veterans and later undertook to meet the unemployment situation in 1922, reached the capital today to take over similar work for Mr. Hoover. He was pressed into service during yesterday's cabinet session.

He conferred with the President and Secretary of Commerce Lamont, chairman of the President's unemployment committee. Col.

Langfitt Better, Resumes Vote Quiz

George F. P. Langfitt, assistant district attorney, who has been ill for several weeks, reported to his chief, Andrew T. Park, today and they took up charges of irregularities in 62 election districts which Langfitt had been investigating.

Park said the probe still required a lot of field work by detectives and that possibly information might be made in some of the cases within two weeks.

QUIZ 2 RAIL MEN IN ROBBERY

Two employes of the Wilkinsburg station, Pennsylvania Railroad, were questioned by county detectives today in connection with the reported holdup of the ticket office last night, in which $470 was taken.

They are G. H. Shoemaker, 28, acting agent, of Greensburg, and Emerson Brady, 25, baggage master, of 60 Powell street, Forest Hills. Both were turned over to railroad police, after holding to their original story.

Detectives John T. Burke and Michael Stabile reported that Shoemaker said he was standing behind the ticket window when a man approached and ordered him "hand over the money," at the same time concealing a revolver under a newspaper.

Brady told the detectives he was asleep in the ticket office behind Shoemaker at the time.

The detectives said they had interviewed several of about 20 persons in the waiting room at the time, and that none of them had noticed any trouble indicating a holdup.

Women Chief Losers In Bob Promotion

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—(AP.)—Women who live in Kansas, Kentucky and Ohio, in New England and Canada—long distance speculators who know little or nothing of finance—are the heaviest losers in the collapse of Charles V. Bob's Metal and Mining Shares, Inc., the attorney general's office said today.

Bob has been missing since October 5, when he flew to Chicago in his own airplane, informing business associates he expected to return in a few days.

HEMPHILL LAYS DEATHS TO LAW

TITUSVILLE, Pa., Oct. 22.—(AP.)—Deaths of five men in Titusville in the last two days from the effect of poison alcohol were laid at the door of the Eighteenth Amendment here today by John M. Hemphill, Democratic and Liberal party candidate for governor.

Hitting upon the deaths as an argument for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, Hemphill told a crowd in front of the Titusville city hall at noon:

"These five men lie dead because of vindictive legislation. The most dangerous thing in civilization, intoxicating liquor, has been put in the worst hands of the nation. We are paying the price."

The victims were found dead in bed. Police said they found a can of anti-freeze radiator solution containing 70 per cent wood alcohol in a room where two of them died.

FORESTER WON'T RETRACT STATEMENT PRESIDENT SENT INDORSEMENT

Hoover for G. O. P. Ticket, Davis Said in Speech

LANCASTER, Pa., Oct. 22.—What President Hoover said or did not say about the political battle in Pennsylvania has aroused new interest here, in view of the reported discrepancies between statements of Gifford Pinchot and James J. Davis as to the Hoover stand.

Davis spoke here on October 1 to the Lancaster Council of Republican Women of Pennsylvania. In that speech the labor secretary was quoted as saying:

"I talked to President Hoover yesterday and told him I was coming here to speak to you women today. He said to me to tell you that he is sure you would rally around the Republican ticket of Pennsylvania this fall and elect it."

Labor Secretary Vehemently Denies Message by White House.

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON.
International News Service.

HARRISBURG, Oct. 22.—The possibility of a break between Gifford Pinchot, Republican nominee for governor, and Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, his party's candidate for senator, loomed today as a sequel to their dispute over President Hoover's attitude toward the turbulent Pennsylvania gubernatorial election.

Pinchot and Davis were at odds over the former's declaration that the cabinet officer had told him President Hoover favored the election of the "whole Republican ticket in Pennsylvania." Pinchot insisted that Davis had reported this message from the White House, while the labor secretary was equally vehement in denying that Hoover had indorsed anybody in this or any other state.

SEE PINCHOT REBUKE

The followers of John M. Hemphill, Democratic and Liberal party nominee for governor, were jubilant, since the controversy brought a direct announcement from the White House that the President is "taking no part, directly or indirectly, in any state political campaign." The Liberal party spokesman characterized this as tantamount to a presidential rebuke to Pinchot.

Charles Dorrance, state chairman for the Liberal party, urged Davis and Pinchot "to get together on their story." He also called on Pinchot to answer the White House statement.

The attitude of W. L. Mellon,

Candidate for Governor Stands Firm in Row; Renews Campaign.

Gifford Pinchot, candidate for governor, is not going to retract his statement that President Hoover has sent word into Pennsylvania that "he stands for and desires the election of the whole Republican ticket."

An unemotional "yes" was his reply when he was asked today if he stood by his declaration of Hoover support made by him yesterday at Washington, Pa., and which brought denials from Washington, D. C., from the White House and from Secretary of Labor James J. Davis. Mr. Pinchot refused to comment further on his statement or amplify it.

DAVIS INVOLVED?

In his Washington (Pa.) speech Mr. Pinchot said Mr. Hoover, through a cabinet officer, presumed to be Secretary Davis, had expressed his support of the entire Pennsylvania Republican ticket.

Philadelphia will not give a majority of more than 150,000 and probably not more than 100,000 to John M. Hemphill, Pinchot's Democratic-Liberal party opponent, in the opinion of Judge Eugene C. Bonniwell, of Philadelphia, who was Democratic nominee for governor in 1918 and 1926.

Bonniwell estimated the Democrats would poll about 500,000 votes in the state and that Pinchot would have at least 250,000 of them.

Edith Mason Out Of Chicago Opera

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—(INS.)—Edith Mason, Chicago Civic Opera prima donna, has not been engaged to sing with the opera company this season, the management announced today.

Mrs. Hammerstein Freed of Vagrancy

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—(INS.)—Mrs. Oscar Hammerstein, middle-aged widow of the impresario, was freed today on a vagrancy charge when the appellate term of special sessions reversed her conviction last June by Magistrate Earl Smith, holding that she had been convicted on insufficient evidence. She now is in Paris.

Walker Whiteside Traps Charity Racket Gang

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—(AP.)—A complaint by Walker Whiteside, actor, resulted in the arrest of five alleged "charity racketeers" who, State's Attorney Charles Lounsberry said, have mulcted citizens of more than $75,000.

Whiteside, appearing at a local theater here, was approached by telephone for a contribution to veterans in the governmental hospital here. Willing to give, he was told to give cash to a "duly-accredited collector" who would call in person. This aroused suspicions and when the collector took Whiteside's $2, he was trailed to the office and the raid followed.

DETROIT, Oct. 22.—(AP.)—Warrants were issued here today against two members of a gang of five alleged forgers who, according to police, have operated a "charity racket" in Detroit and other large cities, forging the names of prominent persons.

Walter Marks, alias Marx, under arrest in Buffalo, and Frank Ross, alias Carpenter, alias Louis Krohn, held by Cleveland police, are named in the warrants. The name of Mrs. Nell Ford Torrey, Grosse Point Shores society woman, was forged on two checks for $500 and $700, according to police.

Fiancee Leaves Sick Bed To Hail Kingsford-Smith

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Oct. 22.—(AP.)—Sydney was brought to within less than 13 days of London today with completion of Wing Commander Charles Kingsford-Smith's 12,000-mile airplane trip from England here.

The famous aviator, victor over both Pacific and Atlantic oceans, and holder of a newly-made record for flight between England and the Australian continent, landed at Mascot Airdrome at 2:55 p. m. (4:55 a. m. Greenwich mean time), after a 450-mile trip from Brisbane.

Thousands cheered him—among them his fiancee, Miss Mary Powell, who left her sick bed to be on hand when her husband-to-be rode back to her after an eight-months' absence.

She greeted him tearfully, but happily, and they embraced.

Kingsford-Smith's parents were with Miss Powell at the airport. Together they drove around the aerodrome while the thousands applauded. Then with his fiancee, Kingsford-Smith mounted the official dais and was formally welcomed by representatives of the government and civic authorities of the city.

Among those who attended the conference were Miss Edna Love, board of Young Women's Christian Association; Miss Mary B. ## ENGELSBERG SEEKS TO VOTE

Joseph Engelsberg, of 1627 Center avenue, Mayor Kline's chairman of the Third Ward, has filed with the Registration Commission a petition to be enrolled as a voter at the election November 4. Yesterday was the last day on which petitions could be filed.

Engelsberg failed to register on any of the days designated by law, September 4 and 16 and October 4. Unless the commission acts favorably on the petition, he will not be permitted to vote next month. Engelsberg gave "illness" as the reason for not registering previously.

Four members of the moneyraising committee of the Liberal Party backing John M. Hemphill, Democratic nominee for governor, who previously registered, have filed petitions with the registration commission to be enrolled as voters at the election November 4. The petitions on file were submitted by A. E. Braun, bank president, railways director and executive of a gas company; Leon Mck, Jr., philanthropist; E. W. Clapp, director in many corporations, and E. T. Weir, executive of manufacturing corporations.

Braun has been enrolled by the registration commission, but no action has been taken on the other petitions.

John M. Phillips, manufacturer, who was reported by McGovern as having voted at the gubernatorial primary last May, has stated he did vote. The books of the registration commission do not show anyone in Phillips' election district as having voted last May 20, indicating that the board failed to properly indicate in the registration book records of the election.

WOODS LEADING JOB DRIVE

Woods will act as "unemployment administrator," and the Lamont committee will serve in an advisory capacity.

STUDY OF MACHINERY

Secretary Davis told the statistical group one of the most interesting studies the committee will undertake will be the practicability of surveys of technological unemployment either along the lines of industry or geographical areas. He asserted:

"By technological unemployment is meant the displacing of men by new machinery, new processes, new methods of production and transportation and handling of material. There is no use for anyone to undertake to minimize the extent to which the displacement of labor is going on from these causes.

"True, displacement of labor may not mean the protracted unemployment of labor. It is a question, however, as to how far we can gain valuable information from a study of the past. The great inventions of the past have been confined to single industries. Today, these inventions are closing in upon every side."

Referring to displacement of musicians by talking moving picture films, unloading of ships by conveyers, and the construction of new railroads by tracklayer devices as examples, he continued:

"Just how far are these changes responsible for our present unemployment?

"Can this question be answered, and if so how are we to answer? This is the problem upon which we wish your advice. This unemployment survey ought perhaps to be made from a labor point of view. That it is to say, it should be a study rather than an enumeration."

The study should show why individuals were out of work and whether a machine displacement was responsible for an individual situation, he said. A careful analysis of research possibilities would be helpful, he added.

Senator Metcalf Out For Repeal in R. I.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 22.—(INS.) — United States Senator Jesse H. Metcalf (Rep.), seeking re-election, today declared himself for repeal of the Eighteenth amendment.

Since former United States Senator Peter Gerry, the Democratic candidate, and the Democratic party platform have already declared for repeal, the dry forces of Rhode Island were left without a senatorial candidate with "bone dry" views.

FREES PRISONER IN GUN CASE

Magistrate Leo Rothenberg today discharged Benny Butler, 34, Negro, of Reed street, who was arrested after he was said to have pointed a revolver at Patrolman Fred Wells, of Muskegon, Mich., here in search of a man wanted in Michigan for murder.

Butler told the magistrate that he had been drinking, and denied he had a gun. He hit the "numbers," Butler said, and he was out celebrating when Wells arrested him in front of 2037 Rose street.

At a hearing yesterday Wells said he was walking in Rose street when Butler accosted him with a drawn revolver. At today's hearing Butler accused police officers at Center Avenue Station of "planting" the gun on him.

In discharging Butler, Rothenberg said:

"I know you, Butler, and I am going to believe your story."

Police criticized Rothenberg yesterday for refusing to believe testimony offered by Patrolman Al Geis, who testified against James King, 34, Negro, of Crawford street, accused of carrying a blackjack. King also accused the police of planting the weapon in his pocket, and also was discharged by Rothenberg.

Reparations Revisions Opposed by Coolidge

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Oct. 22.

To the Editor of the Sun-Telegraph:

Those who are constantly agitating, either for political or publicity purposes, for a revision of German reparations, and who are trying to connect them with the European debts owed the United States, are doing distinct injury to the world economic situation. They rouse new uncertainties and inflame old animosities. We should regard these questions as settled. Let Europe adjust its own difficulties. The present rates of payment can be met by all countries concerned.

Calvin Coolidge

Those saying that if Germany defaults reparations other countries cannot pay the United States debts are over-reaching themselves. That means that if reparations are not collected from Germany they must be collected from the taxpayers of the United States.

We must all suffer from the consequences of a world war. It is now costing our taxpayers about two billion dollars each year. To claim that cancellation would be profitable to international trade only means that a subsidy of so much tax money would be profitable. But that would not meet the situation. Paying the cost of the war is a moral obligation. It cannot be evaded by trade profits. It is best to meet it and stop discussing it. The world wants certainty, not agitation.

PINCHOT'S TALK OF HOOVER AID STIRS CAPITAL

Declaration That President Backs Whole Republican Ticket Brings Denial

National Service.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—An adroit move on the part of Gifford Pinchot, Republican candidate for governor in Pennsylvania, to force President Hoover to take sides in the muddled gubernatorial situation in the Keystone State was the subject of much discussion here today.

Pinchot, who is waging a desperate fight against Republican leaders bolting to his Liberal-Democratic opponent, John M. Hemphill, in a speech at Washington, Pa., yesterday, said:

"President Hoover has sent word by one of his cabinet officers that he stands for and desires the election of the whole Republican ticket."

HOOVER EMBARRASSED

While the White House denied the President had sent "any word of any kind into Pennsylvania" and Secretary of Labor Davis, Republican candidate for senator on the ticket with Pinchot, also denied he had carried any word of the President's preferences in Pennsylvania politics, the incident was admittedly embarrassing to Mr. Hoover. It was stressed at the White House that Mr. Hoover is taking no part in any state political campaigns, but it was obvious that the President could not be placed in a position of favoring the election of a Democratic governor over a Republican in Pennsylvania.

And while the White House repudiated Pinchot's statement, which was designed to make it appear that the President favored his election, the Pinchot candidacy was not repudiated.

Secretary Davis, after consultation with party leaders, issued this statement:

"I would have no business saying what the President would do. I did say the President needs the support of all who indorse his policies. I pointed out that the President could not inject himself into such matters, and I recalled that when President Wilson did so in 1918 he had been criticised."

Davis Refuses Comment On Pinchot's Claims

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 22.—(AP.)—Secretary of Labor James J. Davis declined last night to comment on differences in statements by him and Gifford Pinchot, Republican candidate for Governor, concerning President Hoover's attitude on the Pennsylvania political situation.

Secretary Davis, who is the Republican nominee for United States Senator, was the guest of honor last night at a testimonial dinner to Bartholomew H. Cavanaugh, director of the Darby Lodge, Loyal Order of Moose. When asked to comment on President Hoover's attitude, he said:

"I will not say anything about that. I explained all I am going to explain in Washington. I am not supposed to talk politics in a Moose home anyway."

Fagan Indorses Mine Police Views of Hemphill

P. T. Fagan, district president of the United Mine Workers of America, today declared that any plan of temporizing with the coal and iron police system in Pennsylvania "can only result in further abuses and atrocities," and that his organization stood solidly for "complete abolition of the coal and iron police."

Fagan added that nothing short of the repeal of the coal and iron police act, as advocated by John M. Hemphill, Democratic-Liberal nominee, would meet the situation adequately.

UTILITIES FIRM MAKES ATTACK ON PINCHOT

Letter Sent by Penn-Central Urges Shareholders' Aid; Omits Forester's Name

Accompanying a dividend check, what is considered a veiled attack on Gifford Pinchot, Republican nominee for governor, has been broadcast to stockholders of the Penn-Central Light and Power Company, which has a grip on the electrical situation in Central Pennsylvania.

Signing Letter No. 19, J. H. Shearer, president, says:

"At the present time this company and other companies in Pennsylvania are being subjected to many bitter and distorted attacks. We ask your help in meeting these prejudiced attacks."

The letter also calls attention to a story under the heading, "Meeting Attacks," by Harry Reid, of New York, president of the National Electric Power Company and chairman of the public relations section of the National Electric Light Association, which is printed in the bulletin.

CHARGES "BAITING"

Reid in his story said:

"Our industry also seems to offer a target to a certain type of politician, who may not believe in government ownership, but who blazes away at us because he is ambitious to advance himself politically. He feels that he can arouse a public following by concerting a dramatic story of the various ways in which our industry is maltreating the public. This is the old pastime of corporation baiting."

The Penn-Central, organized in 1915 by acquiring numerous independent companies, is now controlled by the National Electric Power Company, which in turn is controlled by the Middle West Utilities Company, of Chicago, the big Insull power monopoly of the Middle West. Samuel Insull, of Chicago, head of all these organizations, is chairman of the board of the Penn-Central.

SERVES 250,000

The Penn-Central operates in 167 communities with electric, gas, steam heat, electric railways and bus services, in Blair, Cambria, Huntingdon and Mifflin Counties, serving approximately 250,000 persons. The five-year average earnings of the Penn-Central have been $2,819,695. According to Moody's Manual, all important franchises are without time limit and free from burdensome restrictions.

NAME OMITTED

M. A. Miller, secretary and treasurer, questioned regarding the letter, said:

"I would not say it was an attack. We always send out a bulletin accompanying dividend checks, giving information of interest to our stockholders. This particular bulletin contained abstracts from speeches of persons made before gatherings in which we were interested. The buletin did not mention Pinchot's name."

PINCHOT, DAVIS AT ODDS

former Republican state chairman and nephew of Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon toward Pinchot, was also made an issue by Dorrance.

Dorrance challenged the truth of a statement by Gen. Edward Martin, Republican state chairman, earlier in the week that Mellon favored Pinchot's election. The Liberal leader has told his friends repeatedly that both Secretary Mellon and former Chairman Mellon oppose Pinchot.

The Pinchot camp ignored this challenge and took great delight in the declaration of John K. Tener, former governor of Pennsylvania and a former president of the National Baseball League, that Pinchot was "as good a Republican as Mr. Hoover." This comparison occasioned smiles even in the Hemphill camp since it recalled the pre-convention battle against the President's nomination two years ago, in which some outstanding Republicans argued that Mr. Hoover was then a Democrat.

The bolting of Republicans to the Liberal banner of Hemphill, however, continued, with the defection of Cyrus H. K. Curtis, publisher, causing considerable comment among upstate leaders. The contention of Curtis that he opposed Pinchot because the former governor "has always been a trouble-maker" created much talk even among the nominee's own followers.

The two opposing candidates meanwhile continued stumping the western part of the state. They are contesting over the same ground, but will separate before the end of the week.

Suspect Captured Toting Stolen Lamb

PINCHOT 'PAT' ON CLAIM

WOULD ABOLISH POLICE

Speaking at Kittanning at noon today, Pinchot said:

"If I go into the governor's office on January 21, 1931, there will not be a coal and iron policeman left in Pennsylvania on July 1, 1931."

He cited the brutality of the industrial police and pointed specifically to the John Barkoski case in Allegheny county. Barkoski was beaten to death by coal and iron police.

Pinchot and his party were due to speak in Butler tonight and in Lawrence and Beaver county towns tomorrow.

County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong, Republican county chairman, announced yesterday that workers of the Eleventh and Twelfth Legislative districts would rally to the support of Pinchot and his running mates at a meeting in Hotel Henry headquarters tomorrow night.

Armstrong has called a similar meeting of the workers of the Tenth and Thirteenth Legislative districts for Monday night in the Hotel Henry.

CITY WARDS TO MEET

At the request of Mayor Charles H. Kline, chairmen of Pittsburgh wards will hold meetings in the near future to indorse Pinchot and the entire Republican ticket. Owing to the large size of the Nineteenth Ward, sectional meetings will be held at various locations tomorrow, Friday and Monday nights.

District workers of the Twenty-sixth Ward will meet tomorrow night in No. 54 Fire Engine house, Perrysville avenue. Fifth Ward leaders will meet tomorrow night in Knights of Pythias Hall, 2000 Wylie avenue, and those of the Twenty-ninth Ward will gather Monday night in the Carrick Eagles auditorium, Brownsville.

A joint meeting of the six East End wards will be held Tuesday night in Carnegie Library, Station street. Wards to be represented include the Seventh, Eighth, Eleventh, Twelfth, Thirteenth and Fourteenth.

AMPLIFY SPEECHES

Armstrong is completing plans for the regional rally at 11:45 a. m. Saturday at the Grant street front of the Courthouse. Pinchot and Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, nominee for United States Senator together with their running mates on the state Republican ticket, are scheduled to speak.

The meeting is one of four planned by Republican State Chairman Edward Martin. Others are scheduled for Harrisburg, Scranton and Philadelphia.

Armstrong declared the street cars will be detoured from Grant street during the meeting and that amplifiers will be placed to carry the speeches to spectators unable to get near the speakers' stand.

PASS RESOLUTION

The resolution recites that certain public utility interests, in an effort to defeat Pinchot for his stand for fair rates and better service, are supporting the Democratic gubernatorial nominee and concludes:

"Members of the Beacon Club feel that in the election of Gifford Pinchot as governor of the state of Pennsylvania he will bring to the state his great ability and capacity for understanding the problems of state government and that during these times of unemployment he will bring about an intelligent solution of this problem."

David L. Lawrence, Democratic county chairman, announced that Democratic nominees, including John M. Hemphill, for governor and Sedgwick Kistler for United States Senator, will speak Tuesday night at a meeting in North Side Carnegie Music Hall.

Mrs. J. Wood Clark, vice chairman of the Democratic county committee, has announced the committee will give a reception to Mrs. Hemphill and Mrs. Kistler at 4 p. m. Tuesday in the William Penn Hotel.

ANTI-REPEAL PLANK G.O.P. DRYS' AIM

Third Party Movement in Making If Prohibition Fails to Hold Party

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—(AP.)—Republican dry chieftains are preparing to insist that their party's 1932 platform contain a plank declaring against repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment.

They are biding their time, quietly awaiting, meanwhile, the returns from the congressional elections two weeks hence, but already intimations are heard that unless this plank against repeal is incorporated in the Republican platform, a third party movement may be started.

FEEL SOUTH LOST

However, in spite of the political aridity of the Southern states, Republican prohibitionists are less hopeful now of repeating their 1928 successes in the South, even though the Democrats should select a wet nominee. Also the Republican candidates in New York and New Jersey this year are campaigning for repeal and there is every indication that the delegations of these states to the next convention will carry with them anti-dry demands.

The Democrats, although speculating on the 1932 effects of possible victories this year by such repeal candidates as Gov. Roosevelt of New York, and Robert J. Bulkley, the party's senatorial nominee in Ohio, have powerful dry leaders. Among them are such presidential possibilities as Senator Robinson of Arkansas, and Senator Glass of Virginia.

SEE NATIONAL DRIVE

The report of the Law Enforcement Commission on Prohibition is expected at the capitol to precipitate campaigning on a national scale. That report will not be drafted until after the election. There is no definite indication of the lineup of the commission on the subject although Washington is filled with rumors.

Some Republican drys are wondering whether the commission's report may affect the stand of President Hoover, who in the 1928 campaign declared against repeal of the prohibition amendment.

Meanwhile, Senator Capper (Rep.), Kansas, already has called for a prohibition battle in 1932 and has asserted the Republicans will champion the dry cause.

The Prohibitionists are mobilizing and the Republicans are mentioning such party stalwarts as Vice-President Curtis and Senator Fess of Ohio, now national chairman, as well as Senator Borah, of Idaho, for leadership.

Woodcock Denies Approving Home Brew

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 22.—(AP.)—Amos W. W. Woodcock, director of prohibition enforcement, told reporters here in reply to their inquiries that recent published reports quoting him as saying it is not unlawful to manufacture beer and wine in the home for home consumption were "absurd." He said:

"I never made such a statement, because home manufacture of any beverage containing one-half of one per cent of alcohol is illegal and is specifically prohibited by the national prohibition act.

"What I have been trying to do is to direct enforcement activities against commercial violators of the law and liquor trafficking on large scales, which are much simpler propositions than watching homes. I have instructed the agents to stop the traffic at its source and leave the maker of home brew to deal with public opinion and education."

Carloading Plant Opens November 3

One of the units in the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company's new freight center development in the lower North Side, the new plant of the Universal Carloading and Distributing Company will open November 3, it is announced by John D. Maginn, newly appointed manager.

Built at an estimated cost of $500,000, the building on the site of the old Exposition Park, faces on West General Robinson street, in close proximity to the proposed river and rail terminal.

Coxey Urges U. S. to Lend Jobless $100 Monthly

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22—(INS.)—Gen. Jacob S. Coxey, who 36 years ago led a great army of unemployed on a march from Ohio to Washington, popped up today with another employment crisis and advanced two novel suggestions to President Hoover's cabinet commission on unemployment.

The first proposal Gen. Coxey advanced to Secretary Lamont, who is chairman of the commission, was that a general moratorium be declared for 18 months.

The second was that through the Federal Reserve Board unsecured loans of $100 a month for 50 months be made to all unemployed.

Gen. Coxey admitted that his suggestions did not appeal to Lamont.

Nevertheless, Gen. Coxey believed his ideas had merit.

The moratorium, he said, would prevent foreclosures of mortgages on homes of the jobless, and would benefit installment buyers unable to keep up payments on their purchases.

Sun's Eclipse Photographed Successfully in Tropics

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—(AP.)—A message received today at the Naval Observatory said photographing the sun's eclipse on the Island of Niuafou in the South Pacific was successful.

Commander C. H. J. Keppler, in charge of the United States Naval Observatory eclipse expedition, said 41 coronal pictures had been taken of the eclipse, which occurred yesterday at approximately 5 p. m. eastern standard time.

Officials of the observatory said the scientists had observed six medium streamers of light. Commander Keppler reported the natives were interested and not frightened at the eclipse.

Capt. Hellweg said the phenomenon of Bailey's Beads was formed just as the moon completely obscured the sun. They are the last rays of light from the sun shooting through the crevices on the surface of the moon.

MINE BLAST DEATH TOLL 231, WORST IN GERMAN HISTORY

80 MEN STILL ENTOMBED, 61 DEAD

Investigators at Loss to Fix Cause of Explosions Deep in Mine Shaft

International News Service.

ALSDORF, Germany, Oct. 22.—With a known death toll of 231 and the probability it would rise to a greater number before the day was over, the mysterious explosion which wrecked the Anna mine here was set down today as the worst mining disaster in German history.

After more than 24 hours of frantic digging in the shambles of the wrecked mine, rescue workers had removed a total of 170 bodies and ascertained that of the 80 men still entombed, at least 61 were known to be dead.

While squads of exhausted rescue workers labored in shifts to bring the charred and mangled bodies to the surface, rigorous investigation into the blast was under way. Early this afternoon investigators confessed themselves up against a blank wall.

CHECK DIFFICULT

The confusion and extent of the destruction rendered close check-ups difficult. A swelling casualty list was anticipated because a total of 666 men was in the mine at the time of the blast and scores were killed instantly by rocks and gas. Floods endangered those still trapped in their underground prison.

In addition to the dead, the hospital reported 126 miners and mine employes under treatment for more or less serious injuries, some of which may prove fatal.

Rescue squads, reinforced by Dutch and Belgian miners, pumped air through ventilating shafts on assumption that the men below were still alive. The dead and injured were brought out chiefly through tunnels of neighboring mines, as the main shafts of Anna mine were plunged into shambles by the dynamite and benzine blasts.

WOMAN FOUND

Red Cross workers and extra police details were mobilized immediately from surrounding cities and miners from neighboring mines rushed in to augment local rescue crews. Hundreds of hysterical villagers and relatives of the miners soon surged about the mine, vainly endeavoring to reach the dead and injured for identification.

TITLED MATE REFUSES TO CONTEST

Actress' Third Matrimonial Venture Nears Finish, Desertion Cited as Cause

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 22. (AP.)—Gloria Swanson's long heralded suit for divorce from the Marquis Henri De La Falaise De La Coudraye was on file today.

The screen star's attorney filed the suit yesterday, charging "willful and malacious desertion." Confirming statements made at the time the question of divorce was broadcast, the marquis said he would not contest the action.

The couple was married in Paris, January 23, 1925, and separated a year ago, the complaint stated. The first public intimation that Miss Swanson and her titled husband had reached the parting of their ways came in in August this year when the marquis came to Hollywood from Europe and stayed alone at a hotel. At that time both said they had decided to live apart and Miss Swanson intimated she was considering filing a suit for divorce.

ASKS NO ALIMONY

The ouple has no children and Miss Swanson did not ask for alimony. There is no community property, the divorce petition said.

Both principals professed admiration for the other. The actress said:

"We will always be good friends. I like Henri and I appreciate his difficulties in being married to me. I am so devoted to my career that my first interests are naturally in my screen work."

The marquis said he still had a "very high regard" for Miss Swanson.

"I wish her every happiness in the world," he said, "and if it is a divorce she wants she may have it if the court will give her one."

THIRD VENTURE

The suit was the beginning of the end for Miss Swanson's third matrimonial venture. In the early days of the movies she was married to Wallace Beery, screen villain. Both then were struggling for the recognition they later won. They were divorced in 1919, Beery charging desertion. After she had managed to survive the rigors of many "western" serials and claim something of a reputation as a leading actress, Miss Swanson married Herbert Somborn, a wealthy resident of Pasadena, only to have him divorce her because "she placed her career above everything else."

HINT ENGAGEMENT

The marquis, who has been seen often in the company of Constance Bennett, film actress, since the separation, said this friendship had nothing to do with the divorce. He added:

"As for rumors of any engagement to Miss Bennett, she and I have been good friends for a long time. I am not divorced yet. Who can tell what may happen in the future."

The marquis is employed in Hollywood as an assistant producer. For several years following his marriage to Miss Swanson he was representative abroad for a Hollywood studio.

GROUND GLASS DEATHS LAID TO WOMAN

Stepmother of 10-Year-Old Victim Denies Crime at Child's Bier; Call Father

DENVER, Oct. 22.—(AP.)—Murder charges will be filed against Mrs. Pearl O'Loughlin held in connection with the death of her 10-year-old stepchild, Leona, Captain of Detectives Bert Clark announced today. He said the charge would be filed before the formal hearing on an application for a writ of habeas corpus which Mrs. O'Loughlin's attorneys brought yesterday.

GRILLED 4 HOURS

Capt. Clark said:

"Only a confession by some one at present unsuspected by us or a like development, which I believe almost impossible, will save Mrs. O'Loughlin from murder charges Friday."

The announcement came after detectives had put the woman through four hours of relentless questioning, during which they accused her time and again of throwing the 10-year-old girl into Berkeley Park Lake, or having knowledge of who did put the body there.

During the night Mrs. O'Loughlin also was led to the dimly lighted bier of her stepdaughter in a mortuary and there she also was accused of the murder. Her denials rang through the morgue.

TO CALL FATHER

Capt. Clark said he would ask Detective Leo O'Loughlin, father of the dead child and husband of Mrs. O'Loughlin, to question the woman with him tonight. O'Loughlin returned from a hospital yesterday, where he was suffering from the effects of ground glass which laboratory tests indicated was fed to him and his daughter.

DELAY DECISION ON BABY GOLF

Judge Samuel J. McKim today in County Court announced he would give decision in the Sunday miniature golf controversy on October 29.

The case is an appeal of Emanuel Rose, 620 Haverhill street, one of the owners of a golf course at Murray avenue and Bartlett street, from a fine of $25 for operating the course on Sunday.

Judge McKim said the issues involved were whether an arrest for blue law violation can be made without a warrant, and whether the operation of a golf course on Sunday is a violation of the ancient statute.

L. A. Mazer, attorney for Rose, said the game was not an unlawful sport and did not disturb religious services because there was no rooting.

Judge McKim said Sunday golf playing was not a question of noise, but of conducting a worldly business on Sunday for profit. Mazer said the city was doing that very thing in operating the Schenley Park golf links on Sunday.

The court's attitude seemed to be that the arrest without a warrant was illegal, and that this, with the matter of commercialism were the matters to be decided.

Kelley was one of three bandits who held up and robbed James H. Neal, who was shot during the robbery and subsequently died.

Fire Fighter Dies From Smoke Fumes

JAMESTOWN, N. Y., Oct. 22.—(AP.)—Overcome by gas fumes while fighting a fire in a printing plant rubbish heap, Harry W. Barker, 53, fireman, of Company No. 5, died in the General Hospital.

Barker was one of the first firemen to reach the blaze and inhaled the dense smoke, which contained a chemical that affected other firemen, but not seriously. He had been a member of the department 14 years.

Congressman Dies After Operation

BALTIMORE, Oct. 22.—(AP.)—Otis Wingo, Democratic member of the House of Representatives from Arkansas, died last night at Johns Hopkins Hospital, where he had been undergoing treatment for a fortnight. Hospital officials said he underwent a gall bladder operation.

Phone Experts Plan 3-Sided World Chat

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—(AP.)—Tests looking toward a three-cornered wireless telephone conversation between President Hoover, Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain, and Premier Hamaguchi, of Japan, are being made by communications experts of the three countries.

The occasion would be the ceremony of the deposit of ratifications of the London Naval Treaty in London. The definite date of the ceremony will be announced by the British government, but it has been tentatively set for Monday.

Gandhi Leader in America Weds Colorado Co-Ed

DENVER, Col., Oct. 22.—(AP.)—Gopal Singh Khalsa, one of three representatives in this country of the Indian National Congress, composed of adherents to the cause of Mahatma Gandhi, last night took Miss Irene Hall, 20, co-ed of the University of Colorado, as his bride.

Khalsa met the girl a year ago while he was conducting a series of lectures at the university at Boulder. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Hall, of Boulder, and was a freshman at the university.

The Indian has been identified with the Gandhi movement since the Amrittar massacre in 1919. In addition to his writings, Khalsa operates the Hindustani, a newspaper in San Francisco.

After a honeymoon trip through Europe the couple will go to India, where Khalsa intends to start a chain of newspapers, providing the British ban on native press is lifted.

Ted Coy, All-American Star, Now Selling Brushes

By AL GOUGH,
Staff Correspondent.

GREENSBURG, Oct. 22.—Ted Coy, all-American husband and football fullback, has come to Greensburg to brush up on his third matrimonial venture and other things, including a new business career.

The new business is brushes and the latest Mrs. Coy, the former Lottie Bruhn, is happy. So is Ted who, instead of plunging into the line as he did back in 1909 for Yale, is running a satchel of brush samples in a house-to-house canvass.

The football hero's marriage to the late Jeanne Eagles was revealed while the stage star was playing in "Rain" at the Nixon Theater in Pittsburgh in 1925.

But that is past and Ted Coy is happy with his brushes and his new wife.

Coy will be remembered for his football prowess in 1909 as the outstanding grid star of the season. In 1913, he embarked upon his first matrimonial venture with Sophie Meldrin, daughter of Peter W. Meldrin, then president of the American Bar Association. He drifted along in the obscurity of wedded bliss for 11 years, finally breaking into print as the result of a divorce and his marriage to Jeanne Eagles. His second matrimonial venture proved more or less stormy, finally landing on the rocks in 1928 when he was divorced by the stage star and married Miss Bruhn in El Paso, Tex., the next day.

INDORSE RUSS, PLEADS BORAH

TWIN FALLS, Idaho, Oct. 22.—(AP.)—Senator William E. Borah, of Idaho, declared without qualification for recognition of the Russian Soviet government in a campaign address last night. He said:

"I am not afraid of Communist propaganda. There is nothing the people of the United States reject more quickly, when they know what it is, than they do the Communist doctrine.

"If I had my way I would trade with every country in the world. I know in due time we will recognize the government of Russia. We don't do it now because that would be regarded in some quarters as an endorsement of the Communistic doctrine.

"No one has less use for the doctrine than I, but I believe that Russia, in pursuing her present policy, will work out something in the nature of a sane democracy."

2 WOMEN SAVED IN HILL FIRE

Two women, one of them unconscious, were carried to safety early today when fire destroyed a one-story confectionery store at 2642 Wylie avenue and spread to two adjoining buildings.

They were Thelma Thomas, 26, overcome by smoke, and Mrs. Julia Hunt, 45, Negroes, rescued by Patrolmen J. J. O'Connor and Henry Tesh, of the Center Avenue Station.

The women were sleeping in the rear of the store. Before firemen got the flames under control they had spread to a shoe shining parlor at 2640, and a barber shop at 2638 Wylie avenue.

Battalion Chief Frank Harris estimated the loss at $2,000.

SEEKS TO DROP WINDBER LINE

Examiner W. E. Best, of the Public Service Commission, today heard the application of the Pennsylvania Railroad for discontinuance of passenger train service between South Fork and Windber, known as the South Fork Branch.

Railroad officials submitted statements to show that it costs $1.32 per train mile each day to operate the train of an engine and combination coach, while the receipts are only 10 cents per train mile daily, resulting in a loss of $14,57[illegible] annually.

The railroad gives improved highways, autos and buses as the reason for the falling off in patronage. It proposes to hire trucks to carry express and mail matter between the two points.

CHIEF JUSTICE OF STATE QUITS

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 22.—(INS.)—Chief Justice Robert von Moschzisker, of the Pennsylvania State Supreme Court, has tendered his resignation to Gov. John S. Fisher, effective November 24. The date is six weeks prior to the expiration of his 21-year term.

Von Moschzisker plans to resume immediately the practice of law. He will be succeeded by Justice Robert S. Frazer, of Pittsburgh.

In his letter to Gov. Fisher the chief justice wrote:

"There is only one sitting of the court before the first Monday of January, 1931, when my elective term expires. That session convenes November 24, 1930, by which time I can complete my work in all pending cases. The November meeting will last about two weeks, which leaves too short a period, between its termination and the end of my term, for me to take up and finish with my fellow judges the consideration and final decision of the cases then to be argued. For this reason, and because the November session will be in Philadelphia, where, immediately upon ceasing my judicial services, I shall resume the practice of law, it seems better, both from a practical point of view and as a matter of good taste, for me not to participate in the cases which will then be presented to the court."

Hawks Fast Flight Believed New Record

CURTISS AIRPORT, VALLEY STREAM, N. Y., Oct. 22.—(INS.)—Capt. Frank Hawks, holder of the transcontinental air speed record, flew here from Washington in 63 minutes. This was believed to be an unofficial record. Capt. Hawks made the 225-mile trip in an average time of 212½ miles an hour.

At Washington the aviator had luncheon with David I. Ingalls, assistant secretary of the Navy in charge of aeronautics.

RAIL UNIONS ASK 6-HOUR DAY

CLEVELAND, Oct. 22.—(AP.)—The seven railroad labor unions of the United States and Canada today took the leadership of organized labor in the movement seeking a six-hour working day without reduction of pay. It was virtually the same group of unions which 14 years ago won for railroad workers the eight-hour instead of the 10-hour day, which was followed by shorter hours in numerous other industries.

Officials of the railroad unions estimated that the proposed six-hour day would put to work 50,000 men now unemployed in the railroad industries.

The campaign for the shorter working day will be planned in detail at a meeting of 700 representatives of the railroad unions in Chicago, November 12.

SCHNEIDER SUIT DROPPED

Impeachment proceedings against Constable John Schneider, tried and acquitted of being accessory to robberies committed by Harry Andrini, were dismissed yesterday by Judge George V. Moore, with the concurrence of Andrew T. Park, district attorney.

Andrini recently was sentenced to from 32 to 64 years for a series of robberies and holdups, among them the robbery on June 16 of a South Hills Trust Company messenger, John B. Stauff, who died the following day from shock.

Schneider's attorney, Louis Little, asked the court to dismiss the impeachment charge.

CORRECT MANNERS

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

The Groom's Gift to the Bride

Will you kindly publish in your column whether it is the custom for the groom to give the bride a wedding gift? Also if it is correct for the bride to give the groom a wedding gift?

Elvira.

It is distinctly the custom for the groom to give the bride a wedding gift—don't you remember how often we read that "the bride wore a string of pearls, the gift of the groom." The groom usually plans to give his bride something in the line of jewelry that she can wear with her wedding dress, pearls, or a brooch, or a bracelet.

It is not so definitely a custom that the bride gives the groom a wedding gift, but the thoughtful, generous-minded bride likes to plan to do this, and of course it is thoroughly correct.

For Club Secretary

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. When writing notices of a meeting to members of a club, should the signature of the president or that of the secretary be signed to the card?

2. Should the secretary address the chairman before proceeding to read the minutes of the previous meeting, after she has obtained the floor? J. B.

1. Usualy it is sufficient to have the signature of the secretary, since it is her duty to make and to send such announcements.

2. Yes.

Too much ACID

Many people, two hours after eating, suffer indigestion as they call it. It is usually excess acid. Correct it with an alkali. The best way, the quick, harmless and efficient way, is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained for 50 years the standard with physicians. One spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in stomach acids, and at once. The symptoms disappear in five minutes.

You will never use crude methods when you know this better method. And you will never suffer from excess acid when you prove out this easy relief. Please do that—for your own sake—now.

Be sure to get the genuine, prescribed by doctors for conditions due to excess acid. It is always a liquid; it cannot be made in tablet form. Look for the name Phillips' and the word genuine in red.

CALLS FOR AID INCREASED

With an estimate of approximately 500 families to be cared for during this month, the Family Welfare Association of Allegheny County today revealed 90 per cent of its increased expenditures, now requiring twice the sum budgeted for October, has been due to unemployment.

A survey made to compare relief given this year over last year shows 420 families were aided last month against 185 in September, 1929. While the association's budget share of the funds collected by the Welfare Fund, which begins its annual chest drive November 12, was set for $6,300 monthly, almost twice this sum was being required.

Work at the "Helping Hand Home" sleeping quarters provided by a group of business men in First avenue for homeless Pittsburgh men, has been progressing with about 800 men being given two meals daily. At a luncheon of the contributors yesterday, it was stressed that the shelter was not for out-of-town workers. The committee is arranging for cots. Efforts to borrow them from the government supplies failed, since these cots are only released in cases of disaster emergencies.

East End Man Kills Self by Shooting

Edward Connors, 56, of 7021 Frankstown avenue, committed suicide by shooting himself, according to East End police. His wife told police Conners announced he was going to his garage to work on his car, and when he did not come in for lunch, she went to call him and found his body. Connors had been in ill health for some time, his wife said.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Oct. 22.—(AP.)—A cat here can meow loud enough to be heard in Australia. Engineers were radiophoning technical matters when "Tabby" happened into the room and yawned 10,000 miles.

Just thirty-seven years ago Mr Charles W Ridinger was graduated with a degree in Electrical Engineering from the Western University of Pennsylvania, which is now the University of Pittsburgh. He started to work at once for the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company. Four years later, with a firm background of theoretical and practical knowledge and with necessary financial resources, he started in business for himself, first forming the Iron City Engineering Company. Later he organized the present Iron City Electric Company, a large and successful wholesale electrical supply house

Mr. Ridinger has always believed in making a careful analysis of any project before going into it. After making his plans, he has carried them through by hard work and saving. Many of Pittsburgh's leading business and industrial men have begun with nothing but the determination to succeed. And in presenting this series of editorials, the Union Savings Bank wants to show that hard work and saving are essential for success

It is easy to open Savings or Checking Accounts at the Union Savings Bank. Bring your first deposit to the New Accounts Department, get your pass book, and begin to save something regularly.

COSTE and BELLONTE were successful in flying from Paris to New York because they had worked hard and carefully planned their trip. And they had sufficient gasoline on board, not only to carry them through normal weather but to carry them through storms and other unforeseen conditions.

Every business, large or small, should have sufficient capital to carry it through normal business conditions—and should build up a surplus for emergencies.

In the same way, to be happy and content, every individual should live within his income and set aside a certain amount monthly for unexpected sickness, temporary unemployment, or worthwhile opportunities. This can best be done by starting a Savings Account.

Committee of 17 views dramatic tests of new Bead Soap for silks

Distinguished group votes enthusiastic approval of instant-dissolving, speed-rinsing, cool-water cleansing such as no soap has ever given before

AMERICA'S most distinguished women leaders were honor guests recently at the dramatic debut of a new soap for silks. They had been called as a Committee of 17 to the Ritz Hotel to pass judgment on the new soap discovery which, silk experts claim, will supersede the flakes and granules now used.

Why new soap is safer for silks than chips or flakes

Mrs. James J. Davis, wife of the Secretary of Labor, called the meeting to order. The new soap — tiny, hollow, instant dissolving beads made of olive and palm oils — was passed around for the different members of the committee to examine. Then the tests began.

Giant test tubes, flooded with powerful lights, revealed that the "beads" dissolve 30 times faster than the thinnest flakes. That they cleanse in water 20 degrees cooler than tallow soaps require.

Rinsing tests proved that the new soap rinses away like magic even in cool water. Leaving not a trace of soap residue to spot and damage fabrics.

Committee of 17 approves new soap

So revolutionary did the tests reveal the new soap to be . . . so completely does it fulfill all requirements . . . that the Committee of 17 went on record as unanimously approving it as "the ideal soap for silks."

Called Palmolive Beads

Start at once to give your lovely silks the protection of this finer, gentler soap. It is called Palmolive Beads and has just been put on sale at all dealers. Order it today and make this test. Wash your most delicately colored silk lingerie, your sheerest chiffon hosiery again and again in its gentle suds, then note what longer wear they give! Palmolive Beads cost but 10 cents the box. No more than ordinary soaps.

NEW $2,000,000 BUILDING OPENING

McCANN BUILDING OPENING TOMORROW: TWO FLOORS FOR GROCERIES, SIX FOR AUTOS

Photos by Trinity Court

C. M. KEFOVER — W. P. FRASER — PETER V. BOUTERSE

Mr. Fraser, president; Mr. Kefover, vice-president, and Mr. Bouterse, general manager and treasurer of McCann and Company, opening its new downtown building tomorrow.

M'CANN'S NEW STORE READY

The new $2,000,000 McCann Company Building opens tomorrow, making this one of the country's largest food department stores.

The story of this latest 10-floor addition to the "business that fine foodstuffs built" is the tale of the growth of Pittsburgh. Two McCann brothers started, 57 years ago, with a little stall in the Diamond market. They expanded to occupancy of a leased building on Market place; they grew more, built themselves a store, large enough for their fondest dreams, on Diamond street.

They sold butter and eggs, poultry, 92 varieties of cheese. They brought tea from the Orient, from India, Ceylon. From Brazil came green coffee, which they roasted themselves. Fish, meat, prepared foods, grocery specialties, fruits and vegetables, shrubbery.

Automobiles increased and it became necessary to have a parking lot. A cafeteria and restaurant were needed. The aisles of the store, formerly thought to be large enough for every need, became jammed with trade; traffic was congested in the street.

It was vital that more room be had for the growth of the store. A store was launched in East Liberty. Meanwhile a new building downtown was constructed.

Two floors and two mezzanines are open for food-buyers tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock. A restaurant and cafeteria are waiting for noon-time shoppers. Six upper floors will handle customers' autos.

The old building remains open, excepting for that part facing on Diamond street. That will be torn down, replaced by a glass enclosed mass-selling lot. There fruits and vegetables and, in the spring, shrubbery will be sold in carload and tens-of-carload lots.

W. P. Fraser is president of the present McCann organization. With General Manager and Treasurer Peter Bouterse and Vice President C. M. Kefover, Fraser will be on hand to receive congratulations of friends on the opening, to direct the machinery of the huge food department store, to continue in his guidance of the company's growth.

FURNACE FIRES HOME, 3 FLEE

A mother, her son and daughter were forced to seek refuge in the home of a neighbor today after flames from an overheated furnace in the cellar of their home at 127 East Woodford avenue, Carrick, spread throughout the house and burned through the roof.

Edwin Beczkowski, 18, the son, discovered the fire and aroused his mother, Mrs. John Beczkowski, and his sister, Helen, 17. John told firemen he was awakened by a noise from the furnace.

Firemen said the draft on the furnace had not been properly adjusted. Furnishings were damaged by fire and smoke.

Homestead Driver Held in Girl's Death

A coroner's jury today held John Junn, 28, of Homestead Park, for manslaughter in the death of Mrs. Evelyn Dowers, 20, of 802 Amity street, Homestead. She was killed when the automobile in which they were riding struck a pole in Munhall, October 10. Junn had been drinking and was asleep, it was testified.

FILENE TALKS ON MARKETING

Relationship between department stores and manufacturers is the most serious problem facing these executives today in the opinion of E. A. Filene, president of William Filene's Sons Company of Boston, in addressing the consumer marketing conference of the American Management Association in session at the William Penn Hotel.

Describing the American department stores as the best equipped in the world and the manufacturers as maintaining the most modern equipment, Mr. Filene said:

"Unless the two fields can work out advantageous relations to jointly overcome the present waste in production and distribution, neither one can survive in its present form of ownership. It will not be difficult for the coming huge chains of department stores to manufacture their own brands if they are driven to it."

A dinner will be held tonight with sales and merchandising policies demonstrated. A style clinic will be conducted tomorrow in Kaufmann's auditorium as the closing feature of the three-day meet.

Baptist Women Meet at Bellevue

Women of Circle No. 2, Bellevue Baptist Church, will serve a chicken dinner, beginning at 6 p. m. tomorrow in the church rooms.

Ingrown Nail Turns Right Out!

A few drops of "Outgro" in the crevice of the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and so toughens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it can not penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost over night.

"Outgro" is a harmless antiseptic manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions.

MAYOR URGES NAVY HOMAGE

Pittsburgh was asked today by Mayor Charles H. Kline, in an official proclamation, to join in the nation-wide observance of "Navy Day," next Monday.

"Navy Day," when achievements of the United States on the seas throughout its history are reviewed, is also the birthday of the late Theodore Roosevelt.

The Mayor's proclamation said in part:

"Joining hand and heart with the executives of our nation, our states and municipalities, I call upon the citizens of this community to observe next Monday as 'Navy Day' by unfurling to the breeze from every staff, above every building and on every roof and on every home that glorious symbol of our nation, the American flag."

CUTS SILK HOSE BILLS IN TWO

A New York fashion expert has just made a wonderful discovery. Realizing the expense of constantly buying silk hose and lingerie, she learned that with perspiration comes an oily excretion from the sebaceous glands that causes silks to rot.

Soap and water she found were inadequate. Only a solvent like Energine cuts this film of oil. So when next washing silk hose or dainty undergarments, add a tablespoonful of Energine to a quart of lukewarm, soapy water. Wash thoroughly, rinse well. Note the new, fresh cleanliness—see how the original color is revived so easily and with less rubbing. After using this new method, you'll be amazed at the difference in results from washing in just soap and water.

And when you see how many more weeks' wear you get from silk hose, you'll be more than delighted—it's real economy. Energine is unexcelled also for quickly removing all dirt and grease spots from dresses, hats, shoes, gloves, ties. Large can 35c.

GOSSIP OF THE DAY FROM HOLLYWOOD AND GOTHAM; LOCAL THEATER NOTES

Ruth Chatterton Creates Flurry by Adapting French Plays

By HARRISON CARROLL

(Copyright, 1930, Premier Syndicate.)

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 21.

Just as Ernest Torrence surprised most of Hollywood with his talent as a composer, Ruth Chatterton has created a flurry by her ability as a translator and adapter of French plays.

Her version of "Monsieur Brotonneau" has been given a London production. This play was written by G. A. De Caillavet and Robert De Flers. It is the third that Miss Chatterton has translated and had produced.

Ruth Chatterton

The two previous efforts were "La Tendresse" and "L'Homme Enhabit." the last of which found it's way to the screen as "Evening Clothes." Adolphe Menjou was the star.

As she leaves for Europe within two months, Miss Chatterton hopes to see the London production of her latest translation.

Another Paramount star who is scheduled for a European vacation is Gary Cooper. This will be his first trip abroad. The studio is allowing him a two months' vacation in appreciation of the fact that he is about to start his sixth picture since the first of the year.

ACTORS, ALL ACTORS

Los Angeles' Chinatown boasts its own motion picture casting office. It is run by Tom Gubbins, who has lived among the Chinese for years, and who long has supplied film producers with Oriental costumes and props. Of the 1,500 inhabitants of the local Chinatown, more than 1,000 have appeared in motion pictures. Gubbins declares they will drop any work they are doing to answer a studio call.

WILL NEED HANDLING

Kenyon Nicholson's play, "The Torch Song," is intended by Metro-Goldyn-Mayer as a vehicle for Joan Crawford. Certain changes undoubtedly will have to be made for the film. To wit, the scene where the heroine, a former cabaret dancer turned Salvation Army lassie, gets drunk and does the Charleston to the tune of a hymn.

Joan Crawford

The movies are much more broad-minded than of yore, but censors wouldn't stand for that.

Aside from the incident mentioned, and from several other scenes, the Nicholson play seems a likely story for the popular star.

WHY TECHNICIANS GO CRAZY

A male star, now much in demand, is under contract to one of the smaller studios to make a picture for $50,000. The other day, he called upon the business manager and asked him for half the amount. The studio official agreed readily, even cheerfully. While the star was waiting for the check to come up from the treasurer, an employe of the sound department came in to get the business manager's okeh on the purchase of an important piece of equipment. The cost was $65. The official began an argument which lasted an hour, and finally turned down the request.

A very large and fashionable audience gathered in the upper hall of Soldiers' Memorial yesterday afternoon for the first reception of the Tuesday Musical Club. It was president's day and the musical program was in keeping with the gala occasion.

Of first importance was the hearing of Marilla Kohary, a charming young pianist whom the club has sponsored for some time in New York and who is now returning to the club circle. Miss Kohary has deserved the scholarship and has learned much. She has developed an adequate technique, and her tone, which was originally very beautiful, has acquired far more variety. Her playing is very intelligent; there is missing only that deep musical feeling which must be in-born.

It is surprising how far from the real Bach contemporary players and teachers do wander. In the fugue Miss Kohary approached an understanding of the true dynamics, but as usual the prelude became a beautiful study in romantic tone rather than virile design. The Beethoven Sonata displayed a clever handling of acoustic effects through pedalling. The pianist was very much at home with Brahms, possibly better than with the other composers of her program, for here all her best qualities found their richest expression.

Marie Stone Langston chose some good songs as her contribution; Gounod's air from Sapho is heard rarely outside the studios, and the Tschaikowsky "Romance de Pauline" almost never, although it is one of his tenderest melodies. Mrs. Langston's contralto voice is the kind most Americans like because it is "so deep." Its defects in production are too obvious, but she sings always in good taste.

Earl Mitchell played accompaniments.

J. FRED LISSFELT.

Knute Rockne and the Notre Dame football squad will attend the Friday night performance in Loew's Penn, Manager H. M. Addison announces. Addison and Rockne are friends, and the Notre Dame leader accepted Addison's invitation for the Irish gridders to be guests of the Penn. Members of the Pitt team also have been invited to attend. The Notre Dame and Pitt squads will occupy boxes opposite each other. Rockne advised Addison that he would arrive at the Theater at 7:30. The Pitt boys will also be on hand at that hour.

OPERETTA AND DRAMA BILLS NEXT WEEK

A new comic operetta, "The Well of Romance," holds its world premiere in the Nixon next Monday. Preston Sturges, author of "Strictly Dishonorable," wrote the book and lyrics, and H. Maurice Jacquet, composer of "Spanish Love," wrote the music. Norma Terris and Howard Marsh, late stars of Ziegfeld's "Show Boat," have the leading roles. The piece goes to New York after one week in the Nixon.

Seats go on sale in the Alvin tomorrow for the engagement next week of Katherine Cornell, in her newest play, "Dishonored Lady." Miss Cornell is bringing the original New York cast and production. Matinees are announced for Wednesday and Saturday.

Theater patrons who enjoyed Alice Ann Baker's performance in "The Royal Family" last week, will be interested in learning that Miss Baker has an equally prominent role in "That Ferguson Family," to be presented in the Pitt next week. She will impersonate a mother who fails to understand that her children are now men and women.

WALTER WINCHELL On Broadway

(Copyright, 1930, Daily Mirror, Inc.)

Question

You called me fickle—scorned my flighty ways,
Nor gave me one brief moment to explain;
You said that other lads would fill my days,
And left me to my sorrow and my pain;
I've racked my brain to find the reason why
You charged me with a sin that was not mine,
Did you believe a subtle little lie
That someone told to poison rapture's wine?

Well, we are through, but may I tell you this?
No other lad can lay a claim to me;
No other lad will ever bend to kiss
The lips you claim are steeped in perfidy;
I wonder as I yearn for your caress—
Just what you mean, my dear, by fickleness?

—Ex-Mistress.

"Always Belittlin' "

The bitterness, sarcasm and other fault-finding you discover in a good Broadway Column is necessary to interpret Broadway flawlessly. The Broadway Column is hardly as caustic as the genuine Broadwayite, one means to add. To the genuine Broadwayward type all is phony—all is tinsel—all is horsefeathers. Nothing is on the level—there's a trick to it; it is done to deceive you. To the Broadway cynic all is counterfeit.

Here is a concrete example. It happened the other night when Marc Lachman, of the Dillingham press department, watched them bring the monster whale to Fifty-third street, where it is on exhibition.

"Golly!" golly'd an awed witness, "get a load of that gigantic fish!"

As If We Didn't Know

And, shouts Izzy Elinson, something should be done about the gun-employment situation!

By Golly!

Harry Ruby, the co-author of Amos 'n' Andy's first phlicker, was recently sealed in Hollywood to Cleo Cullen. They Charleston'd down the center aisle at 5:30 p. m. At 9:30 the next yawning in the studio, the groom was fretting.

"What's up, Harry?" someone querried.

"Oh, groaned the groom, "the Hollywood wisenheimers make me sick. They know everything, don't they? Just a lotta wiseguys, humph! They said this marriage wouldn't last. Well, we're still together!"

Pun My Soul!

One Harry B. barks:

"After reading your col'm for sometime I am now convinced that the pen is mightier than the sordid—and why call it tablurid? More appropriate is tablewd!"

And in some cases—tabooed.

O, Mr. Ryder!

Sue Daly, all the way from Kansas City, bellows:

Wisey

Fred Allen, of "Three's a Crowd," the new hit revusical at the Selwyn, reports that things are so tough around town that autograph hunters are only asking for initials.

O, Mr. Wilstach!

Suggested for F. J. Wilstach's Simile Dictionary: Mary Heaton Vorse: Bibulous ladies whose noses are like ripe tomatoes. . . . Mr. Shenkin's: As exasperated as a left-handed eater at Thompson's. . . . Jane S. Davis: Your magazine (Liberty) is like an interesting woman—good and bad. . . . H. L. Mencken: Will perish as surely as the Arkansas Baptists who die of Jamaica ginger. . . . The Pathfinder's: Different as a label and a libel—it all depends upon whom it is pasted, and "Bugs" Barr's: Collapsed like a pair of vacant sox.

Overheard

"I see that Joe Doakes and Mary Phlug are doing the town together a lot lately. Do you think they really care?"

"Say, they're so gaga about each other, they're at the fighting stage!"

Sotto Voce

S. D.: No ma'am—that was Broadly Miss Quinlan's first Broadway Ballet. Miss Phillips: Very good. One joint, Gerald Maxfield, it doesn't pell. Harriet Lord: Kisses and wishes?"

Bop!

And James Quirk, the editor of Photoplay, says one explanation of the recent slump in moving picture production is that the producers couldn't make up their minds what picture to imitate next.

The Idea Dandy

Ashton Stevens, the Chi-Hurld-Exam's drama defender, has a swelegant plan to stifle the entr'acte pests who ask the critic what he thinks of the show. Ashton, who would have other drama oracles follow suit, intends to exit from the next premiere with one or two placards on his back reading:

"I liked it" or "I think it is peeoor!"

The Squelch Vicious

The editor of a Jersey newspaper ankled into a place where soda water was peddled. Two other intoxicated reporters began belittling the editor's success in lifting his rag's circulation.

"It is said," sneered one of the rogues, "that while all other papers tumbled during the summer your sheet kept climbing. How do you explain that?"

"Perhaps," said the editor, stiffly, "it was because even in the summer we had a talented staff."

"Perhaps," snapped one of the upstarts, "it was because people bought your paper when it was hot to use as a fan!"

SIX ARRESTED IN DRY RAIDS

Six men, arrested in raids by prohibition agents yesterday, were at liberty on $1,000 bond each pending hearing before the United States commissioner.

Barrooms at 807 Talbot avenue, Braddock avenue, and 298 Baldwin street, netted the agents large quantities of beer, whisky and gin, they reported. John Perry, 36, and Felix Paulc, 42, arrested in the Braddock raid, and Fred Weidenhoff, 42, and his son, Fred, Jr., 20, arrested in the latter place, were held in bond, according to the agents.

Frank Fusco, 32, and Nick Cardone, 23, were arrested, agents said, at 317 Seventh avenue, Braddock, where wine and whisky was confiscated.

In a club at 239 Seventh avenue, Homestead, home brew and whisky was seized and James Haywood, arrested, the raiders asserted.

La SALLE
V-Eight
$2195
AND UP, F. O. B.

THE NEW La Salle V-Eight offers a remarkable array of advantages that make it an exceedingly pleasant car to own and drive—and surprisingly economical as well.

The bodies are new expressions of Fisher and Fleetwood coachcraft—fresh in authentic beauty. Built to provide the utmost quiet and restfulness, the quality in design, construction and materials is so high that the resale value of this long-lived car is assured.

It is an exhilarating experience to drive so spirited a car. The eight-cylinder power plant is larger, and still more power is at the command of the driver.

The new La Salle profits heavily by its membership in the Cadillac family of distinguished fine cars—the new Cadillac V-8, the new V-12 and the V-16—because Cadillac brings to motoring this year a newness of performance never before experienced even in Cadillac or La Salle cars.

Nowhere is this more delightfully stressed than in the car's simplicity of control, driving ease and greater safety, assured by such characteristic features as Cadillac's harmonized steering system, clashless Syncro-Mesh Transmission, remarkably effective braking system, and non-shatterable Security Plate Glass throughout.

Best of all, you can enjoy the La Salle without undue strain on your pocketbook, for it sells as low as $2195 f.o.b. Purchase is made easy by the G.M.A.C. Deferred Payment Plan. Perhaps the value of your present car is sufficient to take care of the down payment. Let us appraise it. There will be no obligation.

The Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild for boys offers 984 awards for craftsmanship, valued at $50,000, including four University scholarships of four years each, and each valued at $5,000—trips to Detroit—and thousands of dollars in gold. Membership is open to every boy in the U. S. between the ages of 12 and 19, inclusive. To enroll and obtain details, see your nearest Cadillac-La Salle dealer

YALE COACH TALKS ON RADIO TONIGHT

The Loudspeaker

Coached by Roxy.
"Body and Soul."
Music and Love.
Those Revelers.

By LOUIS REID

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—The broadcasters are showing a greater disposition to lift their voices to "Brown October Ale." It has yet, however, dear Bishop Cannon, to feature any political program.

Louis Reid.

A place on the payroll of Canon Rothafel's cathedral seems to be what the essayists used to call an open sesame to musical fame. A score of singers and instrumentalists who got their start with Roxy have gone onward and upward to the sacred halls of Carnegie and the Metropolitan. Whatever became of Maria Gambarelli?

One of the most rousing marches ever written in the republic is Julian Edwards' "My Own United States." It seldom tumbles from the loudspeakers.

It is difficult to understand the radio men's excited concern with the new English blues song, "Body and Soul." It seems to me not only decidedly reminiscent, but decidedly inferior to a dozen tunes that have come out of Tin Pan Alley in the last few weeks.

The best of all the blues songs, the most ear-and-feet tickling, is W. C. Handy's "St. Louis Blues." It neither stales nor withers with the passing of the years. Heard often on the loudspeakers, it was strangely omitted from the recent program in which the Cardinal ball players were brought to the microphone.

Armchairs Applaud Tang of the Soil

Much of the appeal of the Seth Parker sketches lies in the genuiness of the Down East expressions that are used. One hears such phrases, native to the soil of Maine, as "he ran like all-git-out," "so stupid he don't know enough to lap salt," "poor's poverty in a gale of wind," "pale's dishwater."

The Crockett Mountaineers are said to be able to trace a relationship to the Marquis de Lafayette. Who'd a thunk it?

The Maine Stein Song has been played in every rhythm save that of an Arkansas clog. It has even been made, my dear Ripley, into a tango.

It is only a matter of four days before the armchairs will know how deeply Frederick Palmer, latest of the war correspondents to reach the radio firing line, has delved into the confidential files of ex-Secretary of War Baker.

The old Jolson pulse-quickener "Avalon" is seldom aired by the orchestra. Nor for that matter are those sprightliest of Victor Herbert's pieces, "Badinage" and "Al Fresco."

The supreme test of diction on the radio, as on the stage, are the three and four syllable words in the rapidly timed lyrics of W. S. Gilbert. The most expert on the stage in voicing them without a slip of the tongue is William Danforth, the comedian. The radio men, strangely, have not yet ferreted him out.

Lebert Lombardo, brother to maestro Guy, is soon to lecture at Columbia on "Is Music Essential to Love?" As if there were any question.

Broadcasters are now letting the nation know the jazz styles of various cities. The Columbia System now lists bands that range from Maestro Paige in Los Angeles to maestro Denny in Montreal. But between you and me and the ear-trumpet it's hard to detect any difference between them—almost as hard as detecting any difference between the football songs.

Maestros Seek Another 'Deep Night'

Will Osborne, the crooner, made his professional bow at a Pennsylvania country club at a wage of $20 a week . . . Wonder how many dance bands there are on the air . . . The maestros still are seeking a seductive balled that will rank with "Deep Night." Remember "Deep Night?" For such a song most troubadours wait a lifetime. Vallee was lucky It came to him a few months after the moon struck his megaphone.

By capturing the hearts of love-starved women throughout the country it did more to establish Valee's vogue than any other single factor in his radio career . . . Joseph Littau's musical valedictory with the Roxy Symphony Orchestra was the turbulent "Bolero" of Ravel. Sophistication grows in the republic. A decade or two ago a maestro would have chosen Tosti's "Good Bye" as his farewell offering.

The oldest quartet on the microphones—and still the best—is that which calls itself The Revelers. Originally known as the Shannon Four, it was organized by Wilfred Glenn, who had come from California with a voice that had been taught to range wide open spaces. He saw riches and renown in the making of phonograph records and gathered about him on his way East three other vocalists, Frank Luther, tenor, from Kansas; Lewis James, tenor, from Michigan, and Elliott Shaw, Iowa baritone. They entered the field of voice-recording and became famous. With the advent of radio they were ready for the microphone. They have been within call ever since.

WE NOW PRESENT

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Radio Editor

A tour of the National Broadcasting Company's new studios in Chicago awaits the WCAE listener at 6 o'clock . . . Saturday's Yale-Army game comes up for discussion by Mal Stevens, Yale coach, and Grantland Rice, on WCAE at 10:30 . . . KDKA's Gift Barn Dance at 8:30 is to bring us quadrilles and an old-fashioned figure caller . . . Remember when KDKA had these barn dances every week? . . . "Schultz Is Back Again" puts humor into the Fast Freight program. WJAS at 9 . . . Charles Wakefield Cadman, Pittsburgh composer, is honored at 9:15 on KDKA . . . Atwater Kent finalists—Betty Shallenberger, soprano, and Jack Hoyes, baritone—give us a duet, "Song of Love," over WCAE at 8 p. m. . . . Muriel Pollock and Vee Lawnhurst, the inseparable pair, entertain at 9 on KDKA.

Muriel Pollock

Saturday becomes a holiday for Ralph Federer starting this week. And how's he going to spend it?—following the fortune of his alma mater, West Virginia University, in the afternoon, and practicing Lee Sims' arrangements at night.

* * *

We'd have to think a long time to name any artist about Pittsburgh studios who works longer and harder than the WCAE pianist.

Ted Husing's account of the Pitt-Notre Dame game this Saturday is to start at 1:45, direct from the Stadium.

In reproducing a program from VK2ME recently the American announcer said:

"Now our Australian friends will play their national anthem."

Smart repartee or not, we don't know, but VK2ME came back with "I Kiss Your Hand, Madame."

QUESTION A DAY:

Is Jessica Dragonette married and how old is Glenn Riggs?—Walter Cowan, Jr., Box 206, Conneaut Lake, Pa.

Answer—Jessica is single. Glenn was 23 on July 24.

Prof. Monteagle is at the bottom of the Hudson River, Frigoni is in jail—all's well again at Mystery House.

We are convinced that Jack Parker and the Enna Jettick Song Bird "Don't Want to Play in Our Yard." They sang it within five minutes of each other on the same station last night.

Rev. John Sproul's license for WMBJ has been renewed for 30 days. Two transmitters formerly operated by the Rev. Sproul have been seized for debt.

* * *

But this is of little significance. The scrap of paper containing the license is far more valuable than the thousands of dollars involved in equipment.

TODAY'S TID BIT:

There's no credit in Bloomfield, Neb., where everyone of 1,500 citizens pays cash for his needs, Lowell Thomas told us last night.

LICKED at 7 a.m.

He stumbled out of bed, starved for sleep, harrassed by jumpy nerves and a finicky stomach that sickened at the thought of food. Dull-eyed, muddle-headed. Devitalized. Overwork the cause of blue mornings? Work never hurt anybody. It's something far more insidious.

A Pure Food Crank . . still he has SYS-TEM-IC POISONING

RECENT discoveries have branded the healthy foods we eat as the actual cause of most kidney, stomach, intestinal and nervous disorders—troubles that manifest themselves first during the morning hour.

We now know that if you toss and turn at night and get up in the morning feeling listless, nervous, upset, or with dull pain throbbing in your back or head . . . infection that lurks in the purest of foods is taking its toll. You are the victim of SYS-TEM-IC POISONING.

Every morsel of food that enters your mouth passes right through the stomach into the small intestine where the important task of refueling the blood with energy and health is completed.

If this food does not move on immediately it generates millions of dangerous germs that pollute the blood, attack the kidneys and stomach, and upset the nervous system.

HOW TO GET RELIEF

What can be done to correct this condition and regain buoyant health? Neither harsh purgatives nor strong drugs will help you one bit. Such doses cause false stimulation that gives only temporary relief and leaves you feeling worse than ever.

To get relief and recover health . . . you must purify the system, rid it of poisonous germs just as an effective antiseptic cleanses an open wound.

The very first thing in the morning take a spoonful of Jad Salts in a glass of water and just 30 minutes later you'll feel much better.

SIFTS AWAY INFECTION

Jad Salts is totally unlike anything you've ever taken—vastly different in action and result. It is a scientific blend of ingredients that leading authorities recognize as most effective for relieving food infection.

This blend gently sifts through the body and quickly sweeps away all noxious germs that cause SYS-TEM-IC POISONING. When Jad Salts is taken with plenty of water the sluggish kidneys are stimulated so that they again discharge poisonous food debris.

As the system is thus purified, nerves are calmed, blue mornings vanish, glorious health and energy soon return.

Now beware of food infection. At the first warning sign of SYS-TEM-IC POISONING take a spoonful of Jad Salts in a glass of water as soon as you get up and you'll sit down to breakfast feeling fine. Start each day with this exhilarating, bubbling drink that Jad Salts makes and you'll soon look and feel better than you have in years . . . You'll sleep sounder and greet the morning clear-eyed and clear-headed, keenly alert, vigorous and ready for the day.

SIDEWALKS of PITTSBURGH

By William Pfarr

"Dear Mister Pfarr:

"Well, here I am again. I was telling Bill Doak that I wrote your column again for you the other day. He said, 'Well, somebody should.' That was a dirty crack and I thought you ought to know about it.

William Pfarr

"This time I want to tell you about Max Henrici, who writes the editorials and lives in the country near Sewickley. I was thinking of moving my family out into the country because the neighbors are beginning to say that the Point Breeze sector is no place for an orphan asylum. The ones who bought out there claim that it was supposed to be restricted property, but that my gang spoil the Vanity Fair atmosphere.

"However, I have decided to stay after listening to Max tell the trials and tribulations of trying to keep a portable electric light plant running in the country. He says that it costs him about $25 a month to keep the home lights burning. As soon as he gets all the spark plugs in shape on the lighting outfit the fan belt slips off and the engine runs hot. If it isn't putting new bearings in the engine it's putting a new engine on the bearings.

"Every time he settles down to read something except his own editorials the lights begin to flicker and he has to either put on his overalls or phone for the service man. Just when he gets the fan belt back the spark plugs go bad again. It's just one spark plug after another fan belt. Not to mention the water pumps that he has to keep in shape or else bathe in the creek.

"I had thought that if I moved out to some quiet farm I might get some chance to develop my latest talent for writing. But I guess I must keep on this way, once in a while getting my initials up above Will Rogers' name.

"E. P. O'B."

Dr. Lawrence Robinson, of Jeannette, passed on a dozen years ago, but story tellers still remember the time he sped to nearby Manor on a hurry call. The good doctor liked to drive low, racy autos.

There was excuse for his speeding this day to the bedside of a patient, but as he was hurrying through Penn, Pa., a bulky constable blocked the highway, raised his right hand high and commanded the doctor to stop.

"You're under arrest for speeding," the constable announced officiously.

"What'll it cost? I'm in a hurry What'll it cost?" the doctor asked.

"Well, you'll have to go down to the squire's office and pay a $10 fine."

"Here," the doctor offered, "here's $20; don't bother me on the way back."

With a system all our own, we have figured out that a man who is born into this here, now, world with Moore as a surname has a 10-to-7 chance of being nicknamed, before he is 21, Dinty. We are firmly and flatly convinced there are more Dinty Moores than there are John Joneses or Pat Murphys. The latest Dinty Moore we have met is Dinty Moore, the taxicabber. He has an unusual job. The sign on his cap says he is a supervisor, but that doesn't tell all the story. He is the fight expert for Mr. Laird's taxicabs. He stands alongside the telephone booths in Motor Square Garden each fight night and tries to foretell when the main bout will end in a knockout. If, last Monday night, he had decided that Buck McTiernan was groggy and wouldn't last two more rounds, he would have grabbed a telephone and told his headquarters to shoot over a couple dozen cabs pronto. If the fight ends before Dinty expects it to and the customers depart from the Garden without enough cabs outside, then that makes Dinty not much of a fight expert. He has been the cab company's fight expert for five years. He says he seldom misses a guess.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Cal., Oct. 22.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

See in the papers where Speaker Longworth would have quite a race in the coming election. That's mighty unusual for Nick, and it would just about border on a national calamity if he was defeated. I have talked with a lot of those old time Democratic congressmen that have served with him for years and they all say he is one of the most able and fairest men that has ever been in the House. Why, I think Garner, the Democratic leader, would resign if he didn't have his old pal Nick there. Let the Democrats make a lot of gains but let's keep Nick. He is pretty near one of us.

7 INJURED IN TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS

Ross L. Gammon Badly Hurt In Crash of Car as Coatt Catches Fire in Boulevard

Two men were dead today and seven were injured, one seriously, as results of automobile accidents in the Pittsburgh district.

John Nixon, 18, of 736 Washington street, Heidelberg, died in Mercy Hospital a few hours after an automobile in which he was a passenger plunged into a deep excavation on the Washington Pike near Bridgeville.

John Brown, 26, of 3293 Dawson street, McKeesport, died in McKeesport Hospital of injuries suffered when he was struck by an automobile in McKeesport Monday.

Harry Kraft, 18, of the Hope Hollow road, Scott township, suffered a broken back in the crash which cost Nixon his life. His brother, August, 21, and George Critchlow, 18, of Carnegie, also were injured.

RESTAURANT MAN HURT

Ross L. Gammon, 38, of 207 Magnolia avenue, Mt. Lebanon, owner of a string of restaurants, was seriously burned early today when his coat caught fire while he was driving west on the Bigelow boulevard, near Washington street.

Mr. Gammon

In attempting to beat out the fire Gammon lost control of his car and it crashed into a pole. Fred Gogolin, of 826 Western avenue, a taxicab driver, who passed the scene a few minutes later picked up Gammon and took him to St. Francis Hospital, where it was reported his face and the upper part of his body were burned.

Motorcycle Patrolman Albert Florig, 32, of 519 Collins avenue, was in a serious condition in Homeopathic Hospital as a result of a collision betwen his machine and a truck last night at Center avenue and Schenley Farms terrace. The truck was driven, police said, by Paul McKee, 32, of 343 Prince street.

John Neilein, 49, of 2505 South Eighteenth street extension, suffered contusions of the body when he was struck by an automobile, driven, police said, by Harry Gorski, 28, of 328 Moore avenue, Knoxville, near his home last night.

Gorski's car, after hitting Neilein, struck the victim's automobile, which was parked nearby, injuring Charles Moran, 29, of 400 Moore avenue, a passenger in the Gorski machine, according to police. Moran suffered severe lacerations and was taken to South Side Hospital.

HORSE KILLED, 2 HELD

Two men were under arrest today following a collision of their automobile and a milk wagon at Beechwood boulevard and Penn avenue. A horse was so seriously injured that police had to shoot it.

The prisoners said they were Thomas Frazier, 38, of 613 Collier street, driver of the automobile, and Oscar Wolfbrandt, 21, of 7423 Hermitage street.

Frank J. Jennessey, 42, of 3005 Kennett square, was held today for reckless driving after his car struck and injured John Ochowski, 47, of 34 Sixth street, South Side, last night, at Liberty avenue and Eleventh street. Jennessey took Ochowski to the Allegheny General Hospital.

STUDY BONDS AT BRENTWOOD

Before Brentwood citizens vote on a $250,000 bond issue for the borough's first high school at the coming November election, a mass meeting has been called for next Tuesday. The meeting will be held in the shelter house of Brentwood municipal park. Prominent local speakers will explain the necessity for the new building. The school board passed a resolution for the issue at a recent meeting.

The Rev. S. C. Michelfelder, president of the board, today said:

"The necessity for a high school has been a serious study for a number of years. An architect has been at work on plans for some time. The borough now has two grade schools, the Elroy and the Moore. We have 150 of our children in the high schools of Pittsburgh. The City Board of Education has recently increased the tuition from $125 to $150. It costs the borough taxpayers $22,000 a year to send their children to the city schools.

"We have learned that in 1932 we will have 300 of our children attending the city schools. It will cost the taxpayers more than $45,000 for this service. If the people of the borough, accept the bond issue, the $250,000 can be paid off in 30 years. That amount will cost the taxpayers $16,000 a year for interest and sinking fund. Add $20,000 for maintenance, and it will cost them $36,000 a year. This will be a savings of $9,000 a year."

Herron Blocks Disability Pay for Fireman

Charging the privilige of time off for injuries had been abused by city firemen and police officers, President John S. Herron of City Council yesterday at a Councilmanic committee meeting submitted a motion withholding full payment of injury benefits to a firemen until a report was received from the city physician.

A resolution in favor of William H. McMasters, driver for the Bureau of Fire for $217 per month for six months, because of injuries, was introduced for passage.

At this point Herron interjected:

"The privilege of benefits has been abused in the past. Let us investigate this matter further."

The committee agreed on payment of one month's benefits pending a detailed report on McMasters' condition from Dr. Daniel E. Sable, city physician.

Annie's Connection With Gang Puzzles City

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

"The Edgewater Kid," Polack Annie's man, is murdered, Goldie Gorio's North Side gang, of which the Kid was a member, accuses Kinky King, leader of the West Side gang. Kinky swore to get The Kid for taking Annie from him. Later, Kinky is found murdered, a gold revolver, similar to that possessed by Goldie, beside him. To satisfy the public's demand for action, the police chief arrests Annie. He refuses Goldie's request for her release. In revenge, Goldie's gang throws the theater district into darkness and destroys public property. A committee of prominent citizens calls on the mayor, demanding protection. In jail, Annie is grief-stricken over the Kid. Goldie plans to raid the police station and rescue her. He goes through with the hold-up and gets away with Annie.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XII.

With the burg buzzing over the incredible stick-up of Central Detail, the kidnaping of Polack Annie by Goldie Gorio in person (there was no secret about that) and the suckerizing of a great municipality by a handful of hoodlums, the newspaper boys foregathered in the outer room of the chief. Eight of them, keenly alert, cynical, skeptical, practical, trained and gifted to X-ray the sham, hypocrisy, mendacity of those they handled—they sat around and bandied the subject in hand.

They felt no passion over fundamental right or wrong; to them it was "copy." They weren't indignant, and they weren't eloquent. The "city's shame" might burn the editorial writers, but it only busied the news-hounds. The chief was in. He would see them in a minute.

They didn't play pingpong with wisecracks, like reporters in the movies and the newspaper plays. They looked at their watches.

The chief scarcely looked up as he sat behind his flat desk. He seemed preoccupied with some reports he was penciling. When he lifted his face it was stubbled, saggy and haggard. And under his puffed-up left eye was a purple shiner.

Mifflin, dean of the police reporters, opened up:

"That little party ealy this morning—"

Round-Up

Important Arrest Is Expected by Chief

"Meant the end of gangs, gangsters and gangsterism in this city," blurted the chief. "There's a round-up on and we expect an important arrest in 24 hours. We know who planned and executed this job—"

"And who knocked off the Edgewater Kid—"

"And who settled Kinky King—"

"And who shut off the city lights and broke up the store windows—"

"And where Polack Annie's hiding out—"

"Just a moment, boys," cut in the Chief, with a hurt look. "I thought that at least you didn't talk and think like muggs. We've already got one of the mob."

"What's his name?"

"Ahah—that I can't spill yet."

"Well, he won't talk."

"He'll talk in seven languages. I'll—well, he'll talk this time . . . and then maybe we'll get a conviction. It's an almost helpless, hopeless business, fighting organized gangsters. If we arrest them we can't get men to sit on juries, we can't get witnesses to testify; they've got the highest priced lawyers and they hand a habeas corpus or a writ to free the suspect on bail—and that's all of that pinch. If we beat 'em they beat the rap on grounds of duress and violation of Constitutional rights. Say, those babies have more Constitutional rights than the Anti-Saloon League.

Impatient

Reporters Want Facts From Chief

"The second one of 'em is in trouble, every politician starts pulling and hauling. No judge wants to hear the case, no prosecutor wants to push it. They're tangled into every network of politics, big business and even social stuff . . . but this time, if your papers give us a decent break instead of joining the ignorant readers and kidding and slamming us, we'll take 'em on. The Mayor is back of me a hundred per cent, and—"

"Why don't you run in Goldie Gorio?"

"I didn't say who we're going to arrest."

"You know that was the Gorio mob—and Goldie did it with his own hands. We know a dozen people who recognized him."

"I know what gang it was and who was with it on this rotten trick. We'll clean up every last one of 'em, too, this time."

"Where is he? Where's Annie?"

"Now, I couldn't tell you that——"

"Not even if you knew?"

"Oh, behave . . . I tell you we'll have the bunch very soon. I've talked to the matron and the squadron men—we know, I tell you—"

"The whole world knows," snapped one of the reporters, looking for the twentieth time at his wrist-watch. "But what's being DONE?"

Gold Coin

Drops From Cuff of Chief's Trousers

"Everything—my whole force is out with instructions—every road at the city limits is plugged tight — that outfit couldn't get through in an airplane—and we're closing in on them. Is that good enough?"

"It's old enough."

"There you go again, bleating like a kid. What in hell ELSE can we do?"

"Well, those birds seem to think up new and original ideas—sticking up Central Detail——"

"Yeggs stick up banks, too,

CONTRACTOR COLLUSION CHARGED

Plot to Get High Prices Laid To Electric Men; Graham Elected Superintendent

Pittsburgh's Board of Public Education at its meeting yesterday in the administrative building, Oakland, took the following actions:

1. The appointment of Dr. Ben G. Graham as superintendent of schools, setting the salary at $15,000 a year.

2. Recorded a slashing attack on the Electrical Contractors' Association for "collusion" in an alleged attempt to seek what are termed ridiculously high prices for electrical contracts.

3. Criticized the jurisdictional strikes of labor unions which are tieing up construction of one building and have tied up several others, and ordered copies of the minutes sent to President Hoover and William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor.

4. Received the budget which allows $4,781,785.19 for school construction and announced there would be no school tax raise.

All the reports of the various departments submitted for the approval of the board were passed unanimously, with the exception of the resolution condemning the electrical organization and the trade unions involved. Philip Murray being the lone objector to this.

Other items included in the discussions or reports were the advice that the Obey school, Crafton Heights storm center for a month when students struck, would remain closed; that the building department prepare for letting bids for the Lincoln Place school, in the Thirty-first Ward, after the board approved the architect's plans.

The resolution directed at the Electrical Contractors' Association followed the letting of a bid for electrical work on the Lincoln School, Lincoln and Frankstown avenues. Hale Electric Company got the work with a low bid of $10,621. Only two other contractors, one from Cleveland, had sent in estimates, the highest $14,000.

AARON HITS UNION

In commenting on the fact that 11 city electrical contractors who are members of the association had failed to bid, Marcus Aaron, board president, submitted for approval the resolution condemning their actions. Philip Murray, board member and labor union official, asked that both the electrical contractors and the union representatives have a chance to appear and explain, if they cared to.

President Aaron injected this request into the record and promised to call a special meeting at the convenience of the contractors and unions involved.

GRAHAM APPOINTED

Dr. Graham's appointment was unanimous. He succeeds to the position vacant since the death, July 27, of Dr. William M. Davidson. A native of Western Pennsylvania, having been born in East Moravia, Lawrence County, Dr. Graham became associate superintendent here in 1926. Two years later he was made first associate, and has been acting chief for the last three months.

Graduated from Westminster College, he taught in Lawrence County schools, later becoming head of the New Castle schools. He received his master's degree from the University of Pittsburgh and his honorary doctor of laws from Westminster in 1924.

He was president of the Rotary Club of New Castle, and a member of the United Presbyterian Church.

APPROVED BUDGET

With the budget approved, the 87-page printed record shows a payroll of $11,231,470.98, an increase of more than $355,874 over 1929-30. Although a total of $407,736 increase over the past year was budgeted, additional revenues will furnish the required amount plus $4,781,785.19 without an additional tax being imposed, it was said.

COUNCIL TO ACT IN DUMP FIGHT

Councilmanic action on the Squirrel Hill Board of Trade's resolution demanding that a ban be made against a garbage dump in Forward avenue, will be taken following a public hearing Wednesday, October 29, in the City-County Building.

Announcement of the hearing date was made yesterday by President John S. Herron, of Council, following committee meetings.

Members of the Board of Trade, residents of the district, and businessmen will have an opportunity of being heard by the city fathers at that time, Herron said.

Spokesmen for the board charge that, although Council last week promised a committee of 100 from the Squirrel Hill district there would be no more dumping on the lot, several trucks loaded with garbage from distant points had been dumped there since.

The site of the dump, located near Beechwood boulevard, is owned by John E. Born.

INVITED TO JOIN FETE FOR NEW ROUTE HERE

Lindbergh Visits Pittsburgh Thursday on Inspection Tour of Airway Ports

School children of the Pittsburgh district have been invited by the Chamber of Commerce to participate in the official welcome to the first air travelers over the new Transcontinental and Western Air Line through Pittsburgh to the Pacific Coast.

Invitations went out today to business and civic leaders and all of the public schools in the district.

LINDY COMING HERE

Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, making an inspection tour of the New York-Columbus airway to be used by the Transcontinental and Western Air Line, will be in Pittsburgh tomorrow. He is chairman of the air line's technical committee and will fly one of the company's streamline tri-motored Ford planes.

Col. Lindbergh will arrive at Bettis Field at 11:51 a. m. After a brief stop he will take off again for Columbus, arriving in that city at 1:41. He will retrace the route Friday.

The first ship, carrying Postmaster General Walter S. Brown, his assistant in charge of air mail, Irving S. Clover, and other Washington officials and luminaries of the aviation world, is scheduled to arrive here at 11:51 a. m. Saturday, leaving here 10 minutes later on the first coast-to-coast all air service.

STARTS SATURDAY

The new transcontinental route supplements an air-rail hookup from New York to the Pacific Coast still operated by Transcontinental Air Transport, one of the affiliated concerns with Pittsburgh Aviation Industries Corporation and Western Air Express, in the new venture.

The first plane over the new line leaves New York at 8 a. m., followed by two others carrying company officials, newspaper men and men and women prominent in the aviation industry.

JEWELS STOLEN IN APARTMENT

Thieves who entered the apartment of Mrs. I. M. Phillips, in the Alder Apartments, Emerson and Alder streets, East End, stole jewelry valued at $2,770, according to a report to East End police.

Mrs. Phillips said she left her home Sunday and was away until last night.

The jewelry consisted of a white gold bar pin set with 35 chipped diamonds, and valued at $1,000; a white gold ring set with 12 chipped diamonds, valued at $1,000; another gold ring valued at $750 and a set of pearl earrings valued at $20.

Put on The Spot

don't they? Who could anticipate such a nutty putover as that one? Now that it did come off, we'll go after the guilty parties. I'm on the job. I haven't been to bed or out of these clothes in two days—print that—that's all."

The reporters rose. One of them, sliding off the desk, naively asked:

"Would it be too personal, Chief, to inquire how you got that blinker?"

"Oh, no, that's all right."

"A swinging door?"

"No. You know, of course, that I chased those cars myself—and if I'd had my regular driver, I'd have cut them off. I was working late here in my office when I heard shooting. My driver was taking two hours off—he hadn't slept. So I grabbed the patrolman downstairs and ordered him to take the wheel. He's good—but not experienced enough for that mob. They even shook off the fire department.

"Well, I got close enough to shoot. I was leveling my gun again when something flew up and hit me right here—a pebble or a cinder or something—out of nowhere—thrown up by one of the autos, I s'pose—and that spoiled my shot, because this time I had a bead on an open window and was going to let one of them have it—hot break of luck that was, huh?"

Puzzle
Metropolis Is Mystified About Annie

Polack Annie!

The papers shrieked with her. Her pictures were starred. Who was this red-headed celebrity that a metropolis should be paralyzed, scandalized, booberized over her in a series of the wildest and boldest and wickedest open outbreaks ever pulled off by gangsters?

Violent deeds by the notorious beer-runners and dope-shovers and racketeers were commonplace. But behind them was always a motive—profit. If they killed for revenge, that, too, was for profit; it was the only way they had of maintaining their organizations and personnel and enforcing their gun-made and gun-kept rights to rich territories, to output plants, to transportation and distribution and monopoly.

But this was no reprisal work. If the Gorios were shooting up the Kinky Kings, that would be simple enough—and who would care? The Edgewater Kid had been bumped off, and blood must pay for that. But who was this sweetie of his that such goings-on could be precipitated over her?

She couldn't be rated as a member of the Goldie mob. Such gangs have no female workers. Romantic stories about girls working with gunmen had to do with small stickup groups who robbed delicatessen stores, but not with wealthy and serious money trusts like Gorio's.

Rewards for Annie
Newspapers Make Offers For Her Arrest

If there could be such a thing as a living love-story behind this set of flaming deeds, what could that story be?

She had been Kinky's girl and she had left the West Side general for a North Side private in the Goldie ranks. If that had been why the Kid was slaughtered, well and good—it was unusual, but King's temper and swaggering ego were famous enough to explain such a breach of the code, such a deviation from the policy of conducting intergang diplomacies for gang purposes and not for personal fracases.

Then King had been mysteriously killed, in very ungang-like fashion, in his own home instead of on a lonely road at the end of a ride or on a sidewalk or by a shotgun fusillade sweeping by him outside. Annie might have done that. She would know how to get into his home. Or some one of King's own men might have taken him in a quarrel—very unlikely, but possible.

Anyway, instead of the Gorios and the Kings thereupon starting in to massacre each other, came the undreamt-of raids by Goldie's flock. First because the police had refused to free Polack Annie, and then to free her by force in a manner that had never been known in American history.

What secret did she hold?

Or what was her hold on Gorio—known as a man with an eye for a pretty girl, but better known as a monarch of a huge enterprise which couldn't bear endangering by forcing a city to fight him to death where he had prospered in practical security?

The papers offered large rewards for her recapture.

The offers looked good.

Wherever she was, she was under Goldie Gorio's protection and in his custody. Who would walk into death—sure death as long as one of the mob remained alive—for a few measly thousand newspaper dollars?

The chief was giving these quandaries and a few hundred more some profound study. It was very complicated. So was his situation.

REALTORS OPEN STATE MEET AT READING

Gov. Fisher Wires Greeting; Praise of Licensing Act Heard; Statler to Speak

By M. V. BURGESS,
Sun-Telegraph Real Estate Editor.

READING, Pa., Oct. 22.—The Pennsylvania Real Estate Association opened its tenth annual convention here today at the Abraham Lincoln Hotel. More than 40 Pittsburghers are present.

Gov. John S. Fisher sent a wire to the realtors commending the improved business practices brought about by the real estate license act. He expressed the hope that the convention may be an influence in helping the real estate business and turning the tide toward prosperity.

TALKS ON LICENSES

Robert W. Semenow, of Pittsburgh, director of the license act, addressed the convention on license legislation. He showed that license laws are in operation in 26 states and predicted that every state will soon protect the public with a similar law. He outlined benefits which the real estate profession has received from the license act.

Charles G. Edwards, of New York, talked on the new real estate exchange established there. The exchange represents one of the outstanding efforts on the part of the real estate profession to provide a better market for realty.

FOILED, YOUNG ELOPERS HOME

Anna May Cruise, 15, blue-eyed and blonde Langley High School student, and Bruce Campbell, 19, were back home today, their elopement yesterday frustrated by police of three cities.

The girl's father, J. P. Cruise, of 2944 Zephyr avenue, Sheraden, suspected an elopement when his daughter and Campbell, who resided at their home, disappeared yesterday morning, according to Inspector of Detectives Frank R. Boyd. The girl was said to have confided to some of her school chums that she was going to run away and marry Campbell in Canton, O. The authorities of the Ohio city were asked to apprehend them, but the eloping couple changed their minds and alighted from a bus on the outskirts of Canton, and boarded an automobile bound for Wellsburg, W. Va., it is said.

They had procured a license and were in the home of a minister, Sheriff Irvin W. Charnock said, when he arrived and took them into custody.

The parents of the girl hurried to Wellsburg and returned both to Pittsburgh.

Describes New Rome In Talk on Travel

Romes return to something of its former glory was explained in words and pictures last night at Carnegie Music Hall by E. M. Newman in the second of his series of travel talks.

The new Vatican City was photographed at will by Mr. Newman, showing not only the new features, but many of the treasures in the museum and art galleries and close-up motion pictures of the Pope. Rome's slums are gone and wide avenues lead to newly excavated forums and other reminders of the glorious past.

The Camera Question Box

Today's question: Mr. Rukeyser says—"As a nation, we must prevent hunger and cold to those of our people who are in honest difficulties." Is this a good suggestion?

Mr. Gemmell

H. F. GEMMELL, Bellevue, student, Pitt: Mr. Rukeyser is right, we must help our fellow men when they are in need, due to no fault of their own. I agree with him implicitly.

Mr. Bowen

PETER BOWEN, Oakland student, Pitt: Mr. Rukeyser is right in that such a condition must be taken care of. I am in favor of unemployment insurance as a means of combating this condition.

Mr. Miller

WILLIAM MILLER, Washington, student, Pitt: Yes, we must prevent hunger and cold to those of our people who are in honest difficulties. This is indeed, a good suggestion.

Miss Lewis

MISS LOIS LEWIS, Clairton, student, Pitt: I believe that this is, I believe, a we must cope with. As citizens, we owe it to the part of our nation in distress to help them. We would expect as much if the conditions were reversed.

Miss Pollock

MISS ESTHER POLLOCK, Clairton: I think that the suggestion of Rukeyser is a good one. It seems to me, that the old proverb of doing unto others as we would wish them to do unto us, would be especially true in this case.

Mr. Katz

ISRAEL KATZ Schenley Heights, salesman: Mr. Rukeyser's is, I believe a commendable one. In doing as he says, we would be helping those who are not able to help themselves.

CONTENDS BID, AWARD BOTH LEGAL

Reply Cites Philadelphia Case and Omits Charge Of Poole Co.'s Retort

The $1,000,000 contract for voting machines in Allegheny County awarded the Poole Engineering and Machine Company of Baltimore was a proper and legal award to the lowest and best bidder and the bid was in accord with competitive requirements, according to the answer on behalf of the County Commissioners to the injunction action by Francis S. Guthrie.

The answer, filed late yesterday in Common Pleas Court by County Solicitor M. B. Lesher, is similar to that filed on behalf of the Poole Company, with the addition of a recital of the recent action in Common Pleas Court, Philadelphia, holding that the voting machines supplied that county by the Automatic Voting Machine Company, unsuccessful bidder in Allegheny County, failed to meet the requirements of secrecy.

OMIT POOLE CHARGE

The answer does not include the charge in the Poole company answer that the suit was not in fact a taxpayer's suit, but was filed in the interest of the Automatic Voting Machine Company.

Attorney Oliver K. Eaton, counsel for the Poole company, stated he will ask today in Common Pleas Court that a date be fixed for the final hearing of the suit. The preliminary hearing before Judge James R. Macfarlane was followed by the refusal of a temporary injunction.

RECALLS HELP BY POLICEMAN

A Pittsburgh policeman—"he's Irish, has blue eyes, and a big-brother smile"—has a treat in store for him next week if Laine Blaire finds him. And she says:

"I'm going to find him if I have to inspect the entire force."

Remember Laine Blaire? She is the little ingenue who made her first theatrical success in Pittsburgh. That was three years ago, in musical stock at Duquesne Garden. She recounts:

"The night we opened in Irene, I was late. Had taken too long a nap that afternoon. As I rushed down the street I slipped, and gave my ankle a bad wrench. A cop on the corner ran over to me and picked me up.

"I started to cry, from fear that I wouldn't get to the theater on time. I was afraid I'd be fired.

"I blurted out all this to that big Irish cop, with his blue eyes and big-brother smile. I didn't have money enough for a taxi. He must have guessed it, for he waved to a man in a private car, saying, "Here, Bill, take this little girl to Duquesne Garden."

"'Bil' took me there. I was on time, and made my first big hit, singing 'Alice Blue Gown.'

"The gentleman who drove me didn't know the name of the policeman. I tried to find him, but I didn't. Then our show closed, and I went to New York.

"Now I'm coming back to Pittsburgh next week as one of the principals in the comic operetta, 'The Well of Romance.' I'm going to find that big Irishman, and I want him and his family to be my guests when I play at the Nixon."

AID FAMILY AS 2D BABY DIES

The second twin of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Spoorer, whose poverty was uncovered by county detectives yesterday when they investigated the burying in the yard of his farmhouse in Warrendale of another twin, will be buried through the beneficence of friends and the Holy Name Catholic Church.

June 24 twins came to the Spoorer home. One, born dead, was buried near the farm house by the father, who told county detectives he had no money to bury the infant. Without food or fuel and with scarcely enough clothing to cover them, the plight of the family of 11 was discovered when the detectives went to the little home.

The second twin died yesterday in the Allegheny General Hospital. Spoorer said he was unable to raise anything on the farm, because he was without money or tools.

Man Hit by Truck Seriously Injured

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Dinner-Dance For Bud on Dec. 26

Last year October was crowded with entertainments for the debutante set, don't you remember? This year the bud season will not really begin until early November.

The first girl to make her bow to society this fall will be Virginia Drake, daughter of the J. Frank Drakes, of Pembroke place, who will be presented, as I mentioned some time ago, on November 5 at a tea in the family home.

On December 26 the Drakes will give a dinner-dance for their daughter in the Pittsburgh Golf Club.

The final days of October will bring at least one debutante affair, though the bud season will not really be well started until November, to repeat. On Tuesday Mrs. George Bissell will give a luncheon in her home in honor of Frances Kier, debutante daughter of the Frank J. Kiers, who'll make her bow on November 7.

One of the benefits that is always looked forward to with interest is the annual Christmas

I know of several of the committees, too. Mrs. William B. Trainer and Mrs. George Clayton are in charge of the home cooking department. The painted work, including boxes, tables and cabinets, is under the supervision of Mrs. John Penney.

The fancy work, which includes children's clothes, blankets, needlework of all kinds and lamps, is in charge of Mrs. W. L. Jones, Jr., Mrs. William Penn Snyder, Jr., and Mrs. Carroll P. Davis. Mrs. Ambrose Nevin Diehl is in charge of a "movie" for the children.

Foster Fund Drive May Be Opened

An intensive drive in behalf of the Foster Memorial may be expected from the Tuesday Musical Club, for one of the members has offered $10,000 if the club will raise an equal amount, Mrs. Arthur B. Siviter, the president, announced yesterday.

The club's president's day yesterday was quite the largest of the season to date. But for that matter, no Tuesday musical affair is ever small; that could scarcely be expected with such a membership.

Mrs. Siviter, now in her second year as president, stood at the head of the long receiving line that included the other officers. She wore a gown of black chiffon and a black velvet hat, with a shoulder bouquet of orchids. Next to her was Mrs. T. C. Donovan, president of the Pennsylvania Federation of Music Clubs and a past president of Tuesday Musical, wearing green-gray chiffon.

The stage was elaborately decorated with palms, ferns and fall flowers, chiefly chrysanthemums, and the same flowers of a smaller variety, with lighted tapers, carried out a color scheme of golds and bronzes on the two big tea tables.

At the tables were Miss Julia Morgan Harding, Mrs. Joseph W. Marsh, Mrs. H. Talbot Peterson, Miss Elizabeth Davison, Mrs. Edward B. Lee, Mrs. Donovan and Mrs. W. C. Dierks, all past presidents, and Mrs. James Stephen Martin.

Of the program Mr. Lissfelt has written elsewhere in these columns.

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Oct. 22.—Those who hurried to complete their new wardrobe must be green with envy of the woman who waited long enough to order a dark green evening frock. For dark green has become one of the latest shades of evening to be favored by the very smartest women here and in consequence the best houses have included dark green evening frocks in their current collections as well as creating them on receipt of individual orders. The use of dark green and dark brown for evening is one of the most startling innovations this season, as these hues used to be considered taboo for anything but severe day wear. But here we are with frocks of dark brown lace or tulle and dark green georgette or chiffon, none the worse for our sartorial adventure. You will notice that these dark hues are of course used mostly for frocks of sheer or semi-sheer fabrics, otherwise the effect would be too dull and severe.

THE FUR CONTINUES to fly onto our new frocks, as more and more houses offer frocks with discreet trimmings of fur. When this is used all effort is made to prevent any effect of the heaviness and opulence that is invariably associated with fur trimmed frocks. If you are dubious about the appeal of a fur trimmed frock, may we refer you to the Alex model shown here. It is of black chiffon velvet trimmed with ermine. The surplice blouse is softly bloused at the natural waistline and drawn up at the side beneath a knot of fur. Set-in shirred godets are found at intervals all around the skirt. The short double-flounced sleeves stop at the elbow but as compensation have a snowy band of ermine.

Leading Hospitals throughout America

KOTEX

WHY do you suppose our outstanding hospitals, staffed by world-famous surgeons, make it a point to specify Kotex? There's more than one reason!

In the first place, it is hygienically safe. In the second place, it is amazingly absorbent—and that is vital for all surgical purposes. Actually—think of this—Kotex is five times as absorbent as the finest surgical cotton! The material of which it is made (Cellucotton—not cotton—absorbent wadding) is laid layer upon air-cooled layer. And each one of these delicate layers is a quick, complete absorbent in itself.

Because it is so absorbent and because it absorbs scientifically (not just in one concentrated area but all over) Kotex naturally stays soft. It is guaranteed to stay soft longer than any other sanitary pad.

13,000,000 pads to hospitals alone

To give you an idea of the great weight of hospital approval in back of this first of all sanitary pads, the hospitals of America bought 13,000,000 Kotex pads during the first nine months of this year. Then added to this number, they bought 2,500,000 pounds of Kotex absorbent—which is enough to make 80,000,000 more pads. Hospitals need the best. So do you. Safety, security, good health demand it. Why should you be content with anything else when you can buy Kotex everywhere—at all drug, dry goods and department stores?

You ask for it by name. Simply specify: Kotex.

KOTEX IS SOFT . . .

1—Not a deceptive softness, that soon packs into chafing hardness. But a delicate, lasting softness.

2—Kotex filler is far lighter and cooler than cotton, yet absorbs 5 times as much.

3—Deodorizes, safely, thoroughly, by a special process.

4—Disposable, instantly, completely.

Regular Kotex—45c for 12
Kotex Super-Size—65c for 12

First Impressions

today business demands healthy men and women—and more than ever it is the survival of the fittest . . .

POOR health is a distinct drawback to progress in business or social life. Underweight, lack of appetite, sluggishness, a dull mentality, nervousness and even skin disorders—boils and pimples—show their mark on the body, face and mind when the red-cells are deficient in number. (See enlarged blood picture above.) Moreover a low red-blood-cell condition makes the system an easy prey to disease. When your red-blood-cells are only 80% you are NOT yourself—60% is dangerous.

The way to correct this condition is to take S.S.S.—the tonic that will help Nature build up and enrich your blood. ## Cathie Is Found Guilty of First Degree Murder

CHAPTER LI.

A photographer took a flash of Cathie, while she sat, silent and waiting, on the witness stand. Then two others focussed their cameras. She never flinched. But Ma screamed in a little, frightened voice, "Mercy!" when the flash-powder exploded.

From her height on the witness stand Cathie looked down compassionately on Ma. She thought: "It is going to be hard on her, when they say I'm guilty."

Mr. Allan was asking questions now. He was trying desperately to get her wandering attention to force her to tell her story dramatically and well. Cathie knew that. She felt a little sorry for Mr. Allan. It was going to be hard on him, too, losing the case.

Nice that they had decided Gordon better not appear in court today. . . . It would have hurt him so to see her on the stand, and he'd have to be hurt enough later. . . . Nice he could save himself for that. . . . You can only stand so much. . . . That was what was the matter with her. She'd stood all she could. She couldn't stand any more. That was why she was failing poor Mr. Allan now. She ought to try to make her story sound more plausible, but it was too old, she had told it too many times. It no longer sounded real, even to herself.

"And why did you go to your husband's room, after you had decided that the shot was only a tire blowing out, after you had gone to bed, and tried to sleep?" he was asking.

The answer to that one was that she was worried about her husband—it would show her a dutiful wife. She opened her mouth to begin the little, prepared speech . . . but what was the use? Besides it wasn't quite true. . . .

She said, "Because I was frightened."

"You were frightened for your husband's health?"

Identifies Negligee

Mr. Allan was prompting her, but she couldn't help it. "No, I was frightened—of the dark—of the house, everything!"

That made quite a little sensation. People looking at her. Fancy, a grown woman being frightened of the dark. Well, let them look, they'd already thought worse of her than that. . . .

She told again of going into the room in the moonlight, and finding her husband dead. She thought while she was telling it, "This sounds like a lie, but it's the truth. Chester's lie sounded more convincing than my truth. It's all very mixed up . . . one shouldn't blame the judge, and the jury. . . .

After the district attorney began flinging questions she did not have time to think. She flung her answers back, fast; excited by his fast questions. They didn't always fit, and they sounded futile and foolish, even to her. Well, she didn't care now . . . she'd given up . . .

Only once did the district attorney make her care. . . . That was when he showed her the blood stained nightdress and negligee that she had taken off in Marguerite's room, and Marguerite had hidden away.

"These garments are stained with your husband's blood?"

"Yes—"

"They are your garments, you identify them as your own?"

"Yes—they are mine. I've already explained why I took them off!" But she shrank back . . . she didn't want to look at them . . . and one woman in the jury nudged her neighbors. . . . "You see?"

"Yours! You do not deny them. You do not deny that they are stained with your husband's blood?"

Cathie Weak

"No, that's true, only I—"

"That will be all, thank you."

Somebody helped Cathie from the witness stand. "I'm all right," she said. She wasn't the least bit nervous. Her knees wouldn't hold her up, that was all. They bent. If Mr. Allan and the policewoman hadn't held her up she would have gone down.

"Isn't it queer," she told the policewoman, whose name was Mrs. Brophy, and looked like Lillian Hennessy, only older and not quite so . . . so soft. . . . "I never had rheumatism before. It must be damp in jail."

The woman smiled. "Nonsense, my dear. "It's just nerves."

"I'm not the least bit nervous," Cathie repeated indignantly. She said to her mother, "It IS rheumatism!"

"Hush, darlin'. You're all wrought up. Don't worry, darlin' . . . hush . . . the judge. . . ."

Cathie looked up. The closing arguments were over. Mr. Allan had said his last word for her. The judge was giving instructions to the jury. Cathie leaned forward . . . she wanted to hear what he said. But she saw Mr. Allan's back . . . his very eloquent back . . . and she forgot to hear what the judge was saying.

When the jury had filed out, and the judge had left the room, and most of the spectators, too, Cathie wanted to talk to Mr. Allan. She reached over and touched him.

"I'm sorry," she said gently. "I know I was a disappointment to you."

He didn't seem angry with her. He reached down and took her cold hands in his. "You've been very brave," he said. "And now you must be brave just a little while longer."

"I'm glad it's over," Cathie said. "It's been so long . . . so long."

"Will the jury be very long?" Ma asked.

Mr. Allan didn't know. "It might be a hung jury. I rather expect that," he said compassionately.

"And have all this over?"

"Well, we must be prepared for anything."

Cathie looked at him sharply. "He WANTS it to be a hung jury," she thought, intuitively. . . . "Oh, why does he? I COULDN'T go through it again—"

Recess for Lunch

They sat . . . hours, or minutes, Cathie didn't know. She was thinking about Mr. Allan, still. It was too bad to disappoint him the way she had. He had counted on her to make a great impression . . . to sway the jury. . . . She hadn't.

The tears welled in her eyes. She shook them away impatiently. Of all the sillies, crying because Mr. Allan was disappointed! After all it didn't matter much to him, he'd be paid anyway. . . . It was her fate that hung in the balance. . . . Her neck. . . her neck. . . .

She began to laugh hysterically. To think about Mr. Allan's case, when soon she'd be meeting God, and Ma and Gordon would have to suffer.

"Shh!" The policewoman quieted her sternly. "The jury are going to take a recess for lunch."

"They won't decide until after lunch?"

"No. You can come with me and have lunch, too."

"They won't decide whether to hang me or not until after lunch . . . and I can come and have some lunch, too! . . . ooh, it's so funny . . . so funny . . . I can't help but laugh!"

They led her out of the almost deserted courtroom. Catherine Farnsworth, who used to be Catherine Paige, laughing and crying, on her way to lunch.

The jury were coming back. Word had flashed into the courtroom. It was mysteriously filled again. People were sitting up straight, expectant looks on their faces. Blue-coated policemen were at the doors pushing people out trying to have everything decent and quiet, when the judge came in.

Found Guilty

Ma had resumed her prideful stare. Chin up, hat slithering back, showing all these people how sure she was. . . .

Ma whispering, "Cathie, be brave, darlin'. Listen, darlin,' hold on to yourself just a little longer. We'll soon be out of here, and putting it all behind us forever . . . shh . . . he . . . he's speaking!"

The foreman of the jury. It was the man with the spots on his coat. Now why ever did they make him the foreman, when he was so sloppy lookin? Shh! Listen to him. . . . He's nervous, too . . . his voice shakes . . . listen to what he's going to say. . . . Oh, my God he's said it . . . he's said it. . . .

GUILTY OF MURDER IN THE FIRST DEGREE!

Guilty . . . of course . . . It was what she expected, what she had said along they'd do . . . Guilty. . . . She, Catherine Paige . . . but no, no . . . it couldn't be like that. They'd find their mistake. The judge would tell them . . . Somebody'd tell them . . . Cathie opened her mouth to say something . . . somebody'd have to tell them. You can't sit and let them say you're guilty when you're not, just because somebody has lied, and people are stupid! They're carrying it too far . . . Why, they'd hang her . . . hang her . . . what was that? Oh, yes . . . by the neck until dead, that's what they'd do, and then it would be too late to do anything about it . . . Oh, they couldn't mean that . . . Guilty!

The place was in commotion. People fighting each other to get out . . . buzz, buzz. . . . Guilty! Guilty! Oh, why didn't somebody send for Gordon? He'd help . . . he'd know what to do

A soft thud.

It was Ma. Crumpling up. Going down, down, down . . . striking her head, and everyone standing by letting her do it . . .

Cathie flung up her arms. "Stop!" she cried, to the judge who was saying something. "Stop! It's my mother . . . oh, don't you care? Won't someone help me?"

Perpetual kickers are pests. But there is one thing to admire in them. They get busy quick.

They roar their condemnation. They hastily take their pens in hands. They rush to managers with their complaints.

A little more of this kicker action in those who have no kick to make would help willing workers to a reward.

How many people, pleased with the courteous attention of a saleslady, a grocery clerk, a bus conductor, a train porter, a bright office boy, a milk man, a hotel attendant, a telephone operator, the neighborhood police officer, the postman, and the fireman, or careful taxi-driver, even ask their names or see that a word in their praise reaches those who will see that good work is rewarded?

Story of Mary and Noel Is Reviewed

I am so used to Harry Underwood's jibing that his command to "trot out my great thoughts and send 'em around the track," did not annoy me as it once would have done. I was gleefully conscious that he was regarding me furtively from beneath his half-closed eyes, and was vaguely disappointed that I had not crimsoned at his badinage. He and Dicky have always taken especial delight in my propensity to flush when embarrassed. But this time he had no cause for gloating. I made my voice as mechanical as if I were reading a column of figures, and I looked directly at him as I spoke with no hint of confusion.

"We already know that he is determined to stop at nothing to break up the romance between his son and Mary," I said. "You remember I told you of the letter which he sent to the girl?"

I stopped at the inquiry, and Mr. Underwood nodded vigorously.

"Some document, that," he said. "As I remember it, the old bird offered Mary one hundred grand and restoration to her place as Veritzen protege and prospective greatest star if she'd can Noel in a way that would settle things for all time, and on the other hand he threatened her with the Lord knows what if she stuck to the boy."

"He repeated all of that in his letter to Noel," I said soberly, "and added something else, something which the boy will not reveal as yet, but which has terrified him almost into hysteria. He told me this just before I left on this journey. Whatever the threat it has so obsessed him that I promised him no one should speak to his father concerning it, until Noel, himself, had first been consulted."

"That's all right," Mr. Underwood struck in. "But nobody promised to keep quiet about a detective cluttering up the landscape."

"Who's interrupting now, Harry?" his wife reminded him.

"But she's not on the main track," he said rebelliously. "She's switched to a siding. However, 'sorry, sorry!' Go on, Madge."

"It can be said in very few words," I answered, smiling. "If he is as persistent and unscrupulous as the letters indicate, it isn't hard to believe him capable of hiring private detectives to trail Mary's every movement, hoping to find her in some discreditable action."

"Or one that could be twisted into appearing off color," Lillian said vindictively after a pause which they understood put a final period to my theory.

"Exactly," I commented. "But how was he able to trail us so accurately?"

"That's an easy one, for anyone so resourceful—and so lined with coin as old Phil Veritzen. There are probably a half dozen people near the farm who are reporting to him regularly. Suppose a garageman tipped him off that we had had the car serviced for a long trip. The trailing then would be easy."

"I don't mean at first," I said. "You threw him off, remember."

"Yes, and he probably got directly in touch with old Phil, who promptly pulled wires. One hundred to one when we get home they'll tell us of the man from my office or Lil's who wanted to know where we could be reached by telephone for a message of the utmost importance. We made no secret of our destination. Even so cagey a soul as Katherine would feel justified in giving out our address for the night."

"Yes, I told her we might stay at Hasbrouck's," I said excitedly.

Mr. Underwood nodded sagely.

"Here's something I haven't had a chance to tell you," he said. "I had a telephone from Hasbrouck since you left the place. It seems his boy Ed forgot to tell the old man that the fellow in the black roadster stopped two or three times on the way down and telephoned long distance. Ed didn't think it was important at first, then got a second thought and 'phoned his father about it. The old man called his son a lot of picturesque names I know myself, and some magnificent ones that I never heard, but which I've jotted down for future use. That, of course, spells the answer to the query as to how Veritzen and his henchman were able to connect so easily."

"It all fits in," Lillian commented. "But, of course, we know that anything Phil undertook would click. The only question now is what's to be done."

"The first thing is to get you all back to the farm," Mr. Underwood said decisively, but both Lillian and I interposed prompt objections.

"I must meet Marion and her guests, and I must also see Helena Brixton before I go out," she said, and I rejoiced at this indication that she was able to put the tragedy of Robert Savarin behind her, and take up her normal activities again.

"And I have Mother Graham's Christmas shopping to do, besides other things," I added firmly. "So it is unthinkable that Mr. Veritzen should be permitted to spoil our plans."

Mr. Underwood looked at me quizzically, then turned to Lillian.

"Fifty to one the Lady Fair has something up her sleeve," he said.

The Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND

Never Say Die.

Don't encourage your husband or wife to commit suicide.

It is not being done in New York any more, because a judge has announced that it is against the law.

Of course, there are tense moments, after a man tells his wife that her muffins will kill him, when she feels like passing him the whole plate and saying, "Take another. Take two."

And there are bitter pauses, after a Sunday morning quarrel, in which his wife has threatened to "end it all," when a man would cheerfully run upstairs and get her the carbolic acid.

Many a little woman would lay the carving-knife out handy for the cold-hearted "brute" who declares that if she doesn't cut out nagging him for a new hat, he'll cut her throat.

And many an otherwise tender-hearted husband has felt like opening the door of the car, and letting his wife jump out, after an afternoon of unremitting back-seat driving.

After all, the person who threatens to commit suicide, so seldom lives up to his promises.

When a husband bangs out of the door in the morning with the threat never to return, it is almost as much of a shock as a relief, to the wife who has been crying all day, to have him come in cheerfully whistling, instead of on a stretcher.

And, when a wife rushes tragically out of the house, with the vow that she can't stand life another minute, it's a blow to the husband who grabs his hat and runs frantically after her, to find her buying a new compact at the corner drug store.

Just at first, these suicide threats are startling; but after the sixth or seventh or twenty-first, you begin to wonder why the threatener doesn't end the suspense, one way or another.

The truth is that people who seriously intend to commit suicide, seldom talk about it. And people who are forever talking about it, almost never do it. They are just dallying with the idea, and enjoying the dramatic effect. It is one way of feeling awfully sorry for yourself—and, incidentally, getting the family all worked up.

Some emotional women decide to "commit suicide" every few weeks—but always put it off until after the next bridge party or the next permanent wave. Thus, they manage to outlive their harassed husbands, and to look charmingly grief-stricken in a lot of becoming mourning, bought with the insurance money.

* * *

The best way to cure a would-be suicide is to yawn gently behind your hand. No women is going to commit suicide, if she thinks it will make her husband HAPPY.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Thursday, October 23

A very propitious planetary configuration in dominant position on this day should assist to easy movement towards high goals of ambition and enterprise. New plans and contracts, financial or speculative schemes and also straight investments should thrive, especially if the assistance of those in places of position and power be sought for furthering these projects. However, a note of warning may be sounded against intrigue or underhanded methods in making these agreements.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a fruitful year, with success in important ventures, speculation, investments and new projects with increase of finances and decisive approach to the goal of ambitions. Persons of position and authority may assist. Nevertheless, there must be a word of warning against the possibility of duplicity, intrigue or subtle misunderstanding.

A child born on this day may be capable in many directions, ambitious and well liked and should attain to an advanced position in life through its own efforts, despite the menace of secret enmities and conspiracies.

TELL IT TO SALLY

By SALLY MARTIN

Husbands Who Shelve the Wife for a Younger Woman Are Very Often Left Holding the Bag

He wanted to go to the Other Woman . . . so his wife let him.

Did youth renew itself with this younger woman, who "understood" him better than his faded wife?

Did the zest for living, that they'd lost in the drudging, monotonous years, come back again?

Did he find that song and laughter and teasing delight of which he had dreamed?

Listen—while he tells you.

"Dear Sally Martin:

"Will you let a man who has had his eye teeth cut, and then some, say a few words to these fool husbands who think they are neglected and not appreciated by their wives and families, and so go running off after some new charmer? And also to those foolish girls who think that another woman's husband is the only One for them?

"I was one of those darned boobs myself once. That's why I'm writing this letter.

"I had a good wife. For 15 years she had put up with me, and struggled and economized and worked to keep our three children neat and clean and healthy. She hadn't complained. She had just gone ahead and done what there was to do . . . with the little I had for her to do on.

"Gradually, as I began to really succeed, things weren't so hard for her. But with all that she had on her hands, she forgot to be as much of a pal and sweetheart as I thought I needed. I got the notion that I was a badly abused and neglected man. Things seemed to grow duller and duller. And I wasn't getting any younger. And the thing began to get my goat.

"So when I met Alicia, who was only 24, and who seemed tremendously impressed with me, and told me over and over again that I was the handsomest man she had ever seen, why I fell for her . . . hard.

"I don't know whether you'll understand the way I felt or not, but it seemed that her admiration and her need of me knocked 20 years off of my age. I felt like a boy again. And I was far sillier, I know now, than any boy having his first calf-love affair. I believed every word she said. I thought she was the most wonderful girl in the world.

"So I began paying her attention. And first thing I knew, I thought I just had to be free to marry her. So the upshot of it was that Mary gave me a divorce. I settled half of everything I had made on her and the children. And I married Alicia.

"Things went fine for a while. Except that in spite of my deep love for my new wife, I missed the old habits and the old friends of other days. We had a fine new home. We went out a good deal. And we entertained. Mostly Alicia's friends. The old gang I knew didn't interest her. And I thought that I was happy. That I had found a fresh, new life.

"And then I got it! Good and plenty!

"I got sick and couldn't look after my business. The sickness cost me a lot and the business went to pieces pretty badly. So we had very little money. And then I found out that Alicia didn't really care for me at all. She quarreled with me because money was scarce—and because she said I was too old for her.

"And then I found out that she was sneaking out on me to meet other, younger men, just as I had sneaked out on Mary to meet her! Alicia, who had said she loved me more than all the world, and would surely die if she had to give me up! And then she left me flat.

"So now here I am, left to shift for myself. Mary is married again to a man who I hope will treat her better than I did. The children have no use for me because of the way I treated their mother. I am still sick, and my business is going down hill because I haven't the strength to look out for it. So here I am. No home. No one to care about me. My life wrecked. And all my own fault, for being such a fool.

"I would give more to see a frown on Mary's face, if I could have her with me once more, than I would for all the smiles on all the girls in the world, and my advice to any man who wants to take up with some flip flatterer and ditch his wife, is to go soak his head till he gets some sense. And to girls I say, 'Let married men alone!' Set your minds on some decent young fellow, and don't rob some other woman of her husband. If this robbing business gets to be too much of a habit, you may be a victim of it, too, some day. So watch your step and play square, all of you!'

"Take the advice of one who made a fool of himself, and watch your step when you feel abused, brother! It'll pay you!

"GROVER."

There it is. All of it. A terrible story, isn't it? And a true one, in scores of cases. But was Grover altogether to blame? He was foolish and gullible, yes. But wasn't Mary, too, at fault? Didn't she owe him something, as well as her children? Her house?

Is such a story brewing in your home, sister . . . brother? If it is, what are you doing about it?

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

You Can't Buy Spare Parts for Your Feet

We are living in the age of machinery, and in every home mechanical devices are in common use. Every hamlet can supply extra parts to replace damaged or broken ones for your machine.

DR COPELAND

Unless you are in an accident that takes you to a police station, or the hospital, an automobile collision does not amount to much. A repair shop will restore everything to working order.

Your feet are the main parts in the machinery for the locomotion of your precious body. They are essential to your happiness and welfare. There may be artificial substitutes, but in the real sense there are no spare parts for this mechanism for locomotion.

Except when they hurt and ruin the pleasure of living, how often do you think about your feet? You spend a hundred dollars a year to keep your hands looking well, but what do you do for your feet?

Many a person has made a wreck of himself by permitting sore feet to spoil his health and happiness. Nerves are put on edge and health undermined by steady pain, no matter where it is located. Take care of your feet.

Parents should see to it that their children are properly supervised when they begin to walk. It is essential that proper foot gear may be provided from earliest life. It is a good thing for grown children, as well as for adults to have their feet examined at least once each year.

These examinations should be made by orthopedists, podiatrists or trained chiropodists. They are as important as examination to safeguard the sight, the hearing and the organs of the body. This is the teaching of all those who believe that prevention is better than cure.

Surveys made by the staff of the Foot Clinics of New York and given publicity through the United States Public Health Service, show that 60 per cent of adolescent girls are more or less foot defective. It should be our aim to prevent troubles of this kind, and to correct them when they do exist. Then there will be fewer foot cripples. As a result, our citizens will carry themselves better. They will have normal posture, thus helping the race practically as well as to better its appearance.

I marvel more and more that people buy whatever is offered in the way of shoes. They select their furniture, table linen and evening garments with the greatest of care. But when it comes to shoes they are sadly indifferent.

If you prize your comfort and efficiency you will not neglect your feet. You will take care of them and clothe them only in the best fitting of shoes.

TO DETERMINE RANKING OF PITT STAR

ONE OF THE side angles to the big Pitt-Notre Dame football battle at The Stadium next Saturday will be a test showing just how high a ranking Captain Eddie Baker, of the Panthers, may be expected to win among the season's leading quarterbacks. While this game is in progress, Baker will be engaged in a duel of wits and playing ability with one of the country's best in the person of Frank Carideo, and there will be a better chance for conclusive comparisons than any has been offered by any other Pitt contest up to date.

Eddie Baker

Baker, who is also a crack basketball and baseball player, has come with a rush in football this season. He was a center in his sophomore year, but was not a brilliant success at that position. Last year he started the season as substitute quarterback, and showed so much class that he quickly beat out Charley Edwards, a two-year regular. This fall, in addition to carrying on with the numerous other details of his important job, Eddie assumed the kicking duties, and from the start he has displayed a rare versatility that has surprised even his coaches.

IN THE OPENING game against Waynesburg, Baker scored a touchdown on a wide end run, the first touchdown he ever made as a college player. In the third game against Western Reserve he made three more, running back the first kick-off 97 yards and taking the ball over on two other occassions on passes. He does all the kicking—kicks off, punts and makes the goal tries from placement after touchdowns. He is a star blocker, an excellent field general, and on the defense a dependable safety man.

Eddie also passes well and takes his turn at receiving. He has taken part in 12 completed passes, good for a total gain of 175 yards. In the past, Pitt quarterbacks seldom ran with the ball, being used mainly at blocking. In this and several other respects, the Nanticoke boy is an exceptional quarterback, the best the Panthers have had in a number of seasons. It will be interesting to observe how he shapes up in his hardest test on Saturday in comparison with an opponent who is admittedly among the country's leaders at the position.

ONE OTHER PROSPECT that Pitt has for National honors this year is Ralph Daugherty, at center. This Freeport lad and Baker have been the stars of the Panther games to date, and, on brains fight and individual skill, will continue to be.

Ralph Daugherty

These two form the whole keystone of a team that apparently has no other outstanding man with the possible exception of Jim MacMurdo, who has the talent to go far if his injuries do not hamper him from now on. Individually, Pitt's players are outshone by Carnegie's this year in the majority of cases, but whether the Panthers are inferior to the Tartans as a team remains to be seen.

BOWING TO THE inevitable march of industrial progress, old Exposition Park, on the North Side is at last completely obliterated as a scene of sports, as which it was for many years one of the most famous spots in the country. It was first used in baseball as the home field of the Pittsburgh club in the American Association in 1882 and 1883, next by the local team of the Players League in 1890, and then by the Pittsburgh National League club from 1891 until the Pirates on June 30, 1909, moved to their present grounds at Forbes Field. In the meantime football, too, was played there by D. C. & A. C. and other professional teams and also by W. U. P. (now Pitt) until the conclusion of the season of 1908.*

AFTER THE SHORT-LIVED United States League and the more formidable Federal League gave up the ghost in baseball, the Feds fading out with the season of 1915, the old North Side Park was used at intervals for semi-professional baseball and football games.

Now, the old stands all torn down and the hallowed ground of the days of Macks, Teners, Galvins, Morrisses, Wagners, Clarkes, Leaches, and Ritcheys covered to the level of the newly-widened West Robinson street, not a vestige of the famous park stands to remind the casual visitor of past diamond glories.

CUTTING THROUGH THE lot, directly back of where Wagner electrified the fans of another day with his spectacular play at short-stop, the giant freight-handling plant of Universal Carloading and Distributing Company is near completion, to be opened November 3. Other buildings planned for the North Side freight center will wipe out all trace of the old Expo grounds.

Knute Rockne

In the new era, however, one who played a part, though a small one, in the good old days will still be an actor on the scene, for the manager of the Universal warehouse is Jack Maginn, of the North Side, who as a boy functioned as a pop seller there when a .300 hitter was something to get excited about and when two-baggers were not home runs.

WHETHER KNUTE ROCKNE was trying to throw the Tartans off their guard or aiming to arouse his own players when he left the Notre Dame practice last Wednesday in seeming despair and predicted Carnegie Tech would beat the Irish by from three to eight touchdowns. But the incident recalls a story told of him several years ago. True or not, it's a good story and typical of Rockne. Northwestern was giving the Irish a great battle for one half the kicking and defensive play of Moon Baker had Notre Dame stopped. Between halves, Rockne is said to have walked out on his team and taken a seat in the stands, as if too disgusted to wish to have anything more to do with his players. Hunk Anderson and Cap Edwards attended to the tongue lashing. But it was Rockne's walkout that stirred the Irish. They charged back on the field in a fury and in no time had two touchdowns. Then Rockne came back to his seat on the bench.*

TO THE INSIDERS, the heroes of Pitt's victory in Syracuse last Saturday were Ted Dailey and Jess Quatse. Young Dailey, playing on because both Jim MacMurdo and Eddie Hirshberg were crippled, covered himself with glory, and it may happen that game will make him.

Quatse, with Daugherty, was the star of a line that had to, and did, fight its collective head off all through the game. The Panthers were outmatched, physically, but staved off the Orange rushes on scrap and good coaching.

A LARGE NUMBER of Pittsburgh fans will go to Lincoln to see the Pitt-Nebraska game on November 1, making the trip on the Pitt Boosters' special train, which is scheduled to leave this city at 10:30

INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE TEAM OFFERED CITY

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 22.—(AP.)—The International Hockey League will be predominately American in complexion when the teams start the 1930-31 season.

At the league's annual meeting yesterday, authority was granted for the transfer of the Niagara Falls, Ont., team to Pittsburgh and the Hamilton, Ont., team to Syracuse, N. Y. Th. Toronto Millionaires will be disbanded for the season, leaving seven teams in the circuit. Of these, five will be in the United States; at Cleveland, Buffalo, Detroit, Pittsburgh and Syracuse. The two Canadian representatives will be London and Windsor.

MILLIONAIRES OUT

F. G. (Teddy) Oke, owner of the Niagara Falls and Toronto franchises, decided not to operate the Millionaires this winter after he learned he could not obtain permission of Arena Gardens to play his home games at the downtown home of the Toronto Maple Leafs, of the National Hockey League. The Millionaires suffered big financial losses last season when they played to slim crowds at the Ravina Rink in the Northwest part of the city. Oke would not risk another season at that rink, remote from the downtown section.

Oke will retain the territorial rights of his Toronto franchise, which will remain in suspension this season. He will send his Toronto and Niagara Falls players to Pittsburgh, which has transferred its National Hockey League franchise to Philadelphia.

MEETING FRIDAY

Officials of the Niagara Falls Club, of the International Hockey League, will meet with local ice leaders Friday afternoon in the offices of Attorney James F. Callahan, president of the Pittsburgh Hockey Club when the National League franchise was operated here, to discuss the advisability of bringing the Niagara Falls franchise and team here this season.

Callahan today said that the announcement that Pittsburgh was to be represented in the International League was premature, and that no definite announcement would be avaflable until after the confab Friday.

In addition to the Niagara Falls club officials and Callahan, Horace and Ed Townsend, representing Duquesne Garden, and Roy D. Schooley, Pittsburgh hockey pioneer, will attend the meeting. Schooley, it was intimated, will take an active interest in local hockey again in the event that Pittsburgh is assured a strong club. With players of both the Toronto and Niagara Falls clubs to choose from, it is only reasonable to suppose that the Pittsburgh team will be of championship caliber, and that Schooley will be in harness again.

Knute Rockne's Son Leads Midget Team

LAWRENCE, Oct. 22.—(AP.)—While Knute Rockne is sending the Notre Dame eleven against Pitt next Saturday in Pittsburgh, Knute Rockne, Jr., will be captaining the Pembroke Midgets in a game at the University of Kansas Stadium.

Pembroke, a Kansas City, preparatory school, will play the South Side Midgets, another Kansas City boy team, where the age limit is 13 and the maximum weight allowed is 105 pounds.

The youngsters will hold the gridiron before the start of the Kansas-Iowa State game and between halves of the Big Six Conference tussle.

'Pitt Can't Hope For Victory,' Sutherland

Dr. John Bain Sutherland, Pitt's head football coach, does not expect his team to win over Notre Dame in the sellout game at the Stadium Saturday. He has authorized the following statement:

"Our team can't be expected to beat Notre Dame.

"Notre Dame has the best team in its history, from all reports and judging from its performances to date.

"We'll go into the game considerably crippled. Whatever hopes we had of winning vanished when our list of cripples kept piling up, game after game.

"Our prospects were none too good to start with. Even with our full man-power this year the team can't compare with other good Pitt teams.

"At the start of the season I said we would lose two games. We are fortunate to have gone this far without a loss, but the Notre Dame game will be one.

"The best we can hope for is to hold them down to a low score, but common sense points to a Notre Dame victory by perhaps two or three touchdowns."

Believe It Or Not By RIPLEY

(On request, sent with stamped addressed envelope, Robert L. Ripley will send proofs and details of anything depicted by him in these cartoons.)

EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY'S CARTOONS OF YESTERDAY: PLATO'S OLIVE TREE—Plato's Academy was the name of a public park formerly situated about one mile from Athens on the road to Elcusis, where Plato met and taught his followers. The tree I depicted is the last survivor on that ancient site, where it has been standing for about 25 centuries. JOHN L. RETIRED UNDEFEATED—LONDON PRIZE RING RULES—John L. Sullivan, who was justly termed "The Champion of Champions," met and defeated more first-class men than any other pugilist. Sullivan never was defeated in a fight under the London Prize Ring Rules, which called for bare knuckles, a ring pitched on the turf, allowed wrestling, rounds did not end until a man either was knocked down or thrown down, and only 30 seconds' rest was allowed between rounds. In his last bare knuckle fight, that went 75 rounds, Sullivan defeated Jake Kilrain, at Richburg, Miss., July 8, 1889. His battle with Jim Corbett took place in New Orleans on September 8, 1892, in a modern ring, with five-ounce gloves and was fought under the Marquis of Queensbury rules.

TOMORROW—"FIRE, FIRE, BURN WATER!"

IRISH WINGMEN MAY CAUSE PITT TROUBLE

By JESS CARVER.

Among the various gridiron possessions causing Knute Rockne to sleep well o'nights (and it might be written here and now that the list is extensive) is a trio of peacherino ends.

Tom Conley.

Good wingmen are indispensable assets to any ball club. If a team has two, it may account itself fortunate. If there are three, it calls for a special prayer of thanksgiving.

In Host, Kosky and Capt. Tommy Conley, Notre Dame boasts a crackerjack array. Conley and Kosky are very expert at the art of handling forward passes. Host is a whale of a defense end. Conley and Kosky, you know, caught passes that bore touchdown fruit against Carnegie.

These three young men, who'll perform in the Stadium against the Panthers Saturday, are certain to prove formidable obstacles to the off tackle drives of the Pitt backs. Good ends always have caused Pitt trouble, and good ends, paired with good tackles such as Culver and Kirth, or Culver and Leahy, may do a lot of jamming up of Panther sorties.

PITT STARS HURT

Syracuse, while it didn't win the ball game Saturday, did a lot of things to Pitt's already crippled team that certainly did not improve matters any, such as smacking around Jess Quatse, the big tackle, and Franklin Hood, the bulky fullbacker. With MacMurdo still doubtful as a starter, Hart Morris still on the bum, and Eddie Hirshberg and Rip Collins, ends, both more or less smashed up, the loss of Quatse would just about wreck Pitt's forward wall. Quatse will play if at all possible, but there is little chance of MacMurdo, Morris or Hirshberg getting into the game.

Whether or not Hood plays depends on his physical shape at the end of the week. Right now Jimmy Clark is in the lineup at fullback.

In the event that the Pitt line is not up to snuff, the carnage will be terrible.

Here is what Rockne told me before I left South Bend, the night before last:

"I'll tell you all about it. I think we will meet a better line in the Pitt forward wall than we did last Saturday in Carnegie's first seven. I am under the impression that Tech took us a bit too lightly."

PANTHERS TOUGH

"I regard Pitt and Southern California as my toughest games from now on. I think the well-drilled Pitt line will cause us an afternoon of trouble. I have heard of the prowess of MacMurdo, Quatse and Collins, to say nothing of Charley Tully. I am looking for a great ball game Saturday."

So, my friends, that is the way Rockne regards this game this week. I am certain, in my own mind, that the Great Rock is looking for his toughest assignment of the year. He expected more trouble than he received from Tech. Tech, last Saturday, was a mile off form. As a result, Rockne's Irish won almost as they pleased. This Saturday he expects all to be vastly different.

The Panthers held a light scrimmage last evening, but Coach Sutherland was careful not to risk further injuries to any of the men already laid up. They were in uniform, but did only light duty.

Rockne's team has accepted an invitation to the Friday night performance at Loew's Penn Theater.

"It was awfully nice of you to invite us, and there will be about 35 present. We will be stopping at the P. A. A. and will drop over about 7:30 o'clock," was the wire Rockne sent to H. M. Addison, manager of the theater.

IRISH USE PITT PLAYS

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 22.—The coaches' greatest worry, overconfidence, was staring Knute Rockne, of Notre Dame, in the face today as his varsity returned to practice for a first look at Pittsburgh plays in dummy scrimmage.

Coach Rockne confined his noon lecture yesterday largely to a discourse on how varried the Pitt attack is and the dangers of the players allowing themselves to think they have a great team because of one victory.

"The price of success is eternal vigilance," he said, "and pride comes before a good old-fashioned fall."

Later, to newspaper men, he explained how psychology will all be in favor of the Panthers when Notre Dame plays them this week. He told them that his varsity will have to play the same kind of dogged, fighting game it played last week against the powerful Carnegie Tech eleven.

Larry Mullins returned to prac-

Santa Knocks Out Heffner in First

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—(AP.)—Jose Santa, Portuguese rival of Primo Carnera as the biggest heavyweight in the ring, knocked out Tiny Heffner, of Philadelphia, in the first round of their scheduled 10-round bout at the Broadway Arena last night. Santa weighed 258 pounds, and Heffner, 223½.

SHAKEUP AT PENN

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 22. — (AP.) — Penn's defeat by Wisconsin led to a drastic shakeup in the Quaker varsity yesterday. Capt. Dick Gentle, Walter Masters and Tom Barrett were dropped to the second team and Warren Gette, Mel Hemeon and Rolf Carlsten to the third team.

MAXIE DEFENDS TITLE TONIGHT

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—(AP.)—Maxie Rosenbloom, ring clown, Broadway playboy and light-heavyweight champion, will step around the corner from his favorite thoroughfare into Madison Square Garden tonight to battle 15 rounds with an almost unknown title challenger, Abie Bain, of Newark, N. J.

Searching through the records, the experts are nicknaming Abie "Where-Have-You Bain," for the Newark youngster never has appeared in a main bout before in the Garden or in other leading fistic centers.

Rosenbloom has had trouble finding suitable title opposition in a class that has gone slightly to seed. A short time age he toured the country in a series of non-title appearances. He has failed so far to convince the New York State Athletic Commission that he should be permitted to fight out of his class because of the shortage of suitable light-heavyweight opponents.

Freeman to Box Baker in Philly

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 22.—(INS.)—Tommy Freeman, the new welterweight champion, proposes to be a "fighting champion," and will inaugurate a campaign shortly that will carry him from coast to coast. He meets Sergt. Sammy Baker, of New York, here next Monday night in the first bout of his proposed campaign.

The new monarch clashes with Baker in the 10-round feature bout of the card. Young Ketchel, of Chester, and Gaby Bagdad meet in the semi-windup, while other bouts will bring together Marty Collins, of Philadelphia, and Young Terry, of Trenton; Ralph Lenny, of Jersey City, and Tommy Crawley, of Pittsburgh; Pat Haley and Pete Shedrick, and Eddie Reed and Eddie Cerda, of New York.

Fans Ask Pertinent Questions In Rockne Radio Contest

"What do you think was the biggest single factor in your defeat of the Carnegie Tech team?"

"How does the Pitt game shape up?"

These are only two of the questions readers of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph are asking Coach Knute Rockne, who will speak over Station WJAS and the Columbia System here Friday night, on the eve of the Notre Dame-Pitt game.

During his 15-minute Wrigley period on the air, beginning at 10:30 o'clock, the Notre Dame coach will be interviewed by his syndicate manager, Christy Walsh, who will ask him, among other things, 10 questions selected by Rockne himself from among many submitted by readers of this newspaper. The authors of the 10 questions selected will be rewarded with two seats each for the Pitt-Tech game at the Stadium on November 8.

Rockne requests that the fans do not confine their questions strictly to those of a local nature, as he will be on a National hookup and listeners all over the country will be interested in a talk of a more general nature.

The time is growing short. You'll have to submit your question not later than tomorrow if you want to get it before Rockne when he arrives Friday morning. A few minutes of your time now may assure you two good tickets, so hop to it!

EVERY TICKET IS SOLD

"No tickets will be sold at the Stadium Saturday," Oliver Stiff, business manager of the Stadium, said today.

"There is a good reason, for not a ticket remains to be sold. The last ticket was sold Monday at noon.

"It is hard to make the fans believe this, but, nevertheless, it is true. I am sounding the warning to prevent a further congestion at the gates Saturday."

ST. VINCENT'S TEAM HOME

LATROBE, Pa., Oct. 22.—After being snowbound and marooned in Buffalo, N. Y., in the blizzard which gripped that section, 30 members of the St. Vincent's College football squad, which played Canisius College Sunday, have arrived home safely.

DORMONT ARCHERS LOSE

The Pittsburgh School of Archery girls copped the deciding match of a three-event series from the Nottingham team of Dormont, 1,496 to 935, yesterday, and today lays claim to the city crown.

Pitt and Irish Records for Season

A comparison of the records of Pitt and Notre Dame, which clash on the Stadium gridiron Saturday, for the season to date, is interesting.

The Panthers have won four games, Notre Dame three.

Pitt hasn't been scored on; Notre Dame has.

Pitt beat Waynesburg and Western Reserve, 52 to 0 in each case; West Virginia, 16 to 0, and Syracuse, 14 to 0—a total of 134 to 0.

Notre Dame has beaten Southern Methodist, 20 to 14; Navy, 26 to 2, and Carnegie Tech, 21 to 6—a total of 67 to 22.

KERR LOSES TERRY

OSWALD WINS CUE MATCH

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 22.—(AP.)—Harry Oswald, of Pittsburgh, came back yesterday to conquer Jack Grossman, of Philadelphia, in the 200 block preliminary of the Southern Division of the Eastern section of the world championship pocket billiard tournament. Grossman trailed with 146 balls.

With a score of 107, Grossman Monday night led Oswald, who had a total of 94. A high run of 44 balls yesterday brought the Pittsburgh player to 191, and in two short runs he wound up his 200 points. Grossman's high run was 29.

Arthur Church, of New York, out-cued Charles Harmon, of New York, finishing the 97 points needed.

Harmon was 67 balls behind at the end with a 133 total. He was at a severe handicap in the second stanza of the 200 block, starting with a 64. Church completed a high run of 43 balls, while Harmon marked 42 for his Maximum stand.

George Kelly, of Philadelphia, scored 187 to win his 200-block preliminary match. Kelly put himself back in the picture with brilliant play. With runs of 49, 48 and 29, he overhauled Wallace Stott, Baltimore, despite Stott's carry-over score of 102. Stott's total was 39.

Evans Miniature Links Architect

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—(INS.)—Charles (Chick) Evans, Jr., who, in his amateur golfing career, has held a number of championships, is to design and supervise the construction of miniature golf courses, it was announced here today.

Evans has been appointed consulting architect for a concern which is building pee-wee courses in 16 Western states.

VANDERBILT, GEORGIA LEAD TEAMS IN SOUTH

INJURIES RUIN TENNESSEE'S TITLE HOPES

By W. A. ALEXANDER,
Member, All-America Board of Football.

Results of early games among Southern Conference football teams have necessitated a few changes in pre-season ratings. Vanderbilt, Georgia, Tennessee, North Carolina, Tulane, Florida and Kentucky were mentioned as those appearing strongest, while Alabama and Georgia Tech were given an outside chance to get in and cause some trouble.

Bill Alexander

For the most part that estimate was accurate enough in the light of returns to date. Vanderbilt's great showing in beating Minnesota and in returning home to swamp Virginia Polytechnic Institute, one of the strongest teams in the South Atlantic section, stamps Coach McQuigin's team as one of the strongest in the section if not in the nation.

The sophomores seem to have learned more than their share of football and must be taken very seriously by every team they meet from now on.

Georgia's great victory over Yale, the second in successive years, puts the Bulldogs right on par with Vanderbilt. Georgia showed great power and plenty of reserve strength. What a game it would be if Vanderbilt and Georgia were scheduled to meet.

INJURIES HURT VETS

Tennessee was rated strongest on pre-season estimates, but injuries to their best players, veterans of two successful seasons, have dimmed their chances of repeating. All of Tennessee's hard luck seemed to come upon them at once.

North Carolina's team has not shown the defensive strength expected of it, and the Tarheels with as fine a set of backs as can be found in the Conferences seemed doomed to fall short of the championship.

Tulane, on the other hand, looks far better than early reports rated them. The Greenies lost to Northwestern, 14 to 0, but in view of Northwestern's great strength as shown before misfortune overtook the great Hank Bruder, Tulane must be very strong indeed. The fact that Tulane traveled to Dallas and defeated the Texas Aggies on the following Saturday shows that they cannot be left out of championship consideration.

The strength of Florida and Kentucky still is problematical due to an early season conference schedule of weak opposition. However these two teams must be considered serious contenders until further notice.

Of the other teams rated as possible contenders Alabama looks very dangerous. The Crimson tide has at least developed a backfield that is versatile and with the usual fine line that Coach Wade turns out, they will be heard from in the November games. Alabama looks better now than they did before the season opened.

TORNADO STOPPED

Georgia Tech's crushing defeat at Carnegie Tech forecasts extreme difficulties for them in later games. At the best, Tech will lose several Conference games.

The championship in the big Southern organization which includes 23 members is still far from a decision. One of the greatest campaigns ever waged will be seen in November when some of the undefeated teams meet Conference leaders already have done well intersectionally as is shown by Vanderbilt's victory over Minnesota and Georgia's triumph at Yale and Florida's showing at Chicago. The excitement is just starting down in the cotton belt. No one can accurately guess at the ultimate winner.

Jordan Sentenced To Long Jail Term

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 22.—(AP.)—Johnny Jordan, once a prize ring idol, was sentenced yesterday to six to 15 years in the state penitentiary for participating in a $60,000 daylight holdup of the diamond firm of Lowenstein & Rothstein here a year ago.

Jordan's attorney, in urging the minimum five years term, told the court his client "was just a punch-drunk fighter who was used as a tool," in the holdup. He said Jordan had been persuaded he was merely acting a part in an imitation robbery.

FIELDS VS. PIRRONE

Between Rounds

Tommy Crawley, of the South Side, takes on a tough customer in a 10-round bout at the Arena in Philadelphia next Monday night when he squares off with Ralph Lenny, of New Jersey, who last spring defeated Andy Andrucci in a bout at the Meyers Bowl.

Georgie Tomosky, of Turtle Creek, boxes Sparrow Kesner, of Cumberland, in an eight-round bout at Cumberland Thursday night of next week.

This is the night of Jackie Rodgers' wedding. The crack local Negro featherweight puncher and Miss Henrietta Looney, 19, will be wedded at 9:30 at the home of the bride's parents, 2335 Center avenue, with a reception following at Dearing's Hotel.

Johnny Willis and Eddie Reed, Negro boxers, of Erie, will appear in bouts at the Broadway Club in Philadelphia tomorrow night, the former against Matty White and the latter against Young Terry McGovern.

Another English flyweight and bantamweight is to come into our midst to join Tiny Smith, now of Washington, Pa. He is Taff Bowers, Welsh-Englishman, who has boxed throughout the British Kingdom, appearing in many 15-round battles. He will be managed by J. M. Sheppard, who handled him overseas, and A. J. Goodwin. They may be reached by calling Court, 4253 during the day or Mayflower 3644 evenings.

CHAMP TO FIGHT

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 22.—(AP.)—Manuel Quintero will meet Tommy Freeman, welterweight champion, in a non-title bout at Ned Orleans the latter part of December.

HEPPNER, Ore., Oct. 22.—(AP.)—Elmer Noke, 19, Heppner High School player, died yesterday from injuries suffered in a football game last Friday.

Sport Vignettes

Yes, I have no tickets for the Pitt-Notre Dame game Saturday. Jim Long also has no tickets. Ditto, Jess Carver, and ditto Pitt . . . The first sellout of The Stadium has been a long time coming, but it's here—and how! . . . Take a look at the young fistician pictured herewith . . . He is Charley Baxter, 18-year-old schoolboy, of Louisville, whom Charley Jones, formerly of McKeesport, is piloting toward the top in the lightweight ranks . . . Jones only recently consented to starting him in 10-r unders, because of his youth, and so popular was the lad that the promoters in his home town put him on in six-round windups, with 10-round preliminaries supporting him . . . Until he recently lost a bout on a foul in Wheeling, Baxter had turned in 47 successive victories, 34 of them by the knockout route, according to Jones, who can't see anything but the championship heights for the youngster in time . . . You'll probably see Baxter in action around here shortly, for Jones is dickering with a couple of the local clubs for openings for him.

Charley Baxter

Lou Magnolia now is refereeing wrestling matches in New York, and, with his natural showmanship, is going over in fine style . . . It is not true that he learned all about wrestling from handling Young Stribling's bout with Jack Sharkey at Miami, for Lou was a grappler himself in his early days . . . The end of a perfect baseball season next fall would find Joe McCarthy, new manager of the New York Yankees, pitted against Rogers Hornsby, his successor, with the Cubs, in the World Series . . . There are four McNamaras on the New York University football squad and they are unrelated . . . Bill Roper, Princeton coach, again attacks football, which he once more says is going to the dogs . . . By the way, he is having another one of his tough seasons, which may or may not have something to do with his viewpoint . . . Joe Keally, local boxing referee, calls southpaws left-footers instead of left-handers.

When Michigan defeated Ohio State, 13-0, last Saturday, it marked the twentieth victory of the Wolverines over the Buckeyes in 27 starts, Ohio winning five and tieing two. Over that period, Michigan has scored 505 points against the Columbus teams' 110 . . . Michigan has been held scoreless in only three of those meetings, and one of these games was a scoreless tie, while Ohio has failed to score 17 times and did not score a point in the first nine games . . . Last year, Ohio won, 7-0 . . . Jack Perry, former local welterweight boxer, not only is managing boxers on the Coast, but also is running a professional boxing club there these days, with Jimmy Gleason and Bob Armstrong, the actors, as his backers . . . The West Virginia-Oregon State football game at Soldier Field, Chicago, on Thanksgiving Day, will be for the benefit of the Chicago unit, Shriners' Hospitals for Crippled Children, a most worthy cause.—HARRY KECK.

Pacific Coast Loop Title Series Opens

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 22.—(AP.)—The Los Angeles Angels and the Hollywood Stars meet here today in the opening game of the play-off series for the 1930 Pacific Coast League baseball pennant.

Los Angeles won the high honors for the first half of the season and Hollywood finished at the top in the second half. The first team to win four games takes the championship, which Hollywood won last year. The winning team also will receive $6,000 and the losers $4,000. The prize money was furnished by the circuit.

HARRIS BATTLE TO DRAW AT MOOSE

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor.

Indications are that the Moose Temple will get its first real break of the season with its Harry Harris-Indian Tiger West boxing show Friday night. For one thing, it is the only one of the smaller clubs operating in the district this week; for another, the weather has become cool enough to drive the fans inside, and, for another, many out-of-town persons will be in the city that night for the Pitt-Notre Dame game the following day.

A large delegation will be at the Stadium to cheer for Harry Harris' brother, Frank, a Notre Dame lineman, of Bellaire, O., and Mike Koken, a halfback, who comes from Youngstown, and many of these will arrive the night before. Of course, some of them will take in the Dukes-Catholic University night game at Forbes Field on Friday, but others already have reserved seats at the Moose to see Harris in his first appearance in a windup in Pittsburgh.

Promoter Apples Meyers is completing his program. He has Paul Oger and Jimmy Kelly in the semi-final and Young Jack McVey will be one of the principals in the second bout. Tom Anderson, Hill Negro, boxes Al Farone, of McKees Rocks, in the opener.

Motor Square Garden today rounded out its card for its show next Monday night headed by a 10-round heavyweight battle between George Panka, of Homestead, and Emmett Rocco, of Ellwood City, conqueror a little more than a week ago of Tom Heeney in the same ring.

Jimmy Reed, of Erie, and Eddie Brannon, of the Hill, will box the eight-round semi-final, and Johnny Kusic, of Youngstown, meets Jackie Murray, of the Hill, and Paul Rinsko, of Charleroi, Eddie Pinchot's protege, opposes Swede Johnson, of the North Side, in the six-round preliminaries.

BROADWAY ACTIVE

The undefeated Broadway Club will play the Aliquippa Club Sunday at Greenfree. The game will start at 2:30 o'clock. Broadway would like to hear from the Ambridge Mystics, Johnstown and Niles, O. Call Lehigh 7929-J.

WALTONS TO MEET

The Pittsburgh Chapter of the Izaak Walton League will hold a "friendship" meeting at Carnegie Music Hall at 8 o'clock Monday evening. Motion pictures of wild life will be shown and Ralph L. Smith and William P. H. Wenzel will speak. The public is invited to attend.

MAY CANCEL FIGHTS

OIL CITY, Pa., Oct. 22.—Poor patronage of Oil City's fight show this week may result in canceling remaining programs this year. Fewer than 500 paid admission to see Monday's card. Final decision will be reached tomorrow.

C. W. Isles, of 447 South Pacific avenue, telephone 1138 Montrose, is in charge of the arrangements. He expects to have more than 100 persons in his party, the largest group of grid fans ever to follow the Panthers on a Westward trip. Another special fan train is planned for the Army-Notre Dame game to be played in Chicago on November 29.

Young Stribling

MAKING HIS FIRST Eastern appearance in this country since he became leading contender for the world heavyweight title crown by stopping Otto Von Porat and Terrible Phil Scott, Young Stribling will meet K. O. Christner for 10 rounds in Newark, N. J., tomorrow night. It isn't an overly tough spot that Stribling has picked for himself in which to make a new start in the Eastern states. Christner looked promising for a time, but he never advanced far enough to be accepted as a title contender, and in his form of the last year he does not threaten to make much trouble for Stribling. Boxing in Newark, Stribling goes back to the place where he made his real Eastern start in the fight game. He was still a schoolboy when he beat Dave Rosenberg there on New Year's Day of 1924. Three months later he appeared again in the same ring, outpointing Mike McTigue in a no-decision bout. Preceding the Stribling-Christner affair by a day, a world light-heavyweight championship match is on the card for tonight in New York, With Maxie Rosenbloom defending his title against Abie Bain, of Newark. It's a championship number only in name, for though the title is at stake the quality is not there. Bain never has fought in New York, nor has he appeared in a main bout in any of the other big fight centers, and he does not figure to have a chance with Rosenbloom if the latter is half right.

THE PITTSBURGH DISTRICT'S dyed-in-the-wool hockey fans who have been mourning the loss of the Pirate National League club, moved to Philadelphia, are finding life again worth living as a result of the latest prospect that their favorite sport may be restored to them through the transfer to this city of the Niagara Falls franchise in the International League.

It is fitting that some step of the kind be taken to keep Pittsburgh on the hockey map, as this city was one of America's pioneers in the ice sport. A good minor league team that will be up in the race should provide not only cheaper but more interesting hockey than the weak Pirates were able to furnish during the last two seasons. In the right hands it ought to be a success, and that it will be in the right hands is assured by the development that if an International League club is placed in Duquesne Garden here after a local meeting of the league heads on Friday it will be under the direction of Roy D. Schooley, who knows the game from the ice up and who is one of the most capable hockey men in the United States.

TECH MACHINE RESUMES GRID PRACTICE

Carnegie Tech's grid machine resumed practice yesterday, following their day of rest after Saturday's defeat at the hands of Knute Rockne's Notre Dame warriors. The Plaid machine is determined to shake off the Irish defeat, and proceed to take over its remaining big games, which will throw them against New York University, Pitt, Temple and W. & J., with Western Reserve in Cleveland this Saturday as a warmup.

Although the Plaid expects to win almost as it pleases over Gordon Locke's Red Cats, who have done nothing notable this season, there is always the chance that some important player will be injured even in a minor game, and any further losses will be fatal, with the Violet contest scheduled for November 1.

There is hardly a chance that either Alex Ducanis or George Kavel will be used against Western Reserve. Ducanis is still hobbling around with crutches, while Kavel, although he has recovered rapidly from the bump he received on the opening kickoff at South Bend, is still far from ready for their practice or a game.

Red Jones, Ducanis' substitute, filled in for him at practice yesterday, and likely will start against Western Reserve. Thayer Flanagan is now holding down the right halfback job.

All of the other regulars were able to run through signals yesterday.

O. S. U. MORALE LOW

DUKES WORK HARD FOR CATHOLIC U. TILT

CAPITAL CITY TEAM ARRIVES TOMORROW

Only today and tomorrow are left for the Duquesne University coaching staff to whip their Night Riders into shape for the powerful Catholic University eleven of Coach Arthur (Dutch) Bergman, former Notre Dame star. There is plenty of improvement needed on the part of the Red and Blue squad if they are to cope successfully with a team boasting a line as powerful and a backfield as fast as that of the Catholic U. team.

Ganzy Benedict will doubtless be seen today throwing more long forward passes to Sammy Pratt. Smoke Abele, Red Murphy and other Duke ends as Layden continues the aerial drills which are occupying much of the Dukes' time this week. Building an effective defense against the mighty line of Coach Louis Gross and evolving a more effective aerial attack than they have previously been able to muster this season are the main projects of the Night Riders now.

The Dukes' opponents will arrive from Washington, D. C., tomorrow and are expected to familiarize themselves with the Forbes Field gridiron in preparation for Friday night's game. The Dukes are aware that the Washington, D. C., team will have its full strength available for the first time this season when they meet the Dukes and they are directing their practice sessions accordingly. Injuries dogged the trail of the Catholic University squad until last week, when every man reported for practice in good condition.

FLUKE HOMERS SHOULD BE REDUCED

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.

To single out the sacrifice fly as an offensive rule while remaining silent on the hundreds of cheap home runs that fall in many of his own parks, as well as many in the National League, is a rather striking commentary on President Barnard, of the junior organization.

If Barnard wishes to advocate something of real import to the great game of the diamond, why does he not take up the cudgel that fell from the hands of Ban Johnson when that fighting gent was forced to abdicate?

NEED ZONING PLAN

Johnson foresaw the harmful effects of the fluke four-sackers when he suggested a zoning plan which would reduce some of the pop-fly homers to doubles. But Johnson found little support among the swivel-chair diplomats. It is altogether probable that not more than one home run in 10 is deserved, yet some of the officials would drag the herring across the trail in the form of agitation against the sacrifice fly. Barney Dreyfuss, it should be stated, was and is one of those in favor of the zoning plan.

Barnard, of course, is entitled to his opinion concerning the sacrifice fly, but should not the players, themselves, have a voice in a matter affecting the scoring of their own game?

The sacrifice fly has some very good points, I would say. While the average player does not intentionally drive out a long loft of this nature, there are any number of boys in the game, who when a runner is on third, have the long fly in mind as they go to the batter. And some of these fellows consistently produce this sort of a wallop.

DESERVES CREDIT

Any player who can drive over a run in this manner deserves a premium, rather than a demerit—which would be his reward if Barnard and others have their way. These men would charge the hitter with a time at bat, thereby reducing his batting average. They may point out that the batter would be credited with having driven in a run, but the magnates do not pay off on the runs batted in as a rule. For better or for worse, they give more consideration to the batting average.

Perhaps the day is coming in baseball when the general value of a batter is given the consideration it deserves; it has not come yet. Maybe the newspapers are partly responsible through their insistence in extolling batting averages and homers at the expense of elements that carry better team-play. On the other hand, there would be fewer fluke homers if the officials concentrated on legislation looking toward zone enforcement.

The new agitation against the sacrifice fly may have been engendered by the recent adoption of a rule which declares that all lofts or liners that advance a runner be termed as sacrifices. In other words, a batter is credited with a sacrifice if a runner goes from first to second or from second to third after a catch. Previously, the rule exacted a run before the sacrifice was credited. It might not be a bad idea to go back to the older method, but nobody seems to feel any misfortune under the new plan.

RULES CHANGES NEEDED

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—(AP.)—There are far more important revisions needed in the baseball rules than the elimination of the sacrifice fly, in the opinion of John A. Heydler, of the National League.

President Heydler predicted there would be a thorough revision of the rules at the December meeting of the two major leagues.

"Scoring rules in particular need clarifying," said the National League head, "so that the average fan can tell the difference between an error and a hit. The methods of figuring pitchers' records also is in need of changing.

"There is a committee of baseball writers working on the clarification of the rules, but I cannot say just what revisions they will recommend. Personally, I prefer to remain out of any baseball discussion until the football season is over," said Heydler.

Two substitute backs, Willy Lewis and Harry Prichard, also suffered and were missing from a light drill on Centre plays.

M'KEESPORT PRIMED FOR BIG TEST

By TOM BIRKS.

One of the outstanding battles in the Western Pennsylvania Independent Gridiron Conference will be flashed this evening under the floodlights at Parnassus High School Field, when the undefeated McKeesport Olympics tangle with Burns A. A.

This game is of the utmost importance to both clubs, particularly to the Black and White of Burns, which must defeat Iversons' aggregation to stay in the race.

Apparently Burns will enter its biggest game without Uansa and Parkinson, former s'tt stars, who did not attend the final practice session. However Al Dunn, former Slippery Rock player, will be in the Black and White backfield, and this triple-threat man will cause the Tubers plenty of worry.

BURNS READY

Burns held its final practice on Monday, and the players, for the first time this season, flashed plenty of spirit.

Dunn, Heinzer and Jimmy Smith controlled the session, and many new plays were tried to try and stop the Tube City invasion. Allegheny River fans will have a chance to see in the Olympics one of the greatest local independent gridiron machines ever banded. Manager Freddie Iverson has had plenty of good clubs, but for class, with all-around ability and balance, it would be hard to point to any previous team which would compare with the present aggregation. It is a real team, composed of former college players, with a sprinkling of sandlot products to give it the punch.

This is one club where it is impossible to state just who will start on the line or in the backfield.

SHOCKERS MAY START

It is quite possible, however, that the shock troops for the first quarter will find Zoltac, Bannes, Klinzing and Weston doing their stuff in the backfield, with McCurdy and Bill Lohr on the ends.

Burns, should Parkinson and Uansa fail to appear, will start Halpate, Lutz, Dunn and Sharkey. The game will be called at 8:15 and the greatest crowd ever to watch a football game up the Allegheny River is expected to be on hand. Additional bleachers have been built to take care of the crowd.

tice yesterday afternoon, but was limping badly and may not be in the lineup when the Irish meet last year's runner-up for the national championship. Frank Kerjes, reserve guard, who started against Carnegie, also was limping badly and may not see action this week.

HAMBURGS SUCCESSFUL

The third and fourth teams, with Bernie Leahy and Kaplan carrying the brunt of the attack, had a lively scrimmage against the freshmen and a defensive scrimmage against the Hamburgs, ineligible team, using the Pitt system plays with great success.

The Hamburgs scored several times with Sutherland's intricate offense.

The first and second teams had only fair success against the Hamburgs in dummy scrimmage against Pitt formations, but are expected to get used to their radical changes in defense to meet the wing back offense when they scrimmage today.

$125,000 Offered For Twenty Grand

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Mrs. Payne Whitney refused $125,000 for her 2-year-old colt, Twenty Grand, yesterday. Thomas W. She said the colt was not for sale, that she had spent many years trying to get a real good colt and that no amount of money could make her part with him.

MY FIFTY YEARS IN BASEBALL

By CONNIE MACK,

Manager, World Champion Philadelphia Athletics

INSTALLMENT NO. 39.

During the winter of 1923 I decided to give Paul Strand, my expensive outfielder and colossal disappointment, another chance in 1924.

Strand had cost us a sum that had drained our treasury and I simply had to go as far as possible with him. Personally I never saw any hope in him after his wretched showing in 1923, and, had he represented a moderate outlay of money, I would have passed him up at the end of the season.

Connie Mack

There was a small chance that he might come back in 1924. Perhaps the heavy booming of newspapers and the halo around him that his purchase price had caused had upset him in 1923 so that he never could get started.

That has been known to happen in baseball.

Therefore, Strand was in our lineup at the start of 1924, but never once did he give a hint of being the same man who had astonished the baseball world at Salt Lake City in 1922.

When you are defeated there is nothing like admitting it. In the early weeks of 1924 I saw that Strand was a complete "bust" and never would do.

In desperation, I arranged a quick deal with the Toledo Club, of the American Association, and received Outfielder William Lamar in exchange for Strand.

LAMAR MAKES GOOD

This deal was made some time in June. Lamar, who had been up before with Brooklyn, had been hitting the ball hard all that season in the American Association.

Judging from the price I paid for Strand and the fact that all clubs had passed up Lamar, it looked as if I were trading a sedan for a push cart, but it turned out to be one of the most advantageous deals I ever made.

Lamar joined us on an afternoon we had a double-header scheduled and he hit hard in both games and kept it up for the remainder of the season.

He seemed to be just the man we needed, and, after a very poor start, we began to win games and finished the season in fifth place.

I give a lot of credit to Lamar for changing our fortunes that season. He always was a greater player than he ever received credit for being. He was a stalwart left-hand hitter and could smash southpaws as well as righthanders. He could field and throw, too.

Lamar came of a distinguished Southern family, his father being a high official in the postal service in Washington. He was one of my batting bulwarks up to the end of 1927, when I had to let him go, but he ought to be in the majors today.

Two more helpful acquisitions that year were Pitcher Sammy Gray and Second Baseman Max Bishop. We drafted Gray from the Fort Worth (Tex.) club, and he showed immediate promise that soon developed him into a winning pitcher.

PRAISE FOR BISHOP

To get Bishop I had to arrange one of my numerous deals with the late lamented Jack Dunn, owner of the Baltimore club, with whom I always had the most cordial relations. Bishop cost me $20,000 in cash, no players being involved.

Dunn was one of the real characters in baseball. He talked in a high, piping voice and humor fairly cascaded from him. He was one of the shrewdest leaders the minor leagues ever have known.

As a judge of ball players, few were in his class. He had a knack of taking a raw player off a crossroads lot, developing him into a star and then selling him to a major league club for a fabulous price.

When I tell you that it was Jack Dunn who discovered and developed Babe Ruth out of a boys' school, I believe I don't have to go any further to attest his wizardry in picking ball players, but he also sent us Shortstop Boley and Pitchers Grove and Earnshaw later on, while he also sold Pitcher Tommy Thomas to the White Sox and Outfielder Dick Porter to Cleveland. All of these players developed into major league stars.

GREAT LEADOFF MAN

Dunn dropped dead at a field trial of hunting dogs shortly after the season of 1929. The trouble was heart disease, but I always traced it to the death of his grown son, his only child, whom he was training to take his place as head of the Baltimore club.

In Bishop, Dunn sent me a skillful second baseman who I think is the best leadoff man in the American League.

Bishop is the antithesis of the Babe Ruth type. He is a throwback to the scientific hitter of the Keeler-McGraw era. Such a style of batsman is rapidly disappearing, for the urge of the present-day manager is for the broadback who can blast the ball out of the park.

A scientific hitter like Bishop still fits in a batting order as a leadoff man.

I don't think there is a batsman in baseball who can judge a pitch with more exactitude than Bishop. He has microscopic eyes and every season he is at the top or near it in receiving unintentional passes. He seldom is known to hit a ball that is the least bit bad. As a result, he is a heavy run-getter, for he is on base frequently and our heavy hitters bat him in.

GOOD "MONEY PLAYER"

Another good point about Bishop is that he always is at his best in vital games. More regarded as a player who is content to hit singles, Bishop amazed Shibe Park fans in 1930 by driving the ball over the right field wall six or seven times.

Bishop is of frail build and apt to burn out and for that reason I often have to give him a rest, but he always will come back and do his best work after a few days off.

MOSS HURT AGAIN

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Oct. 22.—(AP.)—Add Paul Moss, Purdue's sophomore end, to the list of the jinxed in Big Ten football. Moss, who had been forced out of the game by an injury, fired Purdue's hope of defeated Wisconsin last night by returning to practice. But in a scrimmage, he injured his leg so severely that he may be out of the game.

GARNER KICKS HOME FOUR WINNERS

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—(AP.)—A turf adage has it that good jockeys, the kind who last, are born that way. Now and then a flash-in-the-pan apprentice lad, with a pull in weights, comes along to steal the thunder of the older fellows, but Mack Garner, a veteran of 16 years of riding, still is able to cope with the best of the younger generation.

Riding as if to prove that an old timer need yield to none of the sensational youngsters, such as Eugene James, Garner brought four winners down past the judges' stand at Laurel yesterday. Others have equalled the performance this year, but few have excelled it.

Garner, Uncle Mack to the turf, is a born horseman. Seventeen years ago he came to the races with the reputation of coming from a riding family. It wasn't long before he and his 5-pound allowance were kicking into the winner's circle with regularity at the old Juarez track.

His second year on the turf saw him steal away in front during the winter of 1914-15 and before the last race of the season had been run he had rolled up 150 winners. The following year he again was the leading jockey in number of races won.

His best years in point of winners came early, but his fruitful years in point of earnings appear to have only arrived. Since 1921, after he had been riding for seven years, he has ridden more than $100,000 worth of winners each year with the exceptions of two.

He fell down to about half that amount in 1926 and 1927, but last year he clicked for $314,975, his most successful financial year on the turf. His total earnings in the saddle, credited to horses he has ridden, totaled $1,833,680 at the close of last year's campaign.

He has been nicknamed Uncle Mack to distinguish him from his nephew, Willie, who is riding on Middle Western tracks this season. An older brother, Guy, is one of France's most popular jockeys. Uncle Mack is considered one of the wealthiest jockeys in the game.

GAGNON BEATS O'KELLY

BOSTON, Oct. 22.—(AP.)—Jack Gagnon, Boston heavyweight, outslugged aggressive Con O'Kelly, former Irish champion, here last night in a furious 10-round battle. The victory entitled Gagnon to a battle with Young Stribling here on October 31. Gagnon weighed 192 and O'Kelly scaled 194.

Seven Pitties On Hospital Roster

Pitt's list of cripples as it appears this week for the important battle with Notre Dame Saturday includes:

Franklin Hood, 200-pound fullback, who has made six touchdowns to date.

Jim MacMurdo, 200-pound end.

Ed Hirschberg, regular end.

Hart Morris, regular guard.

Rocco Cutri, second-string quarter.

Frank Walton, reserve tackle.

The first five men named are regulars and stars of this year's lineup. The last two named are two of the best reserves and men who would be most likely to be called on often.

By Ripley, Himself

"Believe it or not . . . Here's real authority. Registered physicians, specializing in the care of the nose and throat! Doctors who see every day the ill-effects of cigarettes that are too harsh, too raw, too irritating to delicate membranes.

"I picked the Doctors as taste-testers because they just naturally judge cigarettes for their throat-ease.

"This was to be a taste-test . . . but I knew every doctor would instinctively rate the four cigarettes on their smoothness and throat-comfort as well as their flavor.

"Believe it or not . . . these registered physicians, without knowing what brand they were choosing . . . with all names concealed . . . picked OLD GOLD by the decisive ratio of 2 to 1.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT, HERE'S THE FINAL SCORE! ### Rail President Tells Why Men Are Laid Off

—By B. C. FORBES—

THIS COLUMN has been opened freely to men out of work, to readers offering suggestions for the betterment of conditions, to complaints against financial and business leaders, to criticism of laying men off.

B. C. Forbes

Let us be entirely fair, and consider today the other side, the problems of executives, the conditions confronting them, their compulsion for resorting to the painful expedient of cutting down working forces.

The president of a large railroad, a personal friend for whom the writer has the very highest regard, has, in reply to a query, written a letter which, although marked "confidential," should be published because it will serve a very useful purpose.

NAMES ARE, of course, omitted:

"No one company can play Atlas and carry the world on its shoulders. I believe that during the winter and spring months a good many roads, and I would call your attention to the —— and ourselves especially, did all we could to keep things going. It is too bad indeed that in order to keep the ship from sinking, some people had to be set afloat. We minimized this as much as we could.

"As far as freight train service is concerned, it is almost directly responsible to the amount of business to be moved; when the traffic is not there we simply have not the freight trains to run. We have taken off very few passenger trains.

"We have also established a rule that our employes who were laid off must have preference in connection with jobs open anywhere on our lines.

"But there is another side of this. Nearly all of us have made mistakes in our personal affairs during the last six or seven years. The era of living in fancied riches came to a sudden stop when the bubble burst. That involves a lot of painful adjustments, corporate and personal. The best thing we can do individually is to look over what we have done in the last several years that show errors in judgment or lack of reasonable thrift, and then endeavor to correct that situation by mending our ways.

"Another element: History teaches us from as far back as we can go, that there was a constant lesson being taught and a constant reminder on the part of the wise leaders that it was prudent to store up something against the rainy days: That the seven good years were apt to be followed by seven lean ones—even the squirrels that lay in something for the winter seem to have a better understanding of this rule of uncertainty than many people have. No squirrel mortgages his winter supply of nuts to his neighbor in order to have a good time in the fall.

"And so when we are talking about the employment of labor we should have in mind also that the people who have saved up their money and who may be in their old age dependent upon the income from their savings to live, are also entitled to consideration. They have exercised thrift, self-denial and good judgment, and in many instances so far as incomes are concerned, have not received any advance over what was coming to them 20 years ago—our company is paying the same rate of dividend now that it did 20 years ago.

"I CERTAINLY feel that we ought to do all we can to maintain employment and it is too bad that the machinery of our civilization still creaks so and moves so awkwardly that a job cannot always be found for the man who is willing and able to work; for people thus out of employment society at large has to make provision during depressions, and this should be done with as little injury to the independence and self-respect of the people taken care of as is possible.

"We are not cutting down expenses on our lines because we like to, or laying off men without the deepest feeling of regret; but our shipments of motor vehicles, for example, are but 40 per cent of those of last year—and we need in very considerable degree to be governed accordingly.

HOW'S BUSINESS?

ACTUAL FACTS ON CONDITIONS TODAY

By FRELING FOSTER

Telephone Industry Breaks 1929 Record

The total operating revenue of the 12 largest telephone companies in the United States during the first seven months of 1930 is compared with the corresponding revenues of the past eight years. These companies do 83% of the business of all telephone corporations whose annual operating revenues are more than $250,000. Source: Interstate Commerce Commission.

Evidently the depression has not deterred telephoning generally. This industry, however, is not subject to business fluctuation as much as other industries, owing to its widespread service. Operating revenue in the first seven months of 1930 was 5% higher than in the corresponding period of 1929, 16% higher than in 1928, 21% higher than 1927 and 99% higher than in 1922. This is a sound and steady growth which should strike an optimistic note among business men everywhere.

STOCKS RALLY AFTER MAKING NEW LOWS

Prices Sag 1 to 6; Ticker Lags; Market Turns Dull As Shares Head Higher

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—(AP.)—The stock market was seized with a fresh spasm of liquidation again today, but once more managed to throw it off, after pivotal shares had slipped to new low prices.

This familiar ordeal carried prices down 1 to 6 points during the first hour of trading, when selling was active enough to delay the ticker a few minutes. By afternoon, however, most of the losses had been regained, and a few shares showed advances of a point or two. Trading turned dull.

American Can and Woodworth sold 2 points above yesterday's close, and Allied Chemical, Chesapeake and Ohio, Atchison and Union Pacific recorded moderate gains. The early selling carried U. S. Steel off 2¼ points to 143¼, the lowest since 1928. Radio and General Electric dropped to new low prices for the present shares, and Westinghouse sold off 4 to a new 1930 low. Auburn Auto, which sold early in the year as high as 263¾, dropped 6 points to 68½.

NEWS UNFAVORABLE

Recurrence of these spasms of liquidation has grown decidedly discouraging to the brokerage community. Although the day's business news was not favorable, many brokers felt that the condition of business has been fully discounted by the deflation in share values, and that further declines could scarcely be regarded as reflecting economic conditions, now well understood.

It is felt in some quarters that the persistent selling represents systematic liquidation of troublesome situations, and that once the process is completed, the market may be expected to give a better account of itself. That such liquidation has progressed systematically with little or no demoralization is regarded as reassuring, although some brokers feel that it may have caused considerable needless sacrifices of holdings by worried investors.

Brokers explain that every selling order requires a buyer, a fact sometimes lost sight of, and that much of the buying of late has been of the best invesement sort. Odd lot purchases by investors are said to have been in large volume. One large commission house reports that it purchased 1,133 individual lots of stocks for customers yesterday, of which amount 886 were odd lots.

LOADINGS DECLINE

The freight car loading figures, as reported for the week ended October 11, reversed the upward trend of the previous week, with a drop of 17,618 cars, reducing the level for that period to the lowest since 1918, the first time that loadings this year have fallen under 1921 levels. Of course, comparisons carried back that far are a little misleading, owing to the growth of motor transport.

The weekly steel trade reviews, as expected, showed another decline in aggregate ingot output. Iron Age placed output at 53 per cent of capacity, against 55 a week ago, although it reported a substantial upturn at Chicago, and slight gains at Buffalo and Pittsburgh. American Metal Market said mills were running almost entirely on current orders, with hardly any backlogs, producers of pipe line will soon run out of orders, and the annual rail buying movement is later and lighter than usual.

Call money continued in abundant supply, officially at 2 per cent, with outside offerings at 1½.

For Young Mothers

MRS. CHESTER DECKER
R. R. #1, Wheatland, Indiana

"Before my little daughter was born I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound regularly. I was able to do my usual work and take pleasure in doing it. We were so happy when a wonderfully fine baby girl arrived to bless our home. I have enjoyed better health since the baby's birth than ever before. I am sure that I owe it all to your medicine and I heartily recommend it to all women who are weak or ailing."—Mrs. Chester Decker.

MRS. VERN L. DENNINGS
510 Johnson St., Saginaw, Michigan

"Although I am only 22 years old I have four babies to care for. Before my first baby was born my mother urged me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound because I was so terribly weak. I had to lie down four or five times a day. After three bottles I could feel a great improvement. I still take the Vegetable Compound whenever I need it, for it gives me strength to be a good mother to my family. I will write to any woman about it."—Mrs. Vern L. Dennings.

FREE WANT ADS AID JOBLESS

Seeking to relieve the present unemployment situation, the Sun-Telegraph has thrown open its want ad columns to the home-owners of Pittsburgh and other more fortunate individuals who will be given an opportunity to aid those out of work and at the same time see many odd tasks accomplished.

If Sun-Telegraph readers need their walks repaired, roofs, spoutings or porches fixed, plumbing renovated or repaired, coal put in or gardens and flower-beds made ready for the winter, wall paper cleaned, windows washed, or wish their car washed and polished at home, they can give aid to the unemployed by notifying this newspaper.

If you can offer work of any kind to any one, whether for a day, week or indefinitely, and the job pays a salary or wage, call Grant 5400 or stop at Want Ad Corner, Fifth Avenue and Market Street, and the Sun-Telegraph will run a "Help Wanted" ad free of charge.

Any job which you thought you might do for yourself, but for which you never found time, will give a less fortunate individual a chance of employment.

DAILY TRUE STORY

Aristocracy!

—Funk & Wagnalls (dictionary).

Merton Seagrave was Number 1 in the above definition, Paula Ryerson was Number 2.

As for Myrna Jackman, she was supposed to come under the definition of "Plebeian."

And there was Chet Ingram, they called him the "Sieve." A sieve is a garrulous person, one who cannot hold any information whatsoever, so long as there is someone to tell.

Of course, there were others. There are always others.

Fortune plays strange pranks. Time was, in the growing suburb of Orangeville, when John Jackman owned the little corner grocery and Mike Ryerson had a mighty difficult time of it to pay his bills there. Many a time Jackman had let Ryerson have generous baskets of provisions because he knew what Mrs. Ryerson and little Paula had to eat. Jackman wasn't sure at all that he would ever get his money.

Paula Ryerson and Myrna Jackman used to go to school together and more often than not little Paula wore clothes that had been Myrna's, which Mrs. Jackman gave to Mrs. Ryerson.

Leaves for Texas

There came a big contract job and Mike got steady work for a year and a half. Mike had some ideas. One of them was to get enough money saved to get away from Orangeville and go down in Texas in the oil district. Mike was mighty [illegible] with pick and shovel, [illegible] putting up shoring timbers [illegible] building derrick frames. [illegible]s contract job enabled him [illegible] away. True, he left owing Jackman about $80 for groceries, but he got away and took his wife and daughter.

Jackman needed the eighty then. Chain stores had come in and set up their alluring bright-colored fronts. The story of chain stores and independent shopkeepers is too well known to go into details about.

Jackman finally was forced to close his store.

Meanwhile Mike Ryerson was earning more money than ever before down in Petropolis, an oil boom town. He took a gamble and gave his boss his three years' savings when the boss went broke before he could finish driving a well on new property.

It was the old story.

A gusher!

Mike Ryerson washed the oil off and let the well gush. His boss was now his partner and Mike discovered that he was getting an income of several thousand dollars a day!

Returns to Orangeville

Mrs. Ryerson began to make trips to Chicago to buy finery for herself and Paula, who was now 16.

She began to have visions of social position. Paula was sent to a finishing school down in Houston. The oil wells continued to gush and the Ryerson fortune to pyramid.

Mike forgot all about the $80 he owed Jackman back in Orangeville. He forgot all about Orangeville. Mrs. Ryerson did not forget. She remembered, bitterly, her poverty there and she planned to go back to Orangeville, to build a handsome residence and to look down through her lorgnette (Oh, yes, she was practicing with a lorgnette, these days) on the people who had pitied her in her days of poverty.

Things with the Jackmans were going as adversely in Orangeville as they were going prosperously for the Ryersons in Petropolis.

When the Ryerson fortune was pretty well assured Mike, at the behest of his wife, put a personal representative on the job and brought his family back to Orangeville. Workmen were engaged to build the Ryerson mansion.

As for Paula, the finishing school nearly finished her, so far as her one-time naturally friendly and sweet disposition went. In the words of the day, the school left her downright "snooty."

And then along came Merton Seagrave.

Merton Seagrave was different. He had come to Orangeville to oversee the building of his great chemical works out in the meadows, a plan that would cover 10 acres and employ thousands.

And Merton was one of those handsome men girls naturally adore. Thirty, wavy hair with a touch of gray at the temples, expressive eyes, and an air of aristocracy that made Paula Ryerson almost quiver with excitement. If she had possessed a real heart she would have quivered.

During the rush of the construction of the plant, Merton took many of his meals at the little restaurant where Myrna Jackman presided back of the cashier's grill.

At the same time, when Merton dined up at the Ryerson mansion, hints were being dropped broadly about the prospects of Merton's getting married and settling down there. These hints grew into talk that almost took it for granted that Merton would marry Paula.

Merton had engaged Chet Ingram as his handy man, a sort of trusty errand boy. Merton never intrusted Chet with any information that he didn't want imparted to others, and he learned more about Orangeville people from Chet than he could have otherwise have learned in a 10-year citizenship in the suburb.

Returns Money

Paula was there and she was furious when she saw them. She was so furious that she lost all caution and diplomacy and when she chanced to get Myrna where she thought they were alone, she opened up on her.

"You have your nerve to try to crowd into our set," Paula said. "The very idea—why you're only a washerwoman's daughter."

"That's right," Myrna said, red spots in her cheeks being the only indication of her bitter anger, "but we always paid our grocery bills."

"Merton Seagrave is just going around with you to have a little sport—his sort wouldn't think of marrying your sort. Take a tip from me and keep away from him before you get talked about—and I haven't the slightest idea what you mean by that crack about paying grocery bills!"

Myrna tried to speak, but she could only sob. She dare not trust herself.

"I know what she meant!"

Myrna and Paula looked up at Merton Seagrave.

"I was on the other side of this big round seat. I overheard. Myrna meant, Miss Ryerson, that your father left town owing her father $80 after her father had fed your father's family for years—"

"Why—I—"

"One moment, Miss Ryerson. I heard the washerwoman crack you made. When my father died, out West, my mother washed for the miners for years to save money for my education. It looks as though Myrna's mother and my mother belong to the real aristocracy, the Number One aristocracy."

"Why, what do you mean?" Paula asked, angrily.

"Number One aristocracy is a hereditary nobility. Nothing can be more noble than a woman unafraid to bend over a wash tub when needs demand, for the sake of her loved ones."

Merton took Myrna away.

And the week when Merton married Myrna, the Honorable Michael Ryerson sent Mr. Jackman his $80 with interest. Myrna sent it back with this note:

"Use this money to teach Paula some manners."

WHY PITTSBURGH IS GREAT

BE A PITTSBURGH BOOSTER
To Your Friends in Other Cities

Proof of the Pudding

Use Made of New Aviation Service Will Be Test of Pittsburghers' "Air-Consciousness"

Apropos of the inauguration next Saturday of a new continental airplane service between Los Angeles and York, with Pittsburgh a station on the route, the City cil has adopted resolutions setting forth what we have to promote aviation and acclaiming the city as "the air, ll as the river gateway to the West."

ndications now are that the inauguration of the new e will be celebrated here with the pomp and ceremony ng so important an occasion.

This is good, so far as it goes. But the proof of the pud- s the eating. Lip service is not enough. Those who wish mote aerial transportation can do so no more effectively by making airplane trips themselves and using airplanes e transmission of mail.

Pittsburghers will not have attained the "air-conscious- " that is so essential to the promotion of aviation until learn to use airplanes as nonchalantly as they use the ads. It is not to be denied that there is still a vast amount idity, notwithstanding the statistical record showing how accidents are on commercial aviation lines.

f the Chamber of Commerce had made its Good Will by airplane this year, as was proposed, it would have more to further the cause than can be done by oratory ag-flying.

Remarkable Testimony

nchot's Strong Democratic Support Bears Witness to His Admirable Qualities

No more remarkable testimonial to the worth of Gifford ot, Republican nominee for Governor, could be found he fact that he is being supported in his candidacy by all Democratic nominees for Governor of the four preceding signs, as well as by others who have held high place in ouncils of the Pennsylvania Democracy.

There are both drys and anti-drys among them, which con- the contention of the Sun-Telegraph that prohibition can- e regarded as an issue in the gubernatorial race.

Judge Eugene C. Bonniwell, of Philadelphia, who was against prohibition at a time when most politicians said " whenever the subject was mentioned, says he is for ot because of his splendid and incorruptible record as nor. Judge Bonniwell was twice the Democratic stand- earer in state campaigns.

Equally impressive is the support given Pinchot by John arran, the Democratic candidate who was defeated by the ter in the campaign of 1922. McSparran is out making hes for his old-time antagonist.

mpressive also is the support given Pinchot by Vance rmick, of Harrisburg, formerly chairman of the Demo- National Committee; by Bruce F. Sterling, of Union- formerly Democratic state chairman, and by William B. n, of Blossburg, Democratic candidate for the United s Senate against Vare and Secretary of Labor in Presi- Wilson's cabinet.

Probably no Republican candidate ever made such inroads the enemy's camp in Pennsylvania as Pinchot will make. upport he is receiving from that quarter should more than the desertions in Philadelphia.

New Industries Wanted

Lower Taxes and Additional Facilities for Recreation Would Help to Get Them

The Chamber of Commerce has started a campaign to t new industries to Pittsburgh. It would be a fine thing e city if we could get them.

Pittsburgh has much to offer manufacturers looking for for their factories. It offers raw materials, an abundance eap fuel, good railroad and river service. The city's cen- ocation gives it an advantage as a distributing point.

There are two very desirable things which now we NOT offer—low taxes and adequate facilities for ation.

The tax problem is a difficult one, but no great amount of would be required to solve the recreation problem.

If the Blue Law of 1794 should be repealed, and people given an opportunity to engage in innocent amusements unday, there would be less objection to Pittsburgh as a on for industrial establishments.

Fashions in Education

Report on High School Science Courses Shows Interesting Changes in the Curriculum

Probably there are still some thousands of Pittsburghers who, prior to 25 years ago, studied botany at the old Cen- High School under Prof. Gutenberg, Miss Lewis or Miss er. Botany was a compulsory subject then in the fresh- year.

They will be interested to know that of the 405,333 pupils enrolled in Pennsylvania high schools only 2,795 are ring botany. A still smaller number are studying zoology. 44,596 are studying biology, in which they get a smatter- of both sciences.

Physical geography, geology and astronomy, popular high ol courses in the last century, still appear in the list of ces taught, but they are far from popular now. Astronomy ught in only one public high school in Pennsylvania, where upils are studying it.

But 116,213 boys and girls are taking a comparatively new se called "general science," through which they are at introduced to the subjects now so generally ignored. In ld days, if one studied two or three of the sciences, he ed next to nothing about the others.

If you are one of those who, as a boy or girl, took botany, must have learned something about achenes, drupes, rs, carpels, pomes and perianths. Do the words mean ing to you now?

The change in educational fashions has been for the better.

The Big Shot

By Nelson Harding

"Czar" and "king" and "lord" and "ruler"
Of the Underworld's dominions
All must pay the price extorted
By their overlord and master.

"Boss" and "baron," "chief" and "leader"
Are but little shots and puny.
Death reigns as the only Big Shot
And the crimjnals' real ruler.

THE ATLANTIC CABLE

By Archibald Henderson

In these days of scientific marvels, when people speak across the Atlantic Ocean at a cost of $25 per minute, the mighty achievement of the laying of the Atlantic cable is almost forgotten. Today there are numerous cables lying on the ocean floors, connecting continent with continent. By 1921, 530 ocean cables had been laid, totaling in length some 242,000 miles. But when the first Atlantic cable was laid, it was regarded as a colossal feat of scientific skill. Justin McCarthy, the Irish historian, said: "The history of human invention has not a more inspiring example of patience living down discouragement and perseverance triumphing over defeat."

The story has often been told, that at a banquet on one occasion, Cyrus W. Field said regarding the laying of the Atlantic cable: "I am a man of few words! Maury furnished the brains, England gave the money, and I did the work." Perhaps this story is not strictly correct, but it probably represents what actually occurred.

Matthew Fontaine Maury has received little credit in written history for his contribution of "the brains." Between 1849 and 1853, many soundings were made under Maury's direction of the North Atlantic Ocean. The depth of the ocean was measured literally in thousands of places by United States naval officers and others. In 1852 Maury drew a chart representing the bottom of the Atlantic Ocean between America and Europe.

Maury called the broad elevation beneath the waves, which he had charted, the "Telegraphic Plateau" because it was an admirable floor for an Atlantic cable. He also located the path for the cable, and described the proper construction of the wires for such a cable. In speaking of the Telegraphic Plateau, in response to inquiries by Cyrus W. Field's company, Maury said: "It is neither too deep nor too shallow; yet it is so deep that the wires, being once landed, will remain forever beyond the reach of vessels' anchors, icebergs and drift of any kind, and so shallow that the wires may be readily lodged upon the bottom." For years, according to Wayland in "The Pathfinder of the Seas," an active correspondence was carried on between Field and Maury; and Field constantly visited Maury, in search of scientific counsel and advice. Maury gave Field valuable scientific information regarding the necessary size and strength of the cable, means for protecting it against wear and tear, and mechanisms for coiling it on the ocean floor. Maury, the scientist, supplied the brains; but Field, the capitalist and executor of the operation, received the gold medal voted by the American Congress.

A cable had been laid from England to France in 1846; but the attempt to lay a cable across the Gulf of Mexico in 1854 had failed. Field conceived the idea of laying a cable across the Atlantic Ocean. The Atlantic Telegraph Company, which he organized, was supported almost entirely by English capital. Much assistance was derived, not only from Maury, but also from the Canadian inventor and electrician, Frederick N. Gisborne, who laid the first deep-sea cable in American waters, between Prince Edward Island and New Brunswick.

The first attempt was made by Field in 1857, but the cable parted 335 miles from the Irish coast and the project for the time was abandoned. The next year a first attempt failed, but the second was successful for only a few weeks, when a breakage occurred. Immence financial loss was suffered by the company and Field was almost bankrupted. The effort was resumed in 1865, but this time the cable broke 1,200 miles from Ireland and could not be recovered. Finally, as a reward of Field's resolution and persistence, a cable was successfully laid in 1866. To this monumental task Field had devoted 12 years of his life, sometimes having as many as 1,200 men at work. Success, fully deserved, finally crowned his efforts.

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

I've just paid that dratted storage bill again. Lemme see—how long since I put that stuff in? Two years—three? Five! Heavens, how time flies! And all that time I've been paying $4 a month. Four times 12—and five times that? Two hundred and forty dollars! Why, the stuff wasn't worth it—wasn't worth a third of that. A few shabby old chairs and faded pictures . . . and that great lumpy sofa that would never fit into any modern room . . . don't believe I could get $10 for the whole lot.

But—you know how it is—we'd had the things in the family since I was a kid. And hundreds of memories—you feel you can't bear to part with things that have memories like that. So I thought I'd store them . . . for a little while . . . until I had a place for them. And now I've spent five years and $240 on their upkeep!

Two hundred and forty dollars—for sweet sentiment! But think of the brand new stock of sweet sentiment I might have bought for myself with $240!

Think of the fun and service that money might have meant to some poor devil—or the experiments and adventures I might have bought with it myself!

Memories? Why conclude that your childhood memories are the best ones you'll ever get? Why spend all your life on the upkeep of old memories, however sweet, when you might be making new ones? Is sentimentality like that really sweet?

Or is it hooey?

Yet, I suppose I'll go on paying that storage bill. And people will go on admiring me for doing it. They'll think it a sign of a sensitive loyal nature. Bosh! It's nothing of the sort. I'm just glorifying emotional sloppiness and laziness, that's all. If I had the backbone of a louse, I'd snap out of it—get rid of that old junk—put my money to some real, living use.

And it isn't only a storage bill for furniture. My whole life is filled with storage bills. I'm carrying more junk in my mind and heart than I am in that storehouse—and it's costing me more. Why, I'm lugging along old prejudices that I acquired when I was 13. I should have discarded them years ago. Instead, I've treasured them until I've come to think that they are sacred fixtures. I've habits that should have gone out with hoop skirts and gilded hat racks. I've mean little resentments and dumb ideas that are as funny as anything in a museum.

And, believe me, they're costing more than space in a warehouse. They've shut me out from no end of fun and enlightenment—they've been an Oregon Boot on my progress—they've used up precious time and energy and blocked opportunity.

But I go right on, lugging 'em along. Kidding myself that this is a fine, strong, conservative way to be!

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS.

Gifts They Brought

One made gifts of trinkets rare,
Shawls of Spanish lace,
Ivory combs for burnished hair,
Fans to flaunt her grace.

One brought tenderness and love
To her presence dear,
Asking but the right to prove
Constant, year on year.

But one gave a finer thing
Yet, than all the rest;
Truth, the gift he dare to bring,
Truth, of all gifts best.

Swiftly vanished many a day
Time's dark portals through,
Bearing on their wings away
Gifts and givers, too.

But she kept, when thoughts grew dim
Of those days of youth,
Still bright memories of him
Who had brought her truth.

Text For Today What? know ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost which is in you, which ye have of God, and ye are not your own.—I Corinthians, vi:19.

"Bugs" Baer Says:

Romance

Of course their romances are rather too syndicated for authentic happiness.

Ronaldo takes Anastasia in his arms, looks at his director for orders, the director yells to the gag writers who semaphores the sound expert who gives the office to six camera men.

That's when Ronaldo has to say, "At last, Anastasia, we are alone."

Movie careers are so synthetic that they live that way all the time. Once you reach the top there are no local stops.

Neither is there any privacy. The public knows just what is taking place in Beverly Hills, even if it happened in Budapest or Rangoon.

That's why we are all interested in Gloria and the Marquis de la Falaise de la Coudraye.

We don't know what all those de la-las are for. But we do know that a bellhop was paging the marquis and was fired for singing on the job.

He was on his seventeenth chorus when the pose of opera critics overtook him.

We know that it is none of our consolidated business but will Gloria renew the option on the marquis?

There are millions of girls who are willing to be the Marquise de la Falaise de la Coudraye. They would be even delighted with the first half of that noble prescription.

Kind hearts may be better far than coronets and simple faith than Norman blood. But a title is a title even if you are only the champion of backgammon.

We may be a democratic nation but a marquis can crash more parties than anybody but a trombone player.

They bow and scrape to him, give him the best chairs in the cafeteria and never elbow him in the trains.

We thought that Gloria and the marquis were happily married. We were right in a way.

The marquis was happy. And Gloria was married.

But this whole thing is a secret. So you must promise not to tell anybody but Walter Winchell.

(Copyright, 1930.)

Isn't It So?

Most men would marry for love if they felt they could afford it.

Men who ask foolish questions should not be particular about the answers they get.

It is just as difficult to do something with people without brains as it is to operate a car without gasoline.

Well-Trained Dog

But You Don't Want Him Near Children.

TEARING AT A PADDED "CRIMINAL."

The picture here shows the training of the modern "Alsatian," or police dog. It is a wonderful animal, highly intelligent, savagely ferocious when it attacks, easily able to kill a fleeing criminal, or drag one down, and hold him till the police arrive.

The picture shows the final stage in a police dog's training. A man representing a criminal, with clothing so heavily padded that the dog's teeth can do him no harm, goes out for a walk, and the police dog is put on the scent. When the "criminal" is overtaken the dog tears at the baffling padded clothing until the trainer comes and calls it off.

These dogs can clear a fence six or even eight feet high. Criminals escaping usually climb over fences, but it is hard to find one high enough to check a police dog's pursuit.

Giving full credit to these dogs for their wonderful power, sagacity and ferocity, it is hardly necessary to say that dogs closely related to the wolf, and trained to display the savagery of the wolf, do not make good neighbors, especially for children.

Fathers that tolerate such a dog in the neighborhood of their children make a mistake and invite trouble.

You can imagine what chance a child, or a man either, would have with a dog of this type leaping at him.

A well-known opera singer kept one of these dogs for "protection." She returned one night, the dog, for some reason, failed to recognize her and tore her savagely.

In an ordinary civilized community, running at large, they are as much out of place as a leopard or a tiger, and should no more be tolerated than the leopard would be.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Central Park soothes a transplanted New Yorker's nostalgia for open spaces. A makeshift, of course, for truly rural beauty and solitude, but every hour it is dotted with harassed city dwellers seeking escape from the incoherent clatter all about them.

This breathing spot rib-near the pulsing heart of the town is the only place remaining for leisurely strolls and studied contemplation. Five minutes from the stirring jangle of Columbus Circle one comes upon a milk-and-liver-colored cow chewing a cud of bovine contentment.

A short space further on and a shepherd with a magnificent snowy collie stands under a tree watching sheep grazing and flicking their tails. Ladies with tiny sun parasols jog by in horse drawn landaus with a patrician pomp. Old men under spreading umbrellas swing croquet mallets on the greensward.

Along the Mall children of the rich ride on rented Shetlands or in goat-pulled carts. Squirrels scamper through the foliage, and tucked here and there are martin boxes and whitewashed dove cotes. Elderly ladies in silk hats gallop side saddle alongside youngsters astride in bicomers.

On cool, murmurous paths slitting the beautiful Shakesperian flower gardens are benches for hand holders, and one sequestered spot, where discreet policemen walk by scanning the clouds, is known as "Lover's Lane." In the moonlight, gleaming ashen is the Egyptian obelisk—fashioned before the birth of the Saviour.

Painters perch on grassy knolls and in the crags of rocky cliffs to imprison the beauty of skylines on canvas. And frequently stretched out on the grass is a poet with long hair and Byronic collar, nibbling at the end of a lead pencil. Dreaming a deathless elegy.

After midnight, when Broadway's electric swagger grows dim, Central Park is breathless in a hushed rapture. There is a tender gravity about the trees, fugitive paths and the pale lamps strung like so many beads about shadowy lawns. At such times many feel very near the unsolvable mystery.

Charlie Towne used to tell of a movie actor strolling in Central Park with a chorus lady at the entrancing hour when the moon had hung a slight scimitar in the sky and the swirling stars shimmered in lacey loveliness. "Say baby," he chirped, "you should see Hollywood, where all this junk comes from."

* * *

It was Col. Roosevelt, while governor, who saved Central Park for posterity and from the real estate marauders. It escaped sub-division and a real estate boom by an eyelash. Yet frequent strollings in Central Park have not revealed a monument to T. R. in the area. A heroic one in bronze should be flung up by a grateful citizenry. If there is one—rub this out.

* * *

A most uncomfortable moment was experienced in Central Park while legging it around the reservoir gravel path with a dog 10 years ago. Out of the way of motor traffic and pedestrians I unleashed the dog and tossed a stick for him to retrieve. A misdirected throw landed the stick in a tree where it began to rattle through dry, stark branches over the bridle path. A lady on a skittish horse galloped by. The horse bolted while I stood petrified as she teetered perilously for a mad quarter mile. A mounted policeman brought the horse, foaming, to a stop. The gracious lady was considerate enough to wh about, return and relieve frenzy of sheer terror. Shoul read this, I'd like her to kn still remember her with grat reverence, although too horrified to express myself at the time.

Too, there was a memorable insult in Central Park. Listening to a band concert, a gentleman on the same bench, who was no Lillian Russell himself, the mug, observed: "A band concert surely attracts us homely guys."

* * *

I wonder if others keeping house have also collected innumerable clocks that will not run. It was a hope to add to the pleasant drone of domesticity with the tick of one of those gaunt hall clocks. But no matter where it starts, in a few hours it somehow gets back to 18 minutes of six and sticks.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

Much of your thought is devoted to an effort to produce something you think will be an improvement upon another fellow's production.

You want to steal ideas, not originate them.

However, it is the original ideas that bring in the big money.

If you would expend more effort in hatching new ideas instead of tagging success by following another's thought you would be more likely to make a profitable strike.

It is difficult or more rare to be original, hence greater returns.

Haven't you had ideas come to you that were not like anything else you ever saw or heard of?

In the crude form in which your mind's eye saw them, you realized that they might necessitate a lot of hard study and much experimenting to evolve in practical and worthwhile form what your imagination had pictured.

You abandoned the ideas because it was too much work to develop them.

You wanted something easy; you desired to make money; but you were unwilling to sacrifice money or time to gain your objective.

The world is crying for something different and is willing and anxious to pay what it is worth, but your indolence stands in the way of you being such a producer.
